'TO SAVE AMERICAN LIVES'

U.S. Enters Cambodia War

S. Viets Storm Across Border

Times News Services

SAIGON—South Vietnamese army units, supported by American artillery fire and bombing strikes, stormed across the border into Cambodia today in an attempt to smash Viet Cong and North Vietnamese bases.

And Cambodian troops were reported battling Communist forces at two widely separated points northeast of Phnom Penh.

The South Vietnamese defence ministry here announced today's operation, admitting for the first time that Cambodian territory has been penetrated by South Vietnamese troops.

CROSSED BORDER

Informed sources said that a number of regiments — about 2,400 men in each — had crossed the border.

An American military spokesman refused comment on the operation, which sliced into an area of Cambodia known as the Parrot's Beak, a wedge of territory extending into South Vietnam about 35 miles west of Saigon.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces drove Cambodian troops out of the area shortly after Prince Norodom Sihanouk was overthrown as head of state March 18, in a coup led by right-wing armed forces commander Gen. Lon Nol.

They have since brought a major part of eastern Cambodia under direct Communist control. Previously they had been allowed use of border areas as a sanctuary from the battlefield in South Vietnam by Sihanouk.

HEAVY FIGHTING

Today a military spokesman in the Cambodian capital said heavy fighting is continuing around Chhlong on the Mekong River delta 90 miles northeast of the capital. He also reported hard fighting 90 miles to the east, just south of Senmonorom and north of the combined South Vietnamese-American operation.

Wounded Cambodian soldiers returning from the border area told reporters they had been fired upon by American helicopters about 10 miles inside the Cambodian border. Their trucks had bullet holes in them punched from above.

Pollution Red Tape Criticized

By JOHN MIKA
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Fisheries Minister Jack Davis today said he was "a little concerned" that the B.C. Pollution Control Board's red tape may slow down efforts to stop mercury pollution of Howe Sound.

He expects his department's tests on salmon and Dolly Varden to be completed Friday. If mercury concentrations of 5 parts per million are found in the fish tissue, then, he will "continue the fishing ban and get back on the company right away . . . with priority on cleaning up the existing pollution and cutting off any more additions."

NO SPEED

Davis said he was afraid the PCB's announcement that FMC Chemicals of Squamish would have two weeks to seek amendment of its pollution control permit did not indicate any great speed in meeting the current problem.

"If it follows the normal course, it could turn into a pretty lengthy procedure, which bothers me," Davis said. "We want something done now, not three months from now.

DAVIS BAFFLED

"I'm a bit baffled by this (PCB) announcement."

Davis said he had hoped the PCB would not apply its regular procedures used in screening a new company seeking a permit "when there should be some faster procedures for a plant in trouble."

During his Saturday meeting in Squamish with company and provincial officials—to discuss his ban on sports fishing—he was given the impression that the firm was ready to order equipment and work to clean up existing contamination and stop any new mercury escapement immediately.

"But they were told (by the PCB) not to make any move until they had approval.

"I would hope that red tape is not going to cause any delays."

Davis said several known measures could be taken to overcome the mercury problem within the week.

Two Quakes Hit Mexico

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP). — Two earthquakes — one described as "large" were recorded today in Southern Mexico in the vicinity of Oaxaca, the University of California seismographic station reported.

The first was at 4:29 a.m. PDT and registered a magnitude of 5.8 on the open-ended Richter scale. The second was recorded at 7:08 a.m. with a magnitude of 6.75.

The Richter rating on the 1906 San Francisco earthquake was 8.25.

Two strong tremors were felt in Mexico City but there were no reports of casualties or damage.

Mexico's Tacubaya Seismological Observatory placed the centre of the first tremor 446 miles south of Mexico City and the second 503 miles southeast of that capital.

Israelis Ambushed

CAIRO (Reuters) — An Egyptian assault patrol crossed the Suez canal today and ambushed an Israeli mechanized column, a military spokesman said.

Ballots Being Counted In 'Vote of Destiny'

Times News Service

QUEBEC CITY — An exceptionally heavy vote was expected today as more than 3.4 million were eligible to troop to the polls in Quebec's "election of destiny."

The critical issue of federalism or separatism dominated the three-week campaign. But close behind were the basic issues of unemployment and high taxes.

Vying for the 108 assembly seats are 466 candidates including a full slate by the governing Union Nationale, the opposition Liberals and separatist Parti Quebecois. Creditistes have 99 candidates and the NDP 13.

Polls closed at 4 p.m.

Televised coverage of election results began at 4:30 p.m. on Channels 2 and 6, and will be continuous until approximately 8 p.m.

Channel 8 will present a 30-minute wrapup of results beginning at 7:30 p.m.

U.S. Unveils 'Evidence' Soviet Pilots in Mideast

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spokesman said today the United States has independent evidence that Soviet pilots are flying combat planes in Egypt and intends to ask the Soviet government what their purposes are in such operations.

Press officer Robert J. McCleskey told a state department news conference:

"We regard this as a serious development and potentially dangerous."

McClesky said he does not know when the United States will make its approach to the Russians. But he implied it will be prompt.

'CLOSE WATCH'

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon is keeping "a close watch" on the situation in the Middle East in view of the request of Israel for U.S. airplanes.

The latest reports of Soviet pilots, charged by Israel to be flying operational missions in defence of Egypt, is one of "serious concern to the United States," Ziegler said.

The White House announced that President Nixon had ordered a full evaluation of all intelligence bearing on what appears to be a new escalation in the Arab-Israeli conflict through a deeper involvement of Soviet power.

In making recent decisions on Israeli requests for arms, Ziegler noted Nixon said he would keep a watch on any matters which might affect the stategic balance of power in the Middle East to determine any future course there by the U.S.

WARNING GIVEN

In a New York speech State Undersecretary Elliot L. Richardson warned the Soviet Union against seeking a short-range gain in the Middle East crisis because of "the danger of stirring up a wider conflict."

"When in such an area, one of us — in this case the U.S.S.R. — involves itself militarily," Richardson said, "it is inevitable that the other will take notice and react."

Launch Drive From Vietnam

Times News Services

WASHINGTON — The United States today entered the war in Cambodia, in support of South Vietnamese operations across the border against Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces.

The U.S. state department said advisers, tactical air strikes and logistic support were provided as "a necessary and effective measure" to save American lives and those of its allies.

Assistant Defence Secretary Daniel Z. Henkin told reporters "the United States Military Assistance Command, Vietnam, in response to the request of the government of Vietnam is prepared to provide support" for the South Vietnamese operations.

- President Nixon was also reported today to have authorized a second shipment of between 4,000 and 5,000 rifles from South Vietnam to Cambodia.
- The U.S. State department Tuesday brushed off a warning from Communist China Tuesday to halt aggression in Southeast Asia and said Peking should direct its concern to invaders from North Vietnam.
- Reports have been circulated that Peking is recruiting Chinese volunteers to fight in Cambodia but U.S. officials say they have had no confirmation of this.

President Nixon moved quickly to explain the move. The White House said he has asked the television and radio networks for air time Thursday evening to discuss the situation "as it relates to both Cambodia and to U.S. forces in Vietnam."

U.S. Consulted Before Attack

Henken, in his statement today said:

"Before the Republic of Vietnam armed forces launched its current operations on the Cambodian border, the United States government was fully consulted. The determination was made that the action is a necessary and effective measure to save American and other free world lives and to strengthen the Vietnamization program."

Senator J. W. Fulbright (Dem. Ark.), long a critic of U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia, took a different view, calling the action "a great mistake" and a "major escalation" of the Indochinese war.

If the reports are true, Fulbright told reporters, "it would be a great mistake, a great tragedy, directly contrary to what we have been led to believe."

Fulbright is chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee.

Noting that State Secretary William P. Rogers indicated to the committee Monday that the Nixon administration had not reached a decision on Cambodian requests for massive military aid, Fulbright said: "It looks as if they weren't very candid."

Destruction of Red Bases

Henkin, who refused to elaborate on his statement, said the South Vietnamese government has described the purpose of the operations in the Parrot Beak area as "to destroy an extensive complex of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong bases and depots in Cambodian territory, barely 35 miles from Saigon."

"These bases and depots have posed an increasing threat to the security of free world forces in South Vietnam as a result of increased enemy activities in Cambodia and along the Cambodian - South Vietnamese border," Henkin said.

The United States until now has officially stayed militarily clear of the developing Cambodia military war, which pits Cambodia's small 35,000-man army against the North Vietnamese and the guerrillas from South Vietnam who have occupied an area inside Cambodia fronting South Vietnam for more than five years.

Second U.S. Error in Two Days Kills Six South Vietnamese

SAIGON (CP) — In their second battlefield error in two days, U.S. forces have killed six South Vietnamese civilians and wounded five others, the U.S. command reported today.

The command said the latest mistake occurred Tuesday when an artillery shell landed in a village by mistake while American guns were firing at a suspected Viet Cong target eight miles from Quang Tri city in northern South Vietnam.

The command reported Tuesday that 10 South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 20 wounded when U.S. pilots hit the wrong area Monday during a bombing mission.

WALL ST. STAGES COMEBACK

Staging a dramatic turnaround the industrial index on the New York stock exchange posted a 13.06 point gain in heavy trading today. Volume was 15,800,000 shares.

During the day the market was up more than seven points but plunged 11 points after the announcement the U.S. is providing advisers and tactical air strikes for South Vietnamese operations in Cambodia.

This was followed by the dramatic recovery.

Kennedy Side Trip Intentional

Times News Services

BOSTON — Judge James A. Boyle said in an inquest report made public today he did not believe Senator Edward M. Kennedy intended to leave Chappaquiddick Island with Mary Jo Kopechne at the time of the automobile accident which killed the 28-year-old secretary.

Boyle also said there was cause to believe Kennedy operated his car negligently in a manner that "appears to have contributed to the death of Mary Jo Kopechne."

But the surprise finding of his 12-page inquest report, dated Feb. 18, was this challenge to Kennedy's public account of the accident:

"I infer a reasonable and probable explanation of the totality of the above acts is that Kennedy and Kopechne did not intend to return to Edgartown at that time; that Kennedy did not intend to drive to the ferry slip and his turn onto Dike Road was intentional."

CLAIMS WRONT TURN

In his own televised report on the accident July 25 last Kennedy said he made a wron turn onto a narrow bridge while driving Miss Kopechne to the ferry which links Chappaquiddick with Martha's Vineyard, off the Massachusetts coast.

Judge Boyle said that to drive acroos Dike Bridge at even 20 miles an hour, as Kennedy admitted, "would at least be negligent and probably reckless."

"If Kennedy knew of this hazard, his operation of the vehicle constituted criminal conduct," the judge said.

Judge Boyle went on to state flatly that Kennedy had driven over Dike Road and Dike Bridge twice on the day of the accident, and he said Miss Kopechne had done the same.

HAZARD THERE

"I believe it probably that Kennedy knew of the hazard that lay ahead of him on Dike Road but that, for some reason not apparent from the testimony, he failed to exercise due care as he approached the bridge," the report said.

Judge Boyle's report was a bombshell casting doubt on some of the essential parts of the senator's previous two public accountings of the accident.

Like any kind o' pollution, it's hard t' keep war from spreadin' itself aroun'.

Rock-Roll-Religion Coming on Strongly

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Hey, man, it's a mixed up thing now —rock 'n' roll 'n' religion.

The rock thumpings always have carried a hint of the gospel beat, but now it's coming on loud and strong, breaking out in the lyrics.

It's usually not in traditionally pious terminology, and some of it may not make much theological sense, but it nevertheless registers a religious inclination.

Variety, the show business publication, says pop music is "returning to one of its earliest roots, the gospel-spiritual influence."

Current albums and turntable shows for the young in the United States reverberate with the "soul" sounds by various rock and folk groups and individual balladeers.

Some of the titles include:

Jesus is Just All Right, sung by the Byrds; I Guess the Lord Must Be in New York City, sung by Harry Nilsson; Superstar, a number about Jesus sung by Murray Head and a backup group; Resurrection, by a group called Aum and which starts out, "God is Back in Town'.'

In the country-Western category, there are such recent numbers as Lawrence Reynolds' Jesus is a Soul, Man, Linda Ronstadt's We Need a Lot More Jesus, and the Chaparral Brothers' Jesus Love You, Rosemary.

A trade magazine, Entertainment World, predicts the religious themes are likely to become more prominent. Noting that rock 'n' roll has "a solid foundation in gospel music" in rudimentary origins, the magazine adds:

"Since this is a period when rock musicians are exploring their musical roots, it is not surprising that religion is finding its way into their music."

SOME RESISTANCE

However, the magazine says the trend has encountered some resistance among radio and television broadcasters, who occasionally have shunned using some of the discs for fear they might offend conventional piety.

Some of the songs convey a keen element of doubt and questioning—which actually is a classically authentic note in religious searching.

For instance, Superstar includes lines such as "every time I look at you I don't understand . . . Jesus Christ, Jesus Christ, Who are You? . . . Jesus Christ, Superstar, Do You think You're what they say You are?"

Misgivings of some stations about it faded after several clergymen backed its use, including a Bismarck, N.D., Roman Catholic priest, Rev. John Owens, who played it on his radio show, Padre's Platters.

It "should be a cause of some welcome introspection," he says.

The Anglican dean of St. Paul's Cathedral in London, Very Rev. Martin Sullivan, says some people "may be shocked by this record" but they should think again. He calls it "a desperate cry . . . and a very proper one at that.

U.K. BISHOP TO VISIT VICTORIA

Right Rev. Ian Thomas Ramsey, Bishop of Durham, England, will be in Victoria May 6.

Ramsey is touring Canada. While here he will participate in the consecration of Frederick Roy Gartrell as new bishop of the Anglican diocese.

Bishop Ramsey has written several books on contemporary theological problems and edits two periodicals. He became the 90th Bishop of Durham in 1966.

Carpenters Vote On Pact

By AB KENT

A heavily-attended local meeting of the carpenters union Tuesday night cast secret ballots on a strike and a proposed contract settlement with Construction Labor Relations Association.

The union, whose locals across B.C. could be added next week to the province-wide lockout of eight trade unions in the construction industry, turned out 400 of the 700 Greater Victoria members.

Negotiators have already turned down a settlement proposal from CLR and the vote taken by carpenters union locals this week will confirm or reject that action last week.

All ballots will be forwarded to Vancouver for counting Monday or Tuesday, said Vancouver Island Building Trades Council secretary John Schibli.

There are some 9,000 construction carpenters in B.C. Their current contract expires Thursday and after statutory 72-hour notice they could strike or be locked out.

The number of construction workers already affected by the lockout is disputed, but the unions say most of the growing number of men idled are laid off because of shutdowns, a strike and lockout in the concrete supply industry, which also is affecting supplies of other building materials.

Marine Warning

Mariners were warned today by the department of transport that the Albert Head area will be dangerous Saturday, May 16, when the 5th (B.C.) Field Battery will discharge 36 grenades between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. at the Albert Head camp.

The department also circulated another warning concerning test-firing of non-explosive torpedoes.

Permission has been given to the Canadian forces to carry out exercises in Area WG, which extends 15 miles eastward from the Ballenas Island Light.

Recovery operations of lost torpedoes may be conducted by day or night. Recovery vessels will show a flashing red light in addition to the prescribed lights or shapes. They should not be approached closer than 4,500 feet due to outlying moorings.

MONK

Victorian Joins Ottawa Inner Circle

By JOHN MIKA
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — A 49-year-old native Victorian who began his civil service career as a B.C. forest service messenger joined the ranks of the mandarins today as official spokesman of the most powerful inner circle of the federal government.

David R. Monk takes over his new job of communications director of the Treasury Board May 1, with responsibility of informing the nation and the various federal departments of the decisions by the group which has final say over government spending.

A graduate of Victoria High School, he returned to the B.C. Forest Service after army service during the Second World War and became its director of education and public relations.

HEADED BCGEA

In 1951 he was president of the B.C. Government Employees Association.

Eight years ago, he joined the federal service as information director here of the new department of forestry. He moved to the labor department as director of public relations and information three years ago.

He is married to the former Audrey Mudge, also a Victorian, and they have two children. His mother, Mrs. P. D. Monk, lives at 1557 Yale Street, Victoria.

Hospital Staff Takes Strike Vote

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Non-professional hospital workers in Corner Brook, Nfld. were taking a strike vote today as the cabinet met here to discuss civil service demands that wages be increased beyond adjustments contained in the 1970 Newfoundland budget.

A mass meeting of civil servants in St. John's tonight was to be given the cabinet's decision by George Lawrence, president of the Newfoundland Government Employees Association (NGEA).

Mr. Lawrence and other NGEA representatives told Premier Joseph Smallwood Tuesday they considered the salary adjustments inadequate.

The premier said higher wages would mean increased taxes.

Results of the hospital workers' strike vote was expected to be announced later today. Hospital workers at Grand Falls were to meet tonight. All are members of the Canadian Union of Public Employees.

The hospital workers are forbidden to strike under legislation which the budget speech said would be repealed in favor of non-binding arbitration and a system of continuous negotiation between the government and all employees.

Hospital workers, whose annual wages range from $1,700 for laundry workers to $4,600 for admitting officers, were to get $20 to $31 a month more under the government's adjustment offer.

Opposition Condemns Rising Unemployment

By KEVIN DOYLE

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition parties challenged the government Tuesday to justify continuing its fight against inflation in the face of rising unemployment.

Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield opened the attack with a motion condemning the government's methods of combatting rising costs and prices. The motion was vigorously debated but under House rules it did not come to a vote.

Was it necessary for the government to intensify its efforts to cool down the economy when the unemployment rate for March had reached 6.7 per cent on the labor force, Mr. Stanfield asked.

No, he went on. The government's restrictive economic measures were "immoral and unnecessary."

Finance Minister Edgar Benson plunged into the debate, saying the federal government has taken numerous measures to assist the unemployed.

'IT'S INEVITABLE'

No one wanted unemployment, but a certain amount was inevitable as the anti-inflation fight began to have effects. The opposition had been crying just a few months ago that the government was not taking strong enough action against inflation.

New Democrat Leader T. C. Douglas said the government's anti-inflationary methods have been awkward—"like a hippopotamus trampling through a field of tulips."

By applying the same policies to everyone, the government had hit the poor particularly hard. "The poor are hit twice as hard because the cost of living is going up and many are thrown out of jobs."

Mr. Benson said there are a few "hopeful, if still only tentative signs" that inflation may be easing. Consumer, wholesale and industrial prices had levelled off during the last two months.

Gerard Laprise (Creditiste—Abitibi) urged the government to put more money into the hands of consumers so they can consume more. This would mean increased production to meet increased demand and all Canadians would be called on to work to their full capacity.

CITES WAGE DEMANDS

Mr. Benson said continuing inflationary pressure in the U.S. and escalating wage demands in Canada are two of the strongest forces contributing to inflation in Canada.

The government is trying to make labor the scapegoat for continuing inflation, Mr. Douglas said.

But what has really happened, he said, is that the government's policy of voluntary price and wage restraints has failed. Such restraints could not be adopted by labor unions because they become binding when written into contracts.

The government should now force industry to accept price levels consistent with the anti-inflation program, Mr. Douglas said. Along with this, investment capital should be funnelled into areas such as housing to promote work and provide shelter for the poor.

SEES NO REASON

Mr. Stanfield said he sees no reason for the government to continue following policies that will increase unemployment.

"The government has no right to throw the weak out of work and convince the comfortable majority that this is necessary to beat inflation," Mr. Stanfield said.

Many economists believed that inflation could be controlled while maintaining acceptable levels of unemployment.

"The government is so obsessed with its own preoccupation that it simply doesn't react to the hardships of the country."

SPIRO ATTACKS YALE PRESIDENT

By BRUCE GALPHIN

HOLLYWOOD BEACH, Fla. (WP) — Vice-President Spiro Agnew Tuesday urged Yale University alumni to seek the dismissal of the school's president, Kingman Brewster.

Agnew also called for immediate explulsion of students for serious violations of campus rules and demanded an end to "the era of appeasement" of university radicals.

Brewster came in for criticism when he said it would be difficult for a black revolutionary to obtain a fair trial in the United States. Yale and New Haven face demonstrations later this week against the trial of Black Panthers on murder and kidnaping charges.

Commented Agnew: " . . . the spawning ground and sanctuary of 'the movement' is the American university. Few institutions are more vital to a free society: None is so susceptible to capture and destruction by the radical or criminal left."

JUSTICE ISSUE

Students who resort to violence, the vice-president declared, constitute "the criminal left that belongs not in a dormitory, but in a penitentiary.

The criminal left is not a problem to be solved by the department of philosophy or the department of English — it is a problem for the department of justice."

The vice-president laid down a series of guidelines for dealing with campus dissent:

- "The era of appeasement must come to an end."
- A concise and clear set of rules for campus conduct should be established, transmitted to incoming freshmen and enforced — with immediate expusion the penalty for serious violations.
- Universities should not admit "patently unqualified students."
- "No negotiations under threat or coercion."
- "No amnesty for lawlessness or violence."

CAMPUS BAR

- "Any organization which publicly declares its intention to violate the rules of an academic community and which carries out that declaration should be barred from campus."

Agnew said the responsibility for campus disorders "rests not with the young people on campuses, but with those who so miserably fail to guide them.

"I can well understand the attitude of the majority of the student body at Yale university when most of the Yale faculty votes to endorse a strike in support of members of an organization dedicated to criminal violence, anarchy, and the destruction of the United States."

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

A series of minor weather disturbances will move across the province from the Pacific during the next couple of days. The main effect of these systems will be felt along the coast although they will bring bands of cloudiness and some shower activity to the interior as well.

The Weather and You

By CARL RIBLET JR.

There were a number of famous watering places called spas in many places all over the civilized world a century or so ago, where people went for relief from the weather and hope of a cure from what ailed them. The spas were in Austria and Germany, and there were several famous spas in the United States.

When doctors couldn't quickly relieve patients of some ills that were thought to be brought on by changes in the weather, or prolonged unpleasant weather, they sent the richer patients to the luxurious watering places. They hoped that the normal functions of the body would be restored by repeated bathing in the hot springs at the spas.

It is true that some of the guests at the spas did indeed recover their former good health, but it is now thought that the stimulus of the warm waters — taken inside and out — cured nothing. It was the rest and early-to-bed regimen, combined with a careful diet, that made them feel up to going back home where the weather wasn't so good.

Architect Act 'No Concern' Of Saanich

There is nothing in the Architectural Profession Act to make a municipality enforce or observe it, Saanich solicitor D. A. M. Patterson told the municipal planning committee Tuesday night.

The obligation is on the person who intends to erect a building, he said.

And if there are persons committing offences under the act, the Architectural Institute of British Columbia can take legal action itself.

Patterson was reiterating views expressed at a meeting last month, where professional architects and building designers confronted each other. Because of an oversight, architects were not invited to Tuesday night's meeting and the subject was tabled.

The Architectural Profession Act lists a variety of structures where an architect is required as the designer, including buildings of $50,000 or more. This would include three-storey frame apartments.

The institute has asked Saanich to observe the act by not accepting plans from those not qualified to submit them.

Patterson said there are no obligations on a municipality in the Architectural Profession Act and they are not required to observe it.

Municipalities only have those powers conferred on them by the legislature in the Municipal Act. This permitted regulations to be made for health, safety and protection of property. To do more is to go beyond this act.

"It's up to the architects, they have the right to police their own act and to take legal action," he said.

Ald. Leslie Passmore said that would be an unpopular move for architects "and that's why they want us to do it."

Mother Jailed for Sending Child on LSD Trip

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Delores Patricia Sheid was convicted Tuesday of feeding her 10-year-old daughter the hallucinatory drug LSD.

For that and five other offences, Judge James Balsinger sentenced her to 330 days in jail and fined her $2,025.

After passing sentence on one charge—contributing to the delinquency of a minor—Balsinger told Mrs. Sheid:

"I looked at and listened to that 10-year-old daughter of yours. She is a fine young lady, and for what you almost did to her I'm heartbroken that I can't give you more than $500 and 90 days.

Other charges on which he found her guilty were possession of narcotic paraphernalia, possession of marijuana, resisting arrest, assault and battery and intoxication.

The daughter, Diane, told the court her mother had given her LSD.

"I knew what it was," Diane testified. "I saw things. I went into the bathroom and the mouthwash started melting. Sometimes I saw faces."

Diane testified she also smoked marijuana when it was being passed around the family home.

The girl now is in custody of a neighbor.

Mrs. Sheid said: "I don't feel I'm guilty. I haven't done anything."

AVERAGE TAX JUMP $40

Oak Bay Mill Rate Up From '69

The average Oak Bay property owner will have to pay another $40 on his tax bill this year.

After two night session of cutting costs and eliminating frills, Oak Bay council set the 1970 mill rate at 65.8 Tuesday, an increase of 1.1 mills over 1969.

Broken down the 65.8 figure means:

General and debt rate, set Tuesday, is 34.80 mills—up .8.

School rate increased by .07 to 30.58.

Hospitals rate up .22 mills to .43 mills.

Council was told the average home in Oak Bay was assessed at $3,195 for land and $5,828 for buildings and improvements.

Assessment of land for average homes had been raised this year about 30 per cent while others who had received large assessment increases last yeaf had been given increases of less amounts.

On the completion of Monday's session the equivalent of a mill and a half had been deleted from the budget, representing about $75,000.

On Tuesday the council cut away at bigger capital—expenditure items, whittling away another 1.5 mills.

Road construction estimates were reduced by $40,000, while $2,209 was taken out of the recreational spending budget and $20,000, earmarked for a new wing to the police station, got the axe.

Council felt that they should be built now because rising costs of hospitals and sewers in the next 10 years would make it impossible to finance such amenities.

Also chopped was $2,500, requested for computer and assessment studies.

Ald. Ian Horne observed:

"Every time you make a study it ends up costing you more money than before you began.

"All they do is gather information and sell it back to the municipality. It seems to me we could do this work ourselves at much less cost."

After much discussion it was agreed that $43,000 be spent on cleaning up the septic tank situation in the area of Satellite and the Oak Bay Beach Hotel.

Aldermen agreed that the pollution situation had to be faced and that it would cost $400,000 before septic tanks were replaced in certain areas of Beach Drive and the Uplands.

PART OF DEAL WITH M-B

West Coast Park Increases

The land was traded to the government by MacMillan Bloedel Ltd. along with 18 acres of Shawnigan Lake property and eight acres for a Duncan area airport, a total of 102.

EQUAL VALUE

In return the forest company acquired 250 acres of Crown land adjacent to its timber holdings at Hilliers near Qualicum in a deal described as an equal-value exchange" by the government.

The waterfront land at Shawnigan and Kennedy lakes is considered of high value but no dollar figure was revealed.

The Kennedy Lake property near Ucluelet will become part of the national park which was signed into existence last week by the provincial and federal governments.

The provincial government is expected to give itself full expropriation powers shortly to acquire land for the park which will include Long Beach, the Lifesaving Trail and the Effingham Islands.

Sign Bylaw Violation 'May Go to Court'

Court action may be taken against a Saanich car dealer for violating the sign bylaw, the municipal planning committee was told Tuesday night.

Development engineer Joseph Barber-Starkey told the the committee that the manager of Douglas Volkswagen, 3329 Douglas, was told in February that two signs the company has are illegal.

The committee said one of the signs, on the north side, could remain providing the property was consolidated and had frontage on a bordering street.

The other sign, on the east side, whould have to be removed "and its is still there," said Starkey.

The committee instructed him to enforce the bylaw.

He explained later this would mean at first a letter informing the company that it is in violation of the bylaw and if not corrected, action would have to be taken.

To Keep It Rolling

IT DOES NOT TAKE LONG FOR a new traffic route to become so familiar and people so dependent on it that the public cannot remember how it got along without the wider street or the extension which now it enjoys. The street changes—apart from other projects—which are contained in the five-year improvement plan to go to the voters on Thursday are of this nature, and in considering them it is interesting to look back at the results of the last five-year capital budget and see how some of its completed features have become necessities which we now accept without question. Yet in their time they were debatable points—their need was questioned and their cost was deplored.

You have only to see the cars pouring through that upper part of Fort Street which used to be called the Dardanelles to realize what today's traffic would be like without this widened gateway to and from the downtown area. Yet it took more than 40 years of talk to get the plan off the drawing board and onto the ground. Similarly with the Rose-Blanshard thoroughfare. Despite the fact that the provincial government let us down by refusing to design a northern connection, the wide avenue even in its present state prevents Douglas Street from becoming a maddening rush-hour bottleneck.

The Causeway widening, at the cost of precious feet of Empress lawn, keeps the summer traffic from coming to a standstill around the harbor. And the smaller improvements—the Vancouver Street extension at Heywood, the Richardson Street alterations that move traffic easily eastward—are all examples of arguable projects that became practical necessities as soon as the public had a chance to try them.

Today, the suggested traffic improvements on the referendum ballot are going through the same process of examination and questioning. But the growing traffic flow requires that we keep up with the demand for easily usable routes to and from the city centre. We cannot wait until stalled vehicles demonstrate the need: we have to plan ahead to keep cars and people moving.

That is what the five-year plan means, and voters will be asked to authorize borrowing to construct a route through Johnson-Begbie-Shelbourne which will take traffic northward and eastward as an alternative to existing streets. In particular it will make it possible to go ahead with the one-way plans for Johnson and Pandora which will tie in with the Johnson Street Bridge approach. These projects are a key part of the city's planned development.

The Finlayson Street plan, linking Blanshard and Shelbourne, will provide another needed east-west route, and the Vancouver Street projection from Pandora to Pembroke will ease the need for more north-south routes. Existing streets, such as Cook between Hillside and Bay, Quadra from Burdett to Humboldt, Blanshard from Courtney to Humboldt, Bay from Douglas to Blanshard, and others, will be improved to speed traffic and relieve congestion. A few weeks after these improvements have been made, drivers and passengers will wonder how they ever managed without them. But it will take a 60 per cent "yes" vote by property owners on Thursday to get them.

Intolerable Risks

RELEASE OF THE FEDERAL government's "secret" report on West Coast towboat operations provides evidence to support widely held beliefs that unnecessary hazards are added to the risks of an occupation that has suffered too many founderings and deaths in recent years.

The names of individuals, companies and craft are not disclosed, but the report is an indictment of the operation in general. To the basically unsafe design of some tugboats are added the dangers of over-long working shifts, inadequate training for many crewmen and a lack of concern for safety practices that add up to invitations to disaster, particularly among the smaller tugs.

This is a situation which demands immediate correction. Where vessels themselves are of faulty design, they should be removed from service until their faults are corrected. Where the danger stems from non-observance of life-saving or navigational regulations, there should be prompt action to see that crews or supervisory personnel are trained to take full advantage of protective procedures. Where ignorance or carelessness contributes to risks, the men involved should be taken off the boats until they have learned the value of safety standards.

A report saying that 80 per cent of West Coast tugboats and half the men aboard them are constantly exposed to unsatisfactory and dangerous conditions, demands corrective action without delay. Risks from the sea itself — storm, tide, reef and normal work afloat — are sufficient without those that arise from inadequate training, heedlessness or poor construction.

Storm Warning in West Van

LAST EASTER THE B.C. TEACHers' Federation pledged support for the West Vancouver Teachers Association in its resolutions to protect jobs of members that might be in jeopardy following voters' rejection of a school board referendum. The Federation's pledge endorsed "any militant action deemed necessary."

This week the West Vancouver school board decided to cut 45 teachers from its rolls in an attempt to reduce 1970 expenditures. The reductions will include 32 teachers who have already tendered resignations. This would boost the pupil-teacher ratio from 24-to-one to 27-to-one in elementary schools, and from 20-to-one to 21½-to-one in secondaries. It would also reduce total staff by about 12 per cent.

These are ingredients of a potentially explosive confrontation. Inevitably the point will be made that present methods of school financing are inadequate — as they are — and that a broader taxation base for educational costs is required. The provincial formula will be under attack again and the argument will be expressed that the sufferers inevitably will be children denied a lower pupil-teacher ratio, which is considered perhaps the most significant beneficial trend in recent educational change.

It would be unfortunate, however, if the issue were confined to these restrictive lines. There are other considerations to be weighed. The West Vancouver situation could produce a searching investigation of our school system seen from the various viewpoints of teachers, taxpayers, elected school trustees and department of education and finance officialdom, over which elected political figures have jurisdiction. The question could change from how much the schools need to how much the public will provide for them.

Letter

Hero Hess

I see that Rudolf Hess, Hitler's deputy, has appeared in the news. I think that the time is long past due when this unfortunate man should be released from Spandau Prison — not only released, but exonerated, as he is not guilty of any war crimes. Indeed, how could he be when he was a prisoner in Great Britain from 1941 until the end of the war!

The Second World War was supposed to have been fought in defence of freedom, but it has resulted in less freedom than there was before it began, seeing that now, about one-third of the human race is under Marxist-Leninist tyranny; also there have been disastrous wars in Indo-China and Algeria as the result of French intransigence (although Algeria is now free), long and costly wars in Korea and Vietnam (which now include Laos and Cambodia) and Palestine has been over-run by the forces of International Zionism and four-fifths of her rightful inhabitants driven into the desert. I hold no brief for either Nazism or Fascism, but Marxism-Leninism is by far the greater menace, just as Lenin and Trotsky were far worse than either Hitler or Mussolini. (At least the latter two helped to save Spain from Marxism, although they did it for their own ends.) — Richard D. Corrance, 1037 Craigdarroch.

FROM TORONTO

By HAROLD GREER

Froth But No Substance in Municipal-Provincial Talk

BY all the usual standards, the recent provincial-municipal conference here — the first of its kind since the Ontario Municipal Act was passed in 1849 — was a ghastly failure. Premier Robarts averred it "very stimulating" in his summary speech but he must have been thinking of the theatre of the absurd: he wasn't even present for most of it and neither were most of the municipal delegates. The hall was two-thirds empty as Mr. Robarts searched his bag of cliches to enumerate (unsuccessfully) the "great strides" which had been made and to reassure everyone that whatever had been accomplished would not be allowed to "drop by the wayside."

Greer

What was accomplished defies delineation. The province had nothing new to offer for the problem of the cities and its statements consisted of rehashed descriptions of long-term provincial policies. With one or two exceptions, the mayor and reeves were unable to rise above their own parochial beefs. Nobody seemed to have more than the vaguest idea of why they were there or what they were doing.

The catch-word of the conference, of course, was "partnership." No longer are the municipalities to be the "creatures" of the province but "partners." "The time has gone when we can function separately," Mr. Robarts intoned in his opening speech. "Our keynotes for the Seventies must be co-operation, co-ordination and understanding." "Oh, it's partners now?" one mayor commented the next day. "But you haven't changed the Municipal Act."

Which indeed is the whole point. The 120-year-old Municipal Act gives the municipalities such powers and functions as the province pleases; it is not in any real sense the "constitution" of the cities, although the phrase is frequently used, because it does not confer autonomy. Most municipal decisions are subject to provincial approval of one kind or another and many of their programs are determined for them either by the province or by appointed special purpose bodies, such as planning boards, over whom municipal councils have little or no control.

Inadequate Tax

Fiscally, the main source of municipal revenue, the property tax, is grossly unable (except at intolerable rates) to finance the services municipalities are expected to provide. The deficit must therefore be made up by provincial grants, always inadequate and usually provided with strings and much gratuitous advice attached. About half of the revenue generated by the property tax goes to school boards, whose expenditures are legally beyond municipal control.

All this, of course, did not just develop haphazardly. It was quite deliberate and for the simple reason, to put it bluntly, that municipalities were not considered capable of running their own affairs. They could not be trusted with self-government. And indeed, many if not most of them have amply demonstrated over the years that the fear was well-founded.

Does it remain so? That perhaps was the main thing the province sought to learn from the conference here. Many of the municipal delegates complained, for example, that they are not allowed to bring their experts and officials with them; this was a clever provincial ploy — the province wanted to see how the mayors and reeves handled themselves when they were on their own. One of the better ones, Mayor D. G. Newman of Whitby, predicted that the municipalities would demonstrate at the conference that they have "reached a level of sophistication in government which challenges that of the Province," but Mayor Newman was an exception; whatever other qualities municipal politicians may have displayed, sophistication in government was not one of them.

Not surprisingly, Mr. Robarts was much more guarded in talking about "partnership" at the end of the conference than when it began. "While we want a partnership," he said, "we must have a clearer definition of roles and responsibilities. It will take a good deal of discussion to work this one out." Which rather takes everything back to square one.

The hard fact is that the Robarts government is not much more competent in this area than the municipalities. Various of its long-term policies are sound enough but they stop short of the real problem: they do not pretend to reconcile municipal functions and municipal fiscal capacity. Indeed, they envisage an even greater dependency by the municipalities on the provincial treasury.

Yet it is precisely the lack of fiscal autonomy — and its corollary, the absence of fiscal responsibility — which has caused the urban crisis and the baffling phenomenon of urbanization wherein local government is dying away even as the cities are exploding with growth. If city-dwellers are angry and frustrated and the quality of life is deteriorating, it is because they have been effectively disenfranchised by a system in which the pressure of their votes can hardly be felt. It is an unusual municipal election in this province if over 30 per cent of the voters turn out to vote; the public long ago realized it was electing political nobodies.

Could Cut Services

There are only two answers to this. One is to reduce the order of municipal services to the capacity of the property tax. If, for example, all the municipalities in Ontario had made no contribution to education, health and welfare in 1968 (these responsibilities being taken over by the province), their expenditures would have been cut by 47 per cent — well above what they received in make-up provincial grants.

The alternative and preferable approach (on the argument that local services are best financed locally) is to authorize the cities to levy new taxes, which means, not to put too fine a point on it, municipal income taxes. Eventually, with the completion of regional government, this is what will probably happen. In the meantime, all talk of "partnership" and self-government for the cities is just so much political dross.

Correspondence From Our Readers

Vietnam Unification Effort

Comment must be made on the lead editorial for April 22, "Planned Withdrawal," which refers to the "aggression of northern Communists against the Southeast Asian ricebowl, to thwart and prevent which the United States sent advisers, arms and troops in the first place. . . ."

This is not an accurate statement of the situation behind American intervention in Vietnam, since the "northern Communists" did not have designs on the Southeast Asian ricebowl, but were, consistently with the terms of the Geneva Agreements which guaranteed the reunification of Vietnam in 1956, seeking to help their brothers throw off the U.S.-initiated, divisive tyranny of Ngo Din Diem and to bind up their broken country. It is well-known that President Eisenhower recognized the desire of the vast majority of the Vietnamese people to be governed by the administration of Ho Chi Minh, and acted to prevent its realization.

I would like to add a further comment, concerning Art Stott's column on Page 5 of the same issue, which praises the objectives of the March for Millions as much more constructive than political demonstrations, which, he feels, are always "against something" and accomplish little. I share in his enthusiasm for the March, Colquitz Creek Cleanup, and other worthy community projects. But I submit that most anti-war demonstrations are essentially responsible eruptions of a most important truth, and that public apathy toward them does not disprove this fact. Had our Times editor cared to join the small group in Centennial Square on Saturday, April 18, he perhaps would not now need to be so confused about the current acts and intentions of Hanoi. — Mrs. T. M. Cox, 1240 Glyn.

Bury the Power Lines

The B.C. Hydro, as a Crown corporation, is owned by the people of British Columbia. Therefore, when and where the people object to overhead transmission lines, the officials of B.C. Hydro must pay attention.

For years Premier Bennett, as Minister of Finance, has been telling us that he got the province out of debt. I am not competent to understand how he performed this feat, but having done so, he should be able to come up with a financial solution that would enable B.C. Hydro to expand their services without causing visual pollution.

It may be too much to expect Hydro to bury all power lines, but surely they could bury them in areas of high aesthetic and residential value, such as Greater Victoria and the surrounding district.

If enough people protest, and keep on protesting, action will result. — J. C. Ingram Rogers, 1218 St. David.

Cruel Litter

The subject of pollution and litter is very much to the fore due to an informed public. However, there is another type of litter that should concern animal owners especially, and that is the prolific breeding of thousands of unwanted kittens and puppies by their female animals. These are now arriving in our city in over-abundance and probably only one in twenty can be placed in a really good home; the others are surplus and doomed to suffer by indiscriminate distribution or abandonment. The owners of these animals are usually kindly-intentioned people who would shudder if they but knew the ultimate fate in store for their charming infant animals.

The only solution is to have the female animals spayed and male cats neutered. If this is not possible, the kindest thing is to keep one male kitten or puppy and take the rest of the litter to a veterinarian or humane society for humane euthanasia, preferably as soon as born.

Vimy Spirit

On April 9 a hundred and twenty-five veterans of First World War sat down to the Vimy Night dinner in the Legion auditorium on Blanshard Street. The old songs were sung, reminiscences exchanged, and the comradeship of the trenches and dugouts of the Western Front permeated the hall. The dinner was given, as in past years, by the ladies' auxiliary and "For they are jolly good fellows" was sung with fervor. It was a good evening, just everything such an evening should be.

One wonders how many Vimy Night dinners lie ahead. Let us give rein to the imagination. The year is 2000 AD and a centenarian, the sole survivor of the battle of Vimy Ridge, is brought into the Legion auditorium in a wheel-chair. His photograph is taken, the serene look of old age on his face, as he sits in his chair surrounded by veterans of the Second World War.

The last Vimy Night dinner, and the last of the virile young soldiers who stormed the great ridge that Easter Monday, 1917, as the snow was gently falling — that day when, it has been truly said, Canada ceased to be a colony and became a nation.—F. R. Hasse, 450 Simcoe.

Prevent Misuse

There would seem to be a feeling among many citizens of the Greater Victoria area that the present policy and practices of the British Columbia Hydro and Power Authority should be changed. Since three or four new high-power lines are planned for Victoria in the near future, now would seem to be the time to try to bring about such a change: first, to prevent misuse of land; secondly, to preserve at least some of the aesthetic qualities of the district, and thirdly, to stop the expropriation of private land and homes.

I hope you will continue to keep this matter before the public.—Elizabeth Bourke, Millstream Lake Road, RR 6.

Looking Back

From the Times of April 29, 1910

The final returns for the fiscal year, ending March 31, show an increase in Canadian trade of $117,506,234, or over 20 per cent, as compared with the previous year. The total trade for the year was $677,143,106, an increase of over $26 millions compared with 1907-08, the previous high-water mark. For the current fiscal year total trade is estimated at $800 millions.

Wasteful Funeral Custom Denies Organs to Living

Surgery and medicine in partnership with technology can transplant tissue now by graft from one person to another such as skin, and organs such as liver and kidney and hearts and from one part to another in the same person such as blood vessels or cartilege.

They can implant artificial materials and machines for medically indicated purposes, for example synthetic arteries and electron cardiac pacemakers. And they can supplant tissue with plastic or synthetic heart valves or kidney machines.

A lot of this "spare parts" medicine is only in its earliest stage of success but it is here to stay. As Marshall McLuhan says, we live, most of us, in a rearview mirror. We are not even as quick as Alice was in her looking glass, we think of new things only retrospectively, we think of radios as wireless, and autos as horseless carriages and trains as iron horses and refrigerators as iceboxes and cinematography as moving pictures.

We are caught in something of this same conceptual lag with respect to medicine and the result is we are being prodigally wasteful in our funeral practices and stupidly selfish in our misuse of vital organs while we are living and even more so when we die.

It may not be too much to say that very often so-called reverent or pious death ceremonies, solemn rites of passage are really nothing more than acts of callous indifference and our dying nowadays, 80 per cent of it in hospitals, no more in homes, is followed through in complete and selfish disregard of the health and survival needs of others.

The problem arises because medicine needs more spare parts for transplantation than it can find and the issue is a cultural-ethical one. Ought we not to donate the human parts and tissue needed to save lives and give our social reinforcement to such donations whether the donors are still well or near to dying?

In New York City there are always 50 to 100 victims of kidney disease on chronic dialysis waiting in line for a new kidney from either a living donor who has volunteered to share one kidney or from the body of another patient who willed his kidneys for extraction and transplant after death.

And in cases of kidney failure alone 7,644 patients died in the United States in 1963 and in that same year there were 10,600 kidneys available from patients dying of subarachnoid hemorrhage which is a fairly abrupt kind of death which leaves other vital organs in very good condition. Even after ruling out some of those potential transplants because they were either diseased or incompatible there would have been more than enough kidneys to meet all of the needs.

Given good surgical and medical logistics and getting the moral-religious block out of the way death or prolonged dialysis for lack of spare kidneys would be pretty close to ended. It is estimated that 14,000-15,000 kidneys per year could be made available from people dying of brain damage in other forms.

In the same year I have chosen for this purpose 4,000 livers were also needed which the same 5,300 hemorrhage victims could also have supplied. But, in fact, nearly all of those kidney patients died while the vital organs they needed were burned up in cremation or buried to rot away in the ground.

In 1967 only 700 renal transplants were performed because donors are so hard to enlist and there are already recorded incidences of flat refusal to allow hearts to be transplanted from prospective donors, as for example by the exercise of existing statutes under the next-of-kin principle.

This resistance against man's struggle against disease and death comes mainly from deep-seated feeling about the body. The sense of identity and recognition is largely somatic and especially so for the simple minded.

And even though we suffer when he lose a part of our flesh and bone we don't lose our self-recognition; we know who we are no matter how maimed we might be and it is therefore probably somewhat easier psychologically to volunteer a part of one's self then it is for family or friends to dispose of one's body on their initiative.

'The Powerful Guilt Component'

There are many situations where a kidney has been promised by a donor patient but nevertheless after death the family refused to allow it. It seems somehow to them, apparently, to be destroying or hurting or degrading those who have passed on as they say in a popular circumlocution.

And add to this image making the powerful guilt component in grief reaction familiar to us all and we have no great difficulty in understanding the block in the way of ethical responsibilities.

The legal position is often so unclear and the sensibilities at stake so poignant that hospital officials and physicians have usually bowed to this conventional obstructionism and often have done so obviously at the expense of the recipient patient's life.

In the Second World War they called it cannibalizing when they reassembled parts of broken down lorries, when they put them together to make new ones. But that kind of language is, of course, archaic. Years ago they said a cadaver was worth 87 cents for its residual chemicals but now a cadaver can be more valuable than its weight in gold.

So Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz, the thoracic man at the Maemomides Hospital in Brooklyn testifying before Senator Dale's committee put it this way: he says it is wrong to bury 17 other good organs when a man dies through loss of function in one. They should be considered—those 17 other good organs — as part of the nation's resources and used for the living.

Presumably as road blocks in the way of organ transplants are cleared away by successful methods of cell typing or by ways of bypassing the rejection mechanisms or finding adequate media for the preservation of vital tissue this fatal scarcity will emerge as very painfully obviously the most heartbreaking problem of transplants.

Seeing people die for the sake of what some of my cynical friends call the bier barons.

Funerals are immoral whether by interment or cremation. To bury precious tissue vitally needed for the life and health of people is inexcusably selfish and antisocial. And to burn them up is as callous and selfish as to bury them to rot in the ground.

Ethically regarded funerals are archiac and stupid and insensitive. I'm delighted as an Anglican parson that the Convocation of Canterbury in the Church of England was the first of the religious bodies by resolution to instruct the clergy to educate their people in the nature of this problem and urge on them, as much as pastoral skill will permit, that they have memorial services now and not funerals any longer.

The funeral practices in our semi-Christian culture are motivated largely by the feeling that the body is sacrosanct; a kind of form of religious physicalism or religious materialism. It has no theological support; it obviously ignores St. Paul's emphatic declaration that we are sown a physical body but raised a spiritual body.

Apparently there is no philosophic support for it. As far as our Western heritage is concerned we can go back as far as Aristotle's treatises like "On the generation of animals" and "The soul" to find warning against any such superstitions.

More and more people will be dying because of this lack of tissue and all due to conventional religion and ceremony. In the end it may prove that man's selfishness in this respect is so great that the need for organs of a vital sort will have to be met by raising herds of animals for inter-specific transplants, transplants from one animal species to another, for example aortic valves from pigs' hearts or kidney from a chimpanzee or a cow's thymus implanted in a cancer patient.

A certain kind of reactionary religious opinion confuses

Funerals Lack Theology Basis

both biological and human life as one and the same thing so that terminating biological life either at a very early stage of fetal development, for example, in the first trimester of pregnancy or at the hopeless subpersonal and vegetable end of terminal illness. In either case by that logic it is murder.

But, if we can draw a distinction between merely biological life and truly human life then both abortion and euthanasia in some patient situations would no longer be taking a human life, that is, it would no longer be murder but it would become a good thing to do and the right thing to do.

Something like the cerebral definition of death is called for and the person-centred doctrine of man in the Judeo-Christian tradition will certainly insist that life is not at all human in the absence of self-awareness and the capacity for interpersonal relationships.

Now, at this point somebody is always sure to arise and cry "Ah-Ha, you are trying to play God." Questions of life and death are in God's hands, not in man's, they say. Well it seems to me that the only honest and constructive reply to this accusation is to accept and acknowledge it:

To acknowledge that we do indeed refuse irresponsibly to evade the decision making obligation. We do indeed run away from the tragic responsibilities which our modern medical knowledge brings.

My quarrel with my friends in the medical profession is that they don't take medicine seriously enough. We cannot and ought not to deny our growing knowledge and control over the conditions of human existence.

Rhodesia Still Mocks UN Sanctions Program

By JIM HOAGLAND

SALISBURY — Most Rhodesians have reacted with little more than a yawn to the new sanctions imposed by the United Nations against this breakaway British colony.

At the same time, however, two recent sanctions-related actions appear to have produced alarm in official circles here. These are the closing of the American Consulate in Salisbury and the first prosecution of an American company for helping Rhodesia break the sanctions.

The American actions could hurt the exposed pocketbook of Rhodesians and cut new investment, while the UN resolution is viewed by them, and by many outside experts on Africa, as impractical rhetoric.

The resolution, passed by the security council 14-0 after the U.S. and Britain had vetoed a more harshly worded one, demands that all member states "immediately sever all diplomatic, consular, trade, military and other relations" with Rhodesia.

The resolution also calls for the immediate interruption of "any means of transportation to and from . . . Rhodesia."

Except for providing Prime Minister Ian Smith with another campaign tool to show "The hostility of the Afro-Asian block against the good people of Rhodesia," the resolution has had no impact here.

Government officials proudly point to their success in breaking the stiff economic sanctions set after the country's 228,000 white settlers unilaterally declared Rhodesia free of British authority in 1965.

Despite the boycott, shops are still stocked with a wide variety of consumer goods. Rationing of gasoline continues, not because it is scarce — anyone can buy as many ration coupons as he needs — but because it is a revenue-raiser for the government.

Consumers do complain about high prices and the shoddiness of some goods. But most appear willing to pay such a price for their defiance.

The goods on the market are manufactured in, or transshipped by, South African and Portuguese Mozambique.

These two countries also aid Rhodesia in the surreptitious exporting of copper, tobacco, chrome and other goods that are sold on a flourishing black market, often with South African cerificates of origin.

Air Rhodesia still flies to both countries, and road and railway travel do not seem to have been affected at all. Without the co-operation of South Africa and Mozambique — which fear they would would be the next target if sanctions were allowed to work against Rhodesia — the new measures are not likely to mean much.

Both countries, for example, still maintain diplomatic missions in Salisbury, but they have given no indications that they will give Rhodesia full diplomatic recognition.

The third country that is crucial in the attempt to bring down Smith's government by economics is Zambia, which was Northern Rhodesia before the British gave it independence in 1964.

Like separated Siamese twins who hate each other, Zambia and Rhodesia still cannot break completely.

Although it has made tremendous sacrifices (some experts think sanctions have cost Zambia more than Rhodesia) Zambia still is economically dependent on Rhodesia's railroads, power stations, coal fields and other infrastructure. Zambia is still unhappily contributing much of the foreign currency that keeps Rhodesia going.

Smith's government seems convinced it can eventually persuade the rest of the world that sanctions have been such a failure they should be dropped, or at least quietly forgotten.

Regarding sanctions, two things do seem clear. One is that Smith's government, in the immediate sense, has made a mockery of Harold Wilson's predictions that economic sanctions would bring the rebel government down "within weeks."

On the other hand, sanctions have inhibited an economic growth that would have been phenomenal, and would have made Rhodesia an extraordinarily prosperous country.

Rhodesia's rising mineral wealth is the reason why officials seem concerned about the recent prosecution in New York of William H. Muller and Co. Inc. for illegally importing Rhodesian chrome.

Chrome is the lure with which Rhodesians expect to draw the U.S. back into trading links. Government officials here like to remind American visitors that the U.S. is having to import chrome from the Soviet Union at much higher prices because sanctions ban imports of the metal from Rhodesia.

Smith, in a campaign speech, said Rhodesian chrome was going behind the Iron Curtain, and then being sold to U.S. buyers as Russian chrome at twice its normal price. He did not say how the chrome was getting to Communist countries which he usually blames for most of his troubles.

The U.S. decision to close its consulate, taken before the UN resolution was passed, seems to have had more of an effect here than the Rhodesian government likes to admit publicly.

Since it touched off the exodus of 10 other countries, the U.S. closing was a damaging blow to Smith's oft-repeated pledge to obtain international recognition.

'Dear to the Memory . . .'

By ART STOTT

The wire from the CPR's Ed MacPherson was brief: "Trav Coleman retires April 28. Knew you would be interested." Indeed, and so must be a crowd of British Columbia and Canadian newspapermen of my vintage.

Stott

Trav was public relations man in Vancouver for the Canadian Pacific in the late 'twenties and thirties, before he eventually moved on and up to senior office in headquarters at Montreal. During those years on the coast he became the confidante and friend of a multitude of reporters. He had a willing ear for young newspapermen with their inevitable grievances. He could help them in their work. He was generous in his treatment of them. He happens to have one of the world's most highly cultivated senses of the ridiculous, and understands young newspaper people's idea of fun — to which he has made a life-long contribution.

Pantomimist — he could pick the roses off Empress Hotel wallpaper and simulate the presentation of them to a lady guest with a cavalier's grace, or he could give a demonstration of wrestling himself that rolled his audience on the floor, and once rolled him into a bonfire at a Banff Indian festival. Raconteur — his Yorkshire dialect stories, learned from two immigrants on a prairie farm in his youth, outdid Pat O'Malley. Host—he could entertain at dinner or pour you a drink and make you think you were the most important person in the world.

People have always been his interest and his natural liking for them paid dividends to his company. Part of Trav's job was to make the CPR look good, often during those recurring cycles of emperor worship in the Company which pushed the annointed out of touch with the public.

Trav, in his Vancouver days and on his regular visits to Victoria, moved in a mixed milieu of CPR heirarchy and the working press, providing a liaison that the company needed.

On board the great white Empresses when they brought dignatories from the Orient and stopped here as their first Canadian port of call, he was available for help. He could run down a passenger with a lively interview, find a typewriter for you — and if your taste turned occasionally to luxury travel for which you didn't have the time or money, he could arrange regal transport on one of the great vessels up to Vancouver. Newspaper people, by his lights, were entitled to the best.

With him, it wasn't just a job. It was an association he enjoyed. He could gather a group at the Empress — and side with newspaper guests against the house dick protesting the noise from a room — or he could join cmfortably in a visit to the Coach and Horses if that was the wish of the boys. He did his stint in the exacting protocol-stuffed public relations for royal visits and could put you in touch with a fight champion passing through.

In the ups and downs of newspaper work, he never forgot a friend. You called him on a visit to Montreal. Pat and I did in 1960. Despite his busy day, he had time to introduce us to the Press Club and follow with lunch in the Kontiki Room, where they serve tall, exotic libations with three-inch parasols rising from the ice-filled glass. Then, to top it off, he found a pair of non-existent passes to the opening game of the Stanley Cup finals which marked Rocket Richard's last season of play.

Between newspaper people and those in public relations there is often ground for some constraint. Newspaper people have reservations about "payola". Public relations men often try too hard to popularize their employers. With Trav, no problem. Professionally, he worked with you and for you, with an appreciative word for your copy and consistent willingness to help you, but not interfere. He made friends. It was a natural process for him. And the CPR suffered not at all from that characteristic.

Of course he had considerable resources behind him. The Empress was the one hotel above all others in Victoria. The great liners were in a majestic class by themselves. Both provided amenities that could be dispensed. Yet these always seemed secondary considerations. The important point was Coleman's interest in you and the story you were getting. He knew there were deadlines to meet. he knew, also, that the word from on high in the company did not always create the desired impression among the working press. If, because you were Trav's friend, you restrained some of your acerbity, it was your doing, not his by persuasion or pressure.

In retrospect the association he enjoyed with reporters represents one of the enjoyable highlights of newspapering for some of us hereabouts. We were younger then, and perhaps the cement of friendship was stronger.

Acklands

Last year's results were a 15.6 per cent improvement over 1968 sales, but net profit was lower, reports Acklands Ltd. for the 12-month period ended Nov. 30.

The national firm said sales totalled $134.9 million, up $18.2 million from restated 1968, while net income was $3.17 million, down from $3.37 million. The company made no major acquisitions and completed the integration of Ashdown Hardware.

It also created a new import division, Westward Distributors, and named subsidiary H. C. Paul Ltd. exclusive North American distributor for air cushion vehicles made by Hoverair Ltd., of Peterborough, Eng., which was sending 50 craft to Winnipeg this month.

Johnston

Record revenue from operations and other interests is reported by Johnston Terminals and Storage Ltd. for the past fiscal year — an increae of 14 per cent from 1968.

Total income was $21 million, compared with $18.4 million, and net income reported was $800,510 ($1.50 a share) against $427,784 (76 cents) the previous year.

Hawker-Siddeley

Hawker Siddley Canada Ltd. of Toronto reports operating profit declined during 1969 to $1.2 million from $2.9 million a year ago.

Sales rose to $188 million from $174.47 million.

The company said 1969 pretax income was reduced by $2.35 million to provide for anticipated losses on contracts at the Halifax shipyard.

Worldwide Energy

Worldwide Energy Co. Ltd. had net earnings of $457,095 or 14 cents a share during the first three months compared with $80,938 or three cents in the same period last year.

Gross revenue was $1.14 million, up from $536,540 in the first quarter of 1969.

Furness, Withy

Furness, Withy and Co., a shipping firm with a long history of Canadian connection, reported Tuesday a big jump in 1969 earnings.

The corporation reported a group surplus before taxation of $16.8 million for the year ended last Dec. 21, compared with $9.3 million in 1968.

After taxes and dividends, the company retained a net $6.29 million in its reserves, compared with $1.76 million.

French Petroleum

The earnings, 17 cents a share, compared with 22 cents a share or $1.2 million during 1968.

Production of crude oil increased and sales of natural gas were 7.2 million cubic feet daily.

Gt. Lakes Paper

Total shipments of Great Lakes Paper Co. for 1970 are expected to show an improvement over 1969. In the first quarter newsprint shipments were down 11 per cent at 73,119 tons while chemical pulp shipments rose 8.9 per cent to 43,082 tons.

Net earnings of $920,000 (26 cents a share) for the first three months were 4.3 per cent below $961,000 (27 cents) last year. Sales of $17.5 million were at a record high and were $5,000 ahead of 1969 due to improved kraft pulp and newsprint prices.

AUTOMATED banking system has been introduced by Surety National Bank at its downtown Los Angeles branch. Pam Martin, left, a customer, and Faith Mannino, right, a teller, demonstrate the system. Customer and teller — located in an upstairs office—will communicate by phone and closed-circuit TV, with money travelling back and forth by pneumatic tube. There will be no tellers in the main lobby. (AP Wirephoto.)

Forgeries, Old-Style Methods Threaten Swiss Watch Industry

By ANTHONY HILTON

Deep in the mountains of central Italy is a factory turning out "genuine" Swiss watches. In a warehouse on the waterfront in Hong Kong the production lines roll on, producing Swiss watches, Hong Kong style.

Chinese watch dials, Japanese cases, and dumped Russian movements—put them all together and you have got a winner. For $3.60 you can produce a watch to sell for $48, and the forgery is so good that even the worried manufacturers back in the Swiss mountains are hard pressed to tell the difference. Thousands of these watches are sold every year.

Forgeries, however, are not the biggest part of the Swiss industry's mounting collection of troubles. For 300 years, since a travelling Englishman persuaded a Swiss locksmith to repair his watch, and the cunning Swiss made a copy in the process, the tiny mountain country had had one of the best brand names ever.

STRONG COMPETITION

Now old ties are loosening fast. The Japanese are selling their watches hard. The Swiss know what happened to British textiles and German cameras, and they are definitely rattled.

The Swiss share of world exports has already started to slide, but more marked is their falling share of total world production. At the peak they produced over 80 per cent of the world's watches. Now the figure is closer to 40 per cent.

The big manufacturers have taken huge strides in modernizing production and increasing output, but some problems are home grown. Omega, for instance—controlled by the great-grandson of its founder, Louis Brandt—is still fighting desperately to avoid going public, though everyone knows it needs more capital for expansion and will have to take the plunge soon.

LABOR SHORTAGE

Even the efforts to automate were largely forced on Omega by a chronic shortage of labor. Today all the parts of a watch are milled on machines, and only the assembly, is done by hand.

In a few years the watch from start to finish will be untouched by human hand. Paradoxically Omega claims the result will be a better-quality watch; machines demand better-quality components than the old craftsmen did.

But automation is in the cards only for the handful of firms at the top end of the industry, together producing around 10 million watches. The rest of the output, some 60 million watches, is split between 600 assemblers and 1,300 subcontractors. Most of these are tiny specialists, often employing fewer than 10 people. All are determined to outlast the Alps before they give up their independence.

The Swiss government's problem is to persuade them to merge. But as most are family controlled, no one knows who makes what profits. So no one wants to buy them out. And the Swiss, dedicated non-interventionists they are, cannot bring themselves to force the pace. The alternative is a long, lingering death for much of the industry.

Imperial's Future Centres on Arctic

TORONTO (CP) — The future of Imperial Oil Ltd. lies in the North, says President John Archibald Armstrong.

He was named to succeed W. O. Twaits last week as head of the largest company in the Canadian oil industry with assets of $1,500,000,000 and a profit in 1969 of $94,000,000.

Armstrong has already made several trips to Imperial's Arctic oil strike at Atkinson Point which he describes as "possibly of greater importance to the Canadian economy than the Leduc discovery" in Alberta in 1947.

He plans trips to Atkinson Point again in June and August.

Another of his main concerns, he said in an interview is "leakage" of crude oil from Quebec and overseas.

All gasoline sold west of the Ottawa Valley is supposed to come from Canadian crude oil producers. Oil comes via pipelines to refineries in Ontario.

He estimates the volume of products moving westward across the national oil policy line at 65,000 barrels a day in 1969.

He said the federal government must stop the leakage in which products are trucked in from Quebec, or come by tanker and are unloaded in Toronto and Hamilton.

Armstron'gs appointment was the culmination of a 30-year rise with Imperial.

Born in Dauphin, Man., in 1917, he earned a bachelor of science in geology from the University of Manitoba and later a B.S. in chemical engineering at Queen's University in Kingston, Ont. He worked for a short time with the Geological Survey of Canada before joining Imperial Oil in 1940.

LORNEX RESUMES NEGOTIATIONS

TORONTO (CP) — Lornex Mining Corp. Ltd. says it has resumed negotiations for marketing and financing of a giant copper-molybdenum development in British Columbia following clarification of provincial regulations.

The province April 23 defined a producing mine under the new Mineral Processing Act as including any property in the process of making financial arrangements toward production and contractual sale of minerals.

Lornex said earlier that the future of the B.C. development was placed in jeopardy by the act which controls the amount of processing that has to be done in the province. In the case of Lornex that would have required a smelter, which the company felt was not economical.

Lornex said Tuesday that as a result of the clarification, negotiations have been resumed with the Japanese consortium with whom sales and financing arrangements had been signed, and with Canadian bankers also involved in the financing.

U.S. Steel Giants Report Profits Drop

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — The two largest steel producers in the United States reported Tuesday a drop in first-quarter profits of about 30 per cent despite an increase in revenues.

U.S. Steel Corp., the No. 1 steel-maker, said its first-quarter earnings dropped about 30 per cent to $35,500,000 or 65 cents a share from $50,800,000 or 94 cents a share a year earlier.

U.S. Steel said 1970 first-quarter revenues rose to $1,180,000,000 from $1,080,000,000 from the first quarter of 1969.

The announcement followed a Bethlehem Steel Corp. report that its earnings dropped 34 per cent during the first quarter compared with the first quarter of 1969.

Bethlehem, the second-ranking steel-maker, told stockholders at its annual meeting in Wilmington, Del., that first-quarter profits declined to $21,800,000 from $33,000,000 in the first quarter of 1969.

The company said earnings were down to 50 cents a common share from 70 cents a share in the first quarter of 1969.

Bethlehem said it had first-quarter revenues of $762,200,000 compared with $694,200,000 for the same quarter a year ago.

Engineering: what price the craftsman?
Mercedes-Benz looks at the diminishing role of the craftsman in industry—but remains adamant as to his value

Mercedes-Benz Model 250, from $5,750*. Other models from $5,185* to $31,100*.

MODERN automated industrial techniques have largely replaced individual craftsmanship. This has certainly lowered prices, but the results are often not to the high standard set by the craftsman — who takes pride in producing a perfect article.

However, for the manufacturer, craftsmanship and perfection are expensive. Thank heaven for the owners of Mercedes-Benz automobiles.

Our recent survey shows this breed of man is intolerant of imperfection. He buys a watch with the expectation that it will remain accurate, month after month. He buys hand-crafted furniture because it is well built, beautiful, and will last for years.

Men like this can improve the future of the craftsman. For only when consumers are prepared to pay for his work, will manufacturers include him on their production lines.

Without scores of individual craftsmen the Mercedes-Benz would not be possible. For engineering skill alone is not responsible for one of the most precisely built cars in the world.

The actual building is up to craftsmen in the factory. Cabinetmakers carve and fit the wood trim. Former dressmakers sew the upholstery. And 4,000 inspectors are willing to lower a day's output by rejecting a car that is less than perfect.

This comes as no surprise to the Mercedes-Benz owner. He gains satisfaction from knowing there are thousands of individual body welds. That engine bearings are machined to 4/10,000 of an inch. The same kind of satisfaction that he gains from his own business. Perhaps diagnosing a rare disease, submitting a clear research report, or untangling the complications of corporate law.

A suggestion. If you appreciate fine craftsmanship, and have never driven a Mercedes-Benz, do so.

We invite you to test drive the 250 — or any model in our showrooms. You'll realize the art of the craftsman, and his future, is far from dead at Mercedes-Benz.

Bill WALKER

The Monster that Tommy Ivan made has returned to destroy him. If not Ivan, personally, his Chicago Black Hawks. They were devoured, completely, by the Boston powerhouse in the National Hockey League semi-final playoffs for the Stanley Cup.

It was a ridiculously easy victory for the men of Harry Sinden. There was no comparison between the two teams that had tied for the league championship. Chicago had been declared champions on a technicality. They had won more games. Otherwise the teams were considered equal. But it was a false premise. The Hawks weren't to live up to their reputation for long. Just until they got to meet Boston, that's all. Because this is where the devil's incarnate lurked. A fiendish plan was being prepared. The Hawks were to be the unwilling victims.

It was three seasons ago, a little less than a month from this date. You may recall the incident well.

The Hawks had finished first that year, and then had gone out quietly in the semi-final playoffs to the Maple Leafs. There was the thought that some changes should be made. Ivan was to make them. As general manager that was his duty. And you don't hurt yourself when you deal. Especially when you hold all the aces. That's in the GM's code.

And so Ivan dealt. He gave Boston Fred Stanfield, Ken Hodge and Phil Esposito. And he asked for, and received, in return, Pit Martin, Jack Norris and Giles Marotte.

Now the tale is well worn, but there is fine substance for the record.

The Bruins, the very next season, jumped from sixth to third, and the Hawks dropped from first to fourth. Last year the Hawks fluttered, but only in the basement, while the Bruins were only a breath away from all the glory.

This year, the Hawks won first place, as noted earlier, and the Bruins were right there, too.

The players?

Esposito, that's Phil, has won a couple of scoring championships. Hodge and Stanfield won't go unprotected in the draft either.

For Chicago, Norris, a goalkeeper, has been playing in the American Hockey League with Montreal. Marotte has gone to Los Angeles, where all sinners end up. Martin, meanwhile, is still with the Hawks and generally regarded as the guy who gave them back their self-respect. He never was considered another Stan Mikita, but he liked to talk, if anyone would listen. He has been the lone saving grace.

It was in the fall, during the pre-season shennanigans. Martin was asked for an opinion and willingly gave it. He said he thought the Hawks should play more hockey on the ice than talking about it off the ice.

The Hawks quickly got the hint, and Martin didn't get the boot. He survived where others wouldn't. And success came surprisingly for the Hawks during regular-season play. And Martin scored 30 goals.

But that's where fortune ended, too, or shortly afterwards, to be factual.

An amazingly easy four-game sweep of Detroit either gave the Hawks false courage or else they completely misunderstood the objectives of the Bruins. Certainly they didn't consider their feelings. But the Hawks were not to be kept in the dark for long.

There was a peculiar form of justice to be administered by the castoffs. Some may call it poetic. But it was spiteful, too.

Some of those old sores still showed, in Boston. These would have to be avenged. They were.

For except for the first 10 minutes or so of the opening game, the Hawks did not appear to belong. They never deserved to win, not even one game, not even the last game when they did have a third-period lead.

They had been gobbled up by a machine they had helped to fashion.

For it was the original acquisition of the Chicago threesome which had triggered the Boston surge. Add a young fellow named Bobby Orr who was breaking in about that time. Give a mention to a firebrand named Johnny McKenzie, once a Hawk, and throw in a Toronto castoff, and the ingredients appear healthy enough for a long life to come.

Yes, goalkeeper Gerry Cheevers came into his own in the two playoff series. Frankly, his previous performances, and his record, had not suggested such a sound display. But there can be no argument with success, provided it is current. And Cheevers has enjoyed that distinction, to the hilt, and outplayed his more illustrious rival.

Tony Esposito of the Hawks was the sensation of the season, but he still is a rookie. It showed in the playoffs.

The Hawks won't dare argue with the rap that they came up tight in the playoffs.

Because no one will care. Especially in Boston.

That's where that Monster lurks. And is enjoying the good life.

Ask Tommy Ivan.

Blues on Verge Of Third Final

Plante Sets Shutout Mark; St. Marseille Nets Three

By CHUCK SVOBODA

ST. LOUIS (CP) — St. Louis Blues are on the doorstep of the Stanley Cup final series for the third season in a row, thanks to a 41-year-old record-setting goalie and a 30-year-old centre.

Goalie Jacques Plante collected his 14th career shutout in playoff action while centre Frank St. Marseille provided three goals in a 5-0 Blues win over Pittsburgh Penguins Tuesday night.

The win gave the Blues a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven National Hockey League West Division final. The Penguins face elimination should they lose the sixth game of the series Thursday night in Pittsburgh.

A seventh game, if necessary, will be played here Sunday. But if the Blues can win Thursday they will start the final here Sunday against Boston Bruins, the east division winners.

St. Marseille, who sat out the fourth game of the semi-final at Pittsburgh after suffering a cut over the right eye, scored his first three-goal performance with the Blues.

"Chances come, and you put them in," he said after the game. "I liked the way we played tonight—this is the best game we've played against them yet."

After a day when the outside temperature reached 92, the ice got soft in the sweltering arena, packed with 16,872 fans.

"The ice was a little heavy," said St. Marseille, "but that works against both teams."

St. Marseille's first goal came midway through the first period when he carried in on the right wing and fired the puck at Pittsburgh goalie Al Smith from about 30 feet out. Smith moved too late and the puck bounced off his shoulder into the net.

Bowman Credits Strong Checking

"That first goal was a hell of a shot, and it was a big one," said Blues coach Scotty Bowman who praised his players for their strong checking.

St. Marseille scored his second and Blues' 15th playoff power-play goal in the second period when he took a pass near the side of the Pittsburgh net and fired from a sharp angle.

Early in the third period, Bill McCreary moved in directly in front of the Penguins netminder and slipped a quick pass to St. Marseille who flipped the puck over Smith's shoulder to wrap up the scoring.

Andre Boudrias got one of the other St. Louis goals when he took a perfect pass from Terry Gray. Tim Ecclestone counted the other goal in the second period when the Blues' Ab McDonald was sitting out a minor penalty.

BRODA SHARED RECORD

Plante stopped only 21 Pittsburgh shots to score the record-setting shutout. Plante had held the previous record of 13 playoff shutouts with Turk Broda, the former star of Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Blues, unhampered by the fierce checking the Penguins had displayed in the last two games at Pittsburgh, took 35 shots at Smith, who came up with several outstanding saves.

Despite the Penguins' inability to generate any dangerous offensive drives, coach Red Kewly was optimistic about his team's chances of staying alive in the series.

"I don't think they outskated us so bad. We just let them skate around unchallenged.

"We've bounced back all year. We're not a team to fold. We started off pretty well, but those three early penalties killed us.

"I've said all along it doesn't make any difference which game we win here. We just have to win, and now it has to be the seventh game."

Two of the Penguins' three early penalties were easily killed off but St. Marseille's first goal came during the third power play. Referee John Ashley called seven minor penalties against each of the teams along with a misconduct to Picard of the Blues.

BRIAN HUGHES SIGNED . . . . . BY VICTORIA CLUB

Welsh Star Will Coach Royals

Brian Hughes, 32, newly-signed coach for Victoria Royals of the Western Canada Soccer League, has brought a wealth of experience with him from Great Britain.

Team spokesman Keith Bickmore announced that Royals' president Jim Irvine arrived in Victoria on Tuesday with Hughes as well as the signed cards of two players from the British Isles.

Hughes has fashioned an impressive background in soccer.

Born in Neath, Wales, he has represented his country in all four levels of competition — with schoolboy, under-18 and under-23 sides and as a full international.

More experience was garnered during two summers spent with Atlantic Chiefs of the now defunct North American Soccer League.

Hughes, who has just completed a three-month coaching trip in Jamaica at the invitation of the Jamaican Football Association, expects to use a 4-2-4 or 4-3-3 formation with the Victoria team.

He will assess local talent in the Victoria and District League and the Pacific Coast loop in the next few days with the intention of selecting a basic squad of 16 to 20 players.

Bot of the newly-signed players are expected to arrive within the next two weeks.

Wing-half Eric Eowyer, 24, is from Linfield, champion of the Irish League. He was on the Linfield squad for three Irish Cup victories and has played with five Irish international teams.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Defending National League batting champion Pete Rose has a simple explanation for Cincinnati teammate Tony Perez' current record-setting homer pace:

"He's hitting everything and everybody," said Rose Tuesday night after Perez had poked his 10th home run of the month as the Reds dumped Houston Astros 4-2.

Elsewhere in the league Tuesday night, Pittsburgh Pirates slugged Chicago Cubs 6-1, Atlanta Braves edged St. Louis Cardinals 3-2, New York Mets dropped San Francisco Giants 5-2, Philadelphia Phillies edged Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2 in 10 innings, and Montreal Expos swept a doubleheader from San Diego Padres 4-2 and 7-3.

Perez' two-run shot shattered the 48-year-old record for home runs in the month of April established in 1922 by Kan Williams of the old St. Louis Browns who tagged nine. Perez earlier had broken the National League mark of eight shared by Lee Walls and Wally Moon.

In addition to his homer, Perez had an RBI single and boosted his major league-leading batting average to .461. He has 26 RBIs.

Gary Nolan rode Perez' heavy hitting to his fourth straight victory with Don Gullett providing ninth inning relief after a pinch homer by Astros' John Mayberry.

EXPOS BUNCH RUNS

Montreal bunched all its runs in the eighth inning of the opener. Ron Fairly hammered a two-run homer and Bobby Wine's single drove two more across for the Expos.

Fairly homered again in the nightcap and Steve Renko pitched a six-hitter as the Expos completed the sweep and extended San Diego's losing streak to six games. The Expos have won three straight.

The Pirates ended Chicago's 11-game winning streak with two home runs by Manny Sanguillen and combined three-hit pitching by Luke Walker, Bruce Dal Canton and Dave Giusti.

The American League's Eastern Division teams rose up and smote the West Tuesday, winning all six inter-divisional games scheduled.

Cleveland Indians started it with a 3-1 triumph over Minnesota Twins in the only day game. At night, Detroit Tigers took an 8-6 victory over Kansas City Royals, Baltimore Orioles were 4-2 winners over Chicago White Sox, Washington Senators beat Milwaukee Brewers 9-6, New York Yankees won 7-5 over California Angels and Boston Red Sox edged Oakland Athletics 2-1.

With the six victories Tuesday the Eastern Division took an 18-6 edge over Western opponents this season.

Tony Horton, who said "I was just looking for the first ball that looked good to me," slammed a two-run ninth-inning double and gave the Indians their victory over the Twins.

The slugging first baseman got his chance when after one out, Twins third baseman Harmon Killebrew dropped a foul pop hit by Ted Uhlaender. Uhlaender then slapped a single to centre. One out later Vada Pinson singled, setting up Horton's game-winner.

KALINE CONNECTS

Al Kaline's first homer of the season keyed a four-run third inning in the Tigers easy triumph, pinning the Royals with their sixth straight defeat.

Detroit pitcher Joe Niekro, 3-0, lost his shutout on homers by Kansas City's Lou Piniella and Paul Schaal in the sixth inning.

Boog Powell knocked in all four runs in the Orioles victory. Powell, who belted White Sox pitchers for eight homers and a .459 batting average last year, quickly got started this season, slamming a three-run homer in the opening inning and adding a run-scoring single in the fifth.

Co-holder of last year's Cy Young Award, Mike Cuellar, benefitted from Powell's belting, gaining his third victory while scattering eight hits, including a homer by the Sox' Bill Melton.

Frank Howard, Ed Stroud and Aurelio Rodriguez poled home runs in the Senators long-ball battle with the Brewers. Ted Savage and Danny Walton connected for Milwaukee. It was Walton's seventh of the season, best in the league.

Fritz Peterson knocked in three runs with a single and his first major league homer and Ron Woods added a two-run shot for the Yanks over the Angels.

Nijinsky Wins Guineas —Now Derby Favorite

NEWMARKET, England (CP) — Canadian-bred Nijinsky, the way-out favorite owned by American millionaire Charles W. Engelhard, comfortably won the Two Thousand Guineas classic horse race as expected at Newmarket today.

Yellow God was second and Roi Soleil was third.

Lester Piggott, Britain's champion jockey, took Nijinsky to the front soon after the halfway mark in the one-mile race. He was in front by 2½ lengths at the finish.

Nijinsky, named after the late Russian ballet dancer, was the strongest favorite in the race for many years at 4 to 7. Yellow God was 100 to 6 and Roi Soleil, 2½ lengths behind Yellow God, was a 25-to-1 shot.

It is the first Canadian-bred to win this British classic.

Nijinsky has had seven races and won them all. Bookies promptly made him 7 to 2 favorite for the Derby on June 3 at Epsom. Engelhard's horse is also entered for the St. Leger and the Irish Derby.

Nijinsky was first raced in Canada and is now trained by Vincent O'Brien in Ireland.

Boxing Officials Named for Games

MONTREAL (CP) — Jerry Shears of Montreal, president of the Canadian Amateur Boxing Association, has been appointed manager of this country's boxing team to the British Commonwealth Games scheduled for Edinburge in July.

Shears said Ilio John Inus of Vancouver will coach the Canadian contingent.

BOXING RESULTS

NEW YORK—Charlie "Devil" Green, 176, New York, knocked out Ray Anderson, 173¼, New York, 1.

SEATTLE—Bonne Kirkman, 212, Renton, Wash., stopped Bill McMurray, 219, Sacramento, Calif., 3.

Sinden Prepared To Risk Injuries

BOSTON (AP) — Coach Harry Sinden says his Boston Bruins will hit hard in practice, even at the risk of injury, in order to remain sharp for the Stanley Cup final.

"The problem is physical," Sinden said of the layoff his team is having while St. Louis and Pittsburgh battle for the other berth in the final series.

"We certainly can't cruise through several days of practice. We must have some hard work and some good contact work. We certainly don't want anyone hurt at this stage of the game. But we have to take the risk to stay sharp."

The Bruins, who wound up their sweep over Chicago Black Hawks in the East Division final last sunday, will have been idle from competition at least a week before starting the Cup final.

MAY START SUNDAY

St. Louis now lead the West Division final 3-2. If the Blues win the sixth vame Thursday night, the final series will open in St. Louis Sunday.

If the Western series goes the full seven games, the final will start on Tuesday night, the site depending on who wins in the West.

St. Louis will get the home ice advantage if it is the Bruins' opponent, but Boston will have the home edge if Pittsburgh makee the finals.

Sinden said Gerry Cheevers, who sparkled in goal through the Chicago series, will open in the nets in the finals.

HAWKS SAID PLANNING . . . . . . MAJOR TRADE IN JUNE

Even Bobby Hull Deal Possible

CHICAGO (AP) — "Nothing is farfetched today," general manager Tommy Ivan of Chicago Black Hawks said Tuesday when asked about reports that superstar Bobby Hull may be traded.

"I can't make any comment now on trades," said Ivan. "Is the report about Bobby farfetched? Well, nothing is farfetched today."

Bill Gleason, sports columnist for the Chicago Sun-Times wrote Tuesday that before the National Hockey League meetings in June the Black Hawks will make a major trade and one of their super players—Bobby or Stan Mikita—may be involved.

"There are two obvious reasons why Hull is the favorite to be tapped," said Gleason. "First, there would be much more demand for Bobby than for Stanley. Second, Hall has given management more trouble than Mikita has. Among owners, the second reason always is the first reason."

Gleason said some hockey writers think Hull will go to Toronto.

"That's the natural trade," he said. "Bobby is an Ontario man and he would restore the glamor that has been missing from Maple Leaf Gardens since Frank Mahovlich was sent away.

"The hunch here is that Hull will wind up with one of the newer clubs. The league would very much like to see Vancouver or Buffalo an instant success at the turnstiles, or very much would appreciate a deal that would make the sick Oakland franchise get well."

GOVERNMENT PROBE

Japanese Baseball Rocked by Scandal

By JONATHAN KANDELL
(Newsweek Feature Service)

TOKYO — Ever since Babe Ruth turned the country on to baseball during a tour in 1934, Japan has struggled mightily to measure up to American big-league standards. But, for all their hustle and ingenuity, Japanese players generally fall short of the mark.

"Those little guys can't hit too good," remarked former Brooklyn Dodger pitcher Don Newcombe after a visit in 1950. "But they sure know how to make errors."

Indeed, it now appears that some Japanese players have been making not a few errors on purpose — and getting paid, to boot.

According to a government committee now probing alleged corruption in Japan's two six-team major leagues, "at least 30 players have been accepting bribes from gamblers to throw games." Among the 30, says the committee, are three members of the champion Yomiuri Giants (coach Motoji Fujita, outfielder Isao Shibata and third baseman Shigeo Nagashima) who are charged with consorting with the boss of bosses of the Uchikoshikai — a very large, and most dishonorable, gambling ring.

The sensational charges — made during the first two committee hearings — were in keeping with the rumor-rife, paranoid atmosphere that settled over the sport last October when Masayuki Nagayasu, a pitcher for the Nishitetsu Lions, was banished from professional baseball for rigging games. He allegedly served up easy-to-hit pitches and bribed some of his teammates to give less than their best.

Shortly after he was expelled, Nagayasu suddenly vanished. It was rumored that he had been kidnapped — or killed — by gangsters. Just as suddenly, he materialized during the early stages of the baseball investigation, explaining that he had been hiding out because he feared public reaction. "Almost all the Lion players," he is quoted as telling the police, "have relevant facts concerning fixed games."

In still another startling revelation, the committee charged that the 1966 death of one of Japan's mightiest sluggers — Shigeo Hasegawa — was caused by hoodlums rather than an auto accident as had been reported.

Some members of the committee believe the recent exposures have only scratched the surface of widespread corruption in the sport. "A vast system of baseball gambling actually began around 1955 in Osaka," claims Yakeju Suzuki, a prominent television commentator. "But in the past two years, the system has grown to the point where gambling is one of the biggest sources of income for gangsters." Indeed, the committee estimates that 200 gambling rings were handling $5,500,000 each day of the season.

The baseball officials, in a manner typical to their breed on both sides of the Pacific, are trying their best to play down the scandal, claiming the incident have been blown out of proportion. "I don't think," says Toshiyoshi Miyazwa, the 71-year-old commissioner of Japanese baseball, "that there is any possibility that there will be any other incidents. There have been a lot of extremely exaggerated statements and irresponsible statements."

According to commentator Suzuki, the only solution to the gambling problem is a major restructuring of professional baseball. "There is an atmosphere of dishonesty and cheating starting at the top," he says. "The large companies that own the clubs only use them for public relations and for tax write-offs. Most of the clubs have been in the red for 20 years.

Except for the Yomuri Giants and the Hiroshima Carps, say Hiroshi Ihara of the commissioner's office, all the teams lose money — some as much as $550,000 a year. "The team executives," says Suzuki, "are strictly second-rate people who lack imagination and ability. They are not anxious to rock the boat since they have no other means of livelihood besides baseball."

Neither do most of the players. Except for a very few superstars, most players are poorly paid (an average of about $3,000 for a 10-month, 130-game season).

Unlike their American counterparts, Japanese players receive slim pensions and few outside business opportunities. "Consequently," says Suzuki, "the older players and the more mediocre ones are ripe fruit for the gamblers."

What about the fans? Most of them, needless to say, are sadly disillusioned — and baseball officials are not expecting this season's attendance to approach last year's record 9.8 million.

But like sports fans the world over, Japanese baseball followers have short memories. The scandals will most likely be forgotten sooner than later.

The umpire will yell "Pooray boru!" ("Play ball!"). And millions of fans, who today are muttering "say it ain't so, Masayuki" will be back in the stands cheering for the home team — and the gamblers will be waiting in the wings.

Seth and Fans Trip Terriers

SPOKANE, Wash. (CP) — "We played a good game, but there is no doubt about it, Seth Martin was the difference."

Ike Hildebrand, coach of Orillia Terriers, was assessing his team's 4-0 lose to Spokane Jets Tuesday night in the second game of the Allan Cup senior hockey final. And Martin was the difference with a capital D.

The 35-year-old goaltender blocked 34 shots for his 14th victory in 15 playoff starts this year. He has allowed only 24 goals in that stretch.

"He played a whale of a game," said Hildebrand, whose club trails 2-0 in the best-of-seven series which resumes here Thursday night.

"We had better scoring opportunities in the first period but we didn't take advantage of them. Then in the second we opened up a bit and they scored."

MAKESHIFT LINE FLIES

Martin had the support of a flying makeshift line made up of two forwards picked up from other Western International Hockey League teams and a rookie who brought the Spokane team to life after a scoreless first period.

Peter Vipond, recruited from Nelson Maple Leafs, Ron Huston, star centre with Cranbrook Royals and the WIHL's leading scorer during the regular season, and rookie Brian Strimbiski each scored once for the Jets.

Ken Gustafson and Don Scherza scored the other goals for Spokane.

Vipond, 21, who played junior hockey with Oshawa Generals, finished fifth among WIHL scorers with 28 goals and 36 assists and was rookie of the year. Although he played centre with the Leafs, he was converted to right wing when he joined the Jets.

The Orillia coach said it was the first shutout his team had suffered all season on their way to the Eastern Canada senior hockey championship.

Another thing the Jets had going for them was 6,100 screaming fans, Hildebrand said.

"You get that many people on your back in a small rink and you feel like you are in a 12-by-12 room."

Hildebrand said he will not do anything different for Thursday's game—just "the same old thing, only better."

He said he hoped defenceman Mike Draper would arrive in time for the next game. Job commitments kept him in Orillia for the first two games.

Team Names Shuffled In McGinnis Softball

Extensive changes are evident in the Stuffy McGinnis Major Men's Softball League as teams prepare to open a new season Friday at Heywood Avenue Park.

Only three of last season's eight teams Sooke Hotel, Century Inn and Colwood Inn — are included among the seven teams in the loop this year.

Labatts, a combination of last year's CFB Combos and B.C. Telephone, and Bud Bell's (Hall Rams) will contain many players familiar to league fans.

Two new entries are Gilmour Construction, league and playoff champions in the Industrial League last year, and William Head Stealers.

Stealers will host 15 games at William Head Park with all other league games set for Heywood Avenue Park.

Each club faces a 30-game schedule with Gilmour tussling with Sooke in the 6:30 p.m. opener on Friday.

Toronto Owner Sees Hopes Fade

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (CP) — Walter Kitchen's hopes of having a Canadian entry in Saturday's Kentucky Derby were dashed Tuesday when Supreme Quality placed fifth in a field of 10 in the Derby Trial Stakes and pulled up with a deep cut on his right rear foot.

The Toronto businessman's colt took an early lead on the sloppy Churchill Downs Track with Alan Magerman's George Lewis pressing him from the outside.

The two raced together until near the quarter pole when jockey Bill Hartack sent George Lewis to the front as Supreme Quality appeared to tire. William C. Robinson's Admiral Shield then charged on the outside to win the one-mile trial by a length and earn a berth in Saturday's Derby.

Admiral Shield's winning time was 1:37 1-5 and he paid $42, $10.20 and $6.60. George Lewis paid $3.20 and $3 and Panicum Repens returned $7.80.

LEG TROUBLES

Supreme Quality, unbeaten in three earlier starts, was purchased at the Kentucky yearling sale in 1968 for $40,000. He was unraced as a two-year-old because of a shin ailment.

Besides Admiral Shield, George Lewis is also expected to enter Saturday's 96th running of the Derby, a 1¼-mile, $125,000 classic.

A field of 16 three-year-olds is expected to enter but the number will not be known until Thursday morning when entries are made.

SOCCER STARS SCORE IN POP

LONDON (UPI) — England's World Cup soccer team is making it big in the pop music flield

The team's single recording of a song called "Back Home" is number 7 on London "top 20" charts and record company officials said Monday sales are nearing the 100,000 mark.

Vancouver Earns Draw On Late Rush

VANCOUVER (CP) — Brian Ansley scored with less than three minutes remaining Tuesday night to give Vancouver Burrard a 13-13 tie with Coquitlam Adanacs in the second game of the Greenwood Cup lacrosse tournament.

Ansley stole the ball from defenders and rifled it home to cap a seven-goal Vancouver outburst in the final period before 450 fans.

SCORES FOUR GOALS

Doug Wallsmith scored four goals for Adanacs. Les Shoemaker had three, John Allen two and Dick Crompton, Al Watt, Paul Schreiver and Ron Pepper, one goal each.

Vancouver got two goals from Bill Rawson and Bob Trainer. Art Dickinson, Val Robertson, Dennis Quigly, Brian Davidson, Ron McDonald, Bob Salt, Brent Ojanen, Ron Sandland and Ansley added singles.

O'Billovich Rated Best of Decade

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Bob O'Billovich, one of the great athletes in Montana history, has been selected as the outstanding athlete of the decade in Montana sports.

O'Billovich, a native of Butte who starred in football, baseball and basketball, played professional football with Ottawa Rough Riders in the Canadian Football League.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION

Washington 119, Denver 143 (Denver wins best-of-seven Western Division final 4-3).

Worry Over Boycott Increasing in Britain

LONDON (CP) — Worry was growing in Britain today over a threatened mass boycott of Edinburgh's Commonwealth Games by the 13 Commonwealth countries of black Africa.

Mounting African militancy over a summer cricket tour of England by apartheid South Africa's all-white national team gave rise to the fears that this might reduce the quality of the July Games.

Abraham Ordia of Nigeria, chairman of the Supreme Council for Sports in Africa, said in a BBC television program Tuesday night that the African countries will withdraw if the controversial cricket test tour goes ahead.

Speaking from Lagos, he added that the African states will wait to see whether the tour is held before deciding on the proposed boycott.

At the moment there appears little likelihood of the tour being called off despite the fact that well-organized anti-apartheid groups are planning disruptive demonstrations at all matches and the issue has become a political hot potato in England.

Softball Clinic Set For Coaches, Umpires

B.C. Amateur Softball Association will sponsor a clinic for coaches and umpires at the Central Junior High School gymnasium from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 to 4 p.m. on Sunday. Bill Fenton of Seattle will be chief instructor with Bob Fesler and Ken Kane, also of Seattle, assisting.

Lions Sign Alberta Star

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia Lions of the Western Football Conference have announced the signings of John MacManus, the club's first-round choice in the Canadian college draft, and Butts Giraud, from Western Washington State.

MacManus, 21, 6-3 and 215 pounds, plays both tight end and defensive back and played three years with the University of Alberta.

Giraud, 23 and 255 pounds, is a lineman and was an all-conference star with Western Washington for three years.

Parker Considers Camp a 'Success'

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Lions' two-day football advancement camp which finished Monday was a complete success, says Jackie Parker, coach of the Western Football Conference club.

Some 62 players from as far away as Whitehorse, Y.T. and Winnipeg, attended the camp.

Violent U.S. Climate Stiffens Up Security

NEW YORK (AP) — Bombings, demonstrations and other public violence have contributed to a rapid growth of some of the United States' private security services in the last several years, company officials say.

"Unrest and vandalism are certainly part of it," said William Linn, vice-president for administration of Pinkerton's Inc., the country's largest security agency.

"When these things happen, violence and the like, there is a surge of interest in security," Linn said. "But there are other factors involved, such as the normal growth of business."

Linn estimated that Pinkerton's staff has grown 20 to 25 per cent over the last five years and now numbers about 27,000, more than 20,000 of whom are engaged in guard work.

In general, private guards patrol halls and lobbies, request identification of visitors, and monitor closed-circuit televison surveillance systems. They are employed by corporations and other organizations such as public housing developments. Many are former police officers.

"All you have to do is read the papers," said David Goode, a spokesman for William J. Burns International Detective Agency Inc., in explaining the 25-per-cent rise in Burns' staff of 29,000 over the last few years.

"Look at what's happening today," Goode said. "The headlines are enough to tell you. There's all kinds of civil strife and turmoil, bombings and disruptions. Isn't that enough of an indication of why businesses want protection?"

Peter O'Neil, New York state manager of Wackenhut Corp., said the firm numbered 13,000 employees, a 30-per-cent increase over the last year.

"After a bombing in New York City," O'Neil said, "the phones are ringing off the walls from clients asking for additional coverage."

Wells Newell, vice-president of the New York-based Penn Protective Services Inc., said there had been a 25- to 30-per-cent increase in the use of his agency's services over the last year.

Spokesmen for several giant New York-based corporations that have been the targets of bombings said their security precautions had been tightened in light of the recent violence in the city.

Pollution Halts Plant

PICTOU, N.S. (CP) — The new Canso chemicals plant at nearby Abercrombie point will not go into production as scheduled next month until machinery to prevent mercury pollution is installed.

E. L. L. Rowe, chairman of the Nova Scotia Resources Commission, said Monday he is to meet plant officials today to discuss a new treatment technique for ridding mercury from chlor-alcolyne plant effluent such as will be discharged by the Canso plant.

Mr. Rowe said the technique is not very expensive and will not hold up the start of the production for a long period.

The Northumberland Strait Pollution Committee Saturday asked Fisheries Minister Jack Davies to delay the plant's operation until effects of mercury in the plant's effluent had been determined.

Recipe

From Bea Wright's Kitchen
Spaghetti and Meat Balls

1 lb. beef; ½ lb. pork shoulder; 2½ cups cracker crumbs; ½ cup minced onion; ⅓ cup chopped celery tops; 2 tblsp. minced green pepper; 1 tsp. salt; 1 egg; ¼ cup milk; 2 tblsp. olive oil; 1 recipe spaghetti sauce; 1 lb. spaghetti, cooked; ½ cup grated cheese. Grind meat together twice. Combine next 7 ingredients. Shape into balls. Saute in olive oil, or other fat in skillet, until browned. Remove from oil, add sauce and simmer 30 minutes. Serve with hot spaghetti and cheese. Serves 6 to 8.

NEW COASTAL TANKER in Vancouver Island waters is the MV Imperial Skeena, recently launched at Burrard Dry Dock in Vancouver. The 300-foot vessel, costing $3.23 million, is the first tanker to be built in B.C. since 1926. Her work routes will take her from Ioco, at the head of Burrard Inlet, to Prince Rupert, the west coast of Vancouver Island, the lower gulf, Queen Charlotte Islands and Alaska.

Crash Kills Elderly Couple At Mill Bay Ferry Cut-Off

MILL BAY—An elderly man and woman died instantly Tuesday when their car was in collision with a loaded lumber truck that upset after carrying the car about 150 yards along the Trans-Canada Highway.

Killed were John Maxey, 86, and his wife Eva, 84, of Maxey Road in Nanaimo.

The accident happened when the Maxey car entered the highway at the Mill Bay ferry road about five miles south of here, RCMP said.

A tractor trailer truck, owned by Ideal Fuel and Transport Ltd., and driven by George Braidwood of 3078 Carroll St., Victoria, scattered lumber and gasoline over a wide surface.

Traffic was rerouted along the Old Island Highway to Mill Bay for 2 hours while highway department crews cleaned up.

Braidwood was not seriously injured. He suffered face cuts and was released after being treated at Cowichan District Hospital in Duncan.

Police were on the scene shortly after the crash about 3 p.m. A towtruck had to be used to raise the truck.

Police said the elderly couple died instantly when their car was demolished in the impact. Both door were knocked off and the front end of the car crushed.

Mr. and Mrs. Maxey were born in Scotland and first came to Canada in 1912. They moved back to Scotland during the First World War and then moved to Nanaimo in 1919 to set up a farm on the old Dunsmuir estate in the East Wellington area.

Maxey Road, where they had lived all their lives since, was named after them. The couple, who celebrated their 59th wedding anniversary on April 17, have one son who lives in Peachland., B.C.

Treed Bear Killed By Game Officer

COBBLE HILL — A game officer shot and killed a treed bear Tuesday after deciding it had crawled too high for the effective and safe use of a tranquillizer.

The bear, which had been seen in the area for several days, was finally treed on the property of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Evans of Filgate Road who phoned the RCMP.

Police called the game officer who at first hoped to tranquilize the bear and either have it taken to a zoo or returned to woods farther away. It was decided the bear was too high up the tree.

JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES PLAN BIG CONVENTION

More than 1,000 delegates representing 13 congregations on southern Vancouver Island will attend a Jehovah's Witness convention at the S. J. Willis Junior Secondary School on May 8, 9 and 10.

William Veenstra, district supervisor for Jehovah's Witnesses in B.C., said the three-day meeting will provide an intensive training program to supplement training given in local congregations.

World Ski Champion To Visit Duncan

DUNCAN — Nancy Greene Raine, the former Olympic and World Cup ski champion, will visit Mt. Prevost School at 1:30 p.m. on May 4, an official of B.C. Telephone Company said today.

Mrs. Raine will meet and talk with students about the efforts and sacrifice required to become a champion and the satisfaction gained from such an achievement.

She retired after competitive skiing two years after twice winning the World Cup and bringing an Olympic gold medal home to Canada.

The young mother is making the visit as a special representative of B.C. Tel. Her visit here is the first in a schedule which will include Nanaimo, Courtenay and Campbell River on Vancouver Island.

Rakosi Returning

VIENNA (Reuters) — Matyas Rakosi, former Hungarian Communist party chief whose tough government led to the 1956 uprising, will be allowed to return home after 14 years of exile in the Soviet Union, the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reports. Rakosi, now 78 and ailing, must refrain from political activity, the agency said.

Sea Cadets To Visit Esquimalt

Royal Canadian Sea Cadets from eight Vancouver Island corps will spend the weekend at Canadian Forces Base, Esquimalt to mark Navy League Week.

Among them will be members of the local Ranbow corps, whose band won the trophy for best cadet trumpet band in British Columbia Saturday.

The annual competition was played off at the Seaforth Armory in Vancouver, with army, sea and air cadets participating.

The band's officer is Lieut. T. A. Dando. On behalf of the band, PO Al Buff presented the trophy to the corps when it paraded Tuesday at Navy League headquarters on Robert Street.

On arrival at CFB, Esquimalt, on Friday Rear-Admiral H. A. Porter, maritime commander Pacific, will inspect the 270 cadets and 25 officers.

The local Patricia Dufour Navy League Wrenette Corps and Admiral Rayner Navy League Cadet Corps will also attend the service and the Navy League cadets will join in the marchpast.

As their part in celebrating Navy League week, both corps will hold open house at their Robert Street headquarters. The cadets will welcome relatives and friends tonight from 7 to 9 p.m. and the wrenettes, Thursday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Peter Pan City Never Grows Up

By HENRY HOGG
CP Correspondent

RIO DE JANEIRO (CP)—Brasilia, Brazil's third capital, has just celebrated its 10th anniversary but somehow, like Peter Pan, it never seems to grow up.

In spite of its immaturity, Brasilia has seen some tragedy and little joy.

In 10 years, Brasilia has been the home of seven Brazilian presidents—Juscelino Kubitschek, Janio Quadros, Ranieri Mazzili, Joao Goulart, Castello Branco, Costa e Silva and Gen. Garrastazu Medici. Two of these met tragic deaths: Castello Branco was killed in a plane crash and Costa Silva suffered a stroke and died a few months later. Three—Kubitschek, Quadros and Goulart—have had their political rights forfeited for 10 years. Goulart is in exile in Uruguay.

It was not unexpected that in the 10th anniversary speeches of celebration the name of former president Juscelino Kubitschek was never mentioned, yet it was Kubitschek who was the one man responsible for the planning and building of Brasilia. The present military regime in Brazil tends to associate the name of Kubitschek with political pollution rather than with progress.

UNWILLING TO MOVE

If Brasilia is still stunted as a capital city, the Brazilian himself—extremely adept at appreciating the better things of life and nature—is to blame. The drabness of Brasilia has been no great attraction for him to leave the sparkle of Rio, and there has been a great deal of foot-dragging on the part of the government in getting installed in Brasilia.

The ministry of foreign relations finally left Rio only three weeks ago. Diplomatic missions seem even more loath to leave Rio for Brasilia and for the most part keep only one representative there. Canada has not even started building an embassy in Brasilia.

The deadline set by the Brazilian foreign ministry for foreign diplomats to move to Brasilia is Sept. 7, 1972—otherwise their diplomatic privileges will be withdrawn.

Brasilia, with 10 years of growth, is considered a highly civilized capital—so civilized that it has the highest automobile accident rate in the country. Today its population is 440,000.

GROWTH AMAZING

If the present army-guided regime is not popular with the Brazilian people, it is, at least, respected and whatever personal liberties have been curtailed, the nation's economy is more than sound.

A report published by the United States commerce department features Brazil's economic growth, describing the results of the last year as "amazing," with one of the world's highest growth rates. The report estimates the growth rate at nine per cent and the value of the gross national product at $2,300,000,000 (U.S.).

Canada is well "in" on the Brazilian boom and Ambassador Christian Hardy has found his fluent Portuguese to be of the greatest use in cementing Canadian-Brazilian trade relations.

Projects are already well under way for Canada to supply the Brazilian air force with 24 Buffalo aircraft. New power plants for Belem at the mouth of the Amazon are to be financed by Canada and negotiations are under way over construction of a supersonic airport.

Troublemaker Should Be Told To Leave School at 14—Teacher

By JEAN SHARP

TORONTO (CP) — Perhaps chronic troublemakers should be allowed to leave school when they are 14.

Teachers say some solution will have to be found for dealing with them. They contend that in the climate of increasing freedom in schools, such students are expensive. They cost the time of other students, the money that time costs taxpayers, they are responsible for theft and destruction and sometimes for moral and physical damage to other people.

Teachers say allowing them to leave is not the irrevocable act it once was. They may be able to go back to school later. Some have, and are considered interesting people to have in a classroom.

Two teachers and an administrator in the Metropolitan Toronto school system talked in anonymous interviews about what it is like to be a teacher now.

They agreed that in a comparatively permissive social and school atmosphere, the disruptive student looms larger than he did in a strict, authoritaian school setting.

ENJOY NEW FREEDOM

The teachers say they enjoy the new freedom and the students, but with less authority invested in the teacher and school staff, they feel some way must be found to deal with the problem children.

"The normal kids are fine. I like the kids. They object as strongly as we do to the small group of self-declared outlaws. Letting this run loose allows a small minority to make the whole system run scared.

"It poses a threat, a reaction to a newer, freer system of education. We don't want to go back to strapping the kids.

"The time to talk about it is when you can do something modest. You don't wait until someone has been killed in an accident before you put up a red light.

"Parents don't realize what they are doing when they leap to the defence of some of them."

The administrator says the problem is real, but he does not think an earlier leaving age is a solution.

"We must develop approaches, strategies that will get kids. We must find out what it is they're having trouble with. Is it the bells, the boredom, their families?

GET NO BACKING

"We must find some way in which the child can continue to learn. Maybe he's removed from classes or the school structure, but he's still engaged with a counsellor, still learning."

The teachers' professional association has been discussing the problem with the intention of talking it over with school administrators and with the hope of making the public aware of how severe it is.

They say they feel they get little backing from school boards or administrators if they want to remove a student and a parent howls that his child's right to an education is being threatened. They say they get no backing from most parents of problem students because these are usually problem parents.

Without a return to heavy-handed authoritarianism, they say they would like a clearly defined policy.

'For instance, the standard of dress became silly when fashion changed. We made fools of ourselves if we tried to enforce it. A kid figures if he got away with that one, maybe he should try something else.

SINK OR SWIM

They feel there must be some revision in the "half-secret percentage of passes necessary."

"The student has a certain amount of freedom now, and the teacher has no authority to make him keep up in his work.

"Surely with this goes the right also to sink or swim. Don't force teachers to pass 85 per cent of the students. The kids know we must, and it's a joke. Most teachers have the experience of a kid saying, 'Aw, you can't fail me anyway.'

"In our society everybody's conscious of freedoms, but surely the value of gaining privileges on the basis of demonstrated ability has been proven.

"Freedoms should have some relation to the people to whom they are given."

Ring Smashed

NEW YORK (AP) — A $2,000,000-a-year pickpocket operation made up of 80 men and women who were trained at pickpocket schools in Santiago, Chile, has been broken up here, police report.

Soaring Meat Prices Keep Cattlemen Happy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Regardless of how much torment he may incur over rising meat prices, it seems clear the American cattleman is gambling that 1970 will be one of his finest years.

There are several reasons for this assessment as spring returns to the ranges, huge feedlots and farmyards.

First, and most obvious, the market price situation. Choice steers in Chicago during March averaged near $32 per hundredweight, the most since the 17-year peak of last June.

The March average, computed by agriculture department economists, also showed a clear boost above what has become sort of a magic dividing line between profit and loss.

This line, said a livestock economist, varies according to what producers must pay to turn out fat cattle for the consumer market and what they must receive to break even.

Considering feed costs, prices for feeder stock and all the other overhead factors, said the official, cattle producers—the ones who sell finished animals to meat packers—need at least $30 per hundredweight to break even.

Last June choice-grade steers averaged $34.22 on the Chicago market. It was no secret in the Corn Belt and other big feeding areas of the Southwest that producers were making money at this price.

But the market began to slip and after August did not rise above a $30 monthly average at Chicago until February when they went to $30.26 for the month.

The big question: Will cattle prices rise again to last year's peaks?

UNDECIDED ON RISE

"Personally, I don't think they will, on an average basis," said a highly-respected agriculture department economist. "But I do think we're going to see a lot of $30 or higher fed cattle from now on."

Fewer so-called non-fed beef cattle are being slaughtered all the time. Much of the cheaper meat used to come from these animals, but more are being fed in confinement each year.

The demand for more grain-fattened beef has pushed up the market for feeder-type animals, particularly for the lightweight calves weighing 300 to 550 pounds.

The crop reporting board's farm price report for March showed calves priced at an average of $36.50 per hundredweight, compared with $35.10 in February and $30.70 a year earlier.

It was a 60-year record for the board's calf price report and indicated, the economist said, some of the willingness of producers apparently have in gambling that they can graze or feed a high-priced animal and make money in the long run.

Actually, he said, some prices for lightweight calves have pushed to $41 per hundredweight or more in some areas this spring.

Take Off Fat With Home Recipe Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drugstore and ask for Naran. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoonsful twice a day as needed and follow the Naran Reducing Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 29, 1970 —PAGE 27

'Condition of School is Shocking'

—Mayor Haddock

Victoria Mayor Courtney Haddock said today he was shocked by the condition of the oldest of four buildings making up Victoria West Elementary.

Haddock toured the school with principal Andy McMorland.

"I'm going to give them all the help I can. I don't think the government realizes what it's like here," the mayor said.

"If I have to I'll ask the whole city council to come here and see this.

"After all, this is Victoria and these are Victorians. I think Vic West has always been neglected."

Haddock said the amount needed to complete phase two of additions to Vic West is not very much. Phase two includes four classrooms, kindergarten, administrative area, gymnasium and changing rooms, at a cost of $332,500.

The mayor was accompanied by Greater Victoria school board Chairman Carron Jameson, Trustee Allan McKinnon and Mrs. Marjorie Moeskau.

He expressed amazement that fuel for the school's furnaces has to be cut up by a janitor. Stepping outside to inspect the school woodpile, he was told the wood is stacked on a public thoroughfare called William St.

He also went upstairs in the 62-year-old building to see the gym which was closed last year. He was told that when children used to play in the gym, plaster fell from ceilings below and lights swung on their chains.

Two newer buildings provided a marked contrast to the old brick school. The mayor visited the open area, library and several classrooms.

Taxes Swing With Vote ...Yes Is Less, No Is More

By JIM HUME

Victoria property owners go to the polls Thursday to vote themselves an increase or decrease in taxes.

Voting on the five-year $6.3 million capital budget starts at 8 a.m. and ends at 8 p.m. A 60 per cent majority of those casting ballots is required by provincial statute before the five year program can be adopted.

REDUCED MILL RATE

Given the required majority city treasurer James Bramley has informed Mayor Courtney Haddock that the mill rate for general purposes can be reduced to 37.5 mills from 39.3 mills.

TAX BOOST

That in turn would mean a positive minimum increase in the mill rate of 2½ mills and a subsequent hefty tax boost.

While offering minor relief for the homeowner if the capital budget is approved, the Thursday vote will also result in a one per cent cut in the business tax rate.

SLIGHT RELIEF

City officials agreed this morning that reduction of the tax rate would only bring slight relief to business because increased assessments this year had pushed up general payments.

But they added that even with the reduction, revenue from the business tax would increase by $75,000 over last year.

If left at last year's rate, the business tax would generate an extra $170,000 in revenue. A reduction in the rate would save the business community $95,000.

BRAMLEY

In a copy of the treasurer's report to city manager Dennis Young, released to the press this morning, it is stated that the decrease versus increase in taxes may "sound like a threat."

"The general (mill) rate for 1970 has been established on the assumption that the capital budget referendum will be approved," the report states.

"It is important to point out to the ratepayers that if the referendum is not approved, that the possibility exists that some $300,000 to $400,000 of projects or more will have to be transferred back to the 1970 operating budget.

"It is difficult to make this statement and not make it sound like a threat, but, regrettably, it is a fact of municipal life.

"Certain things just have to be done and if funds cannot be found from one source, they have to be found from another.

GROSSLY UNFAIR

"It would be grossly unfair if this was not pointed out to those voters who are going to be making their decisions based on what it is going to cost them over the next two or three years."

Bramley added this morning that there is little doubt in his mind that failure of the budget vote would, in addition to tax increases, result in staff reductions in certain departments.

Vic West Elementary Has Split Personality

By BOB MITCHELL

But it's housed in four separate buildings, and that's part of the problem.

The original brick school was built in 1908 and the south annex was added in 1915. They are old buildings by local standards, old enough to have been attended by grandparents of the children who go there now.

OPEN AREA

The fourth and last building to go up actually houses about half the school population. It's the combined open area and library, phase one of several additions approved by ratepayers in 1967.

Vic West elementary is number one priority on the Greater Victoria school board's project list.

That means the brick building will be first in line of all old schools in the district to be torn down.

But that can't happen until the provincial treasury board gives the school board permission to build the second phase of planned additions.

Nobody knows when that will happen.

NEW LINOLEUM

He pointed out the only changes made at the 62-year-old school have been addition of linoleum on the floors and shelves in classrooms.

Each classroom has only one electrical outlet, which means operation of things like projectors and record players depends on extension cords.

The only indoor play area is a basement room about 60 feet by 50. Pointing to the light bulbs in the low ceiling, McMorland said they are inevitably broken during games involving balls.

FIRE HAZARD

The heating system is considered a fire hazard. The building is heated by three wood and coal furnaces. About a month ago part of one furnace actually collapsed.

While there was no fire, the furnace room filled with smoke. The building is considered tinder-dry, and it would only take a few minutes for flames to spread from the basement to the main floor.

Two years ago the school had over 380 pupils on three floors. But last fall when the new open area-library opened the top floor in the old building was closed by the fire marshal.

"One year it's not a fire trap, the next year it is," said the principal.

GERMS MULTIPLY

During the cold snap in January, 1969, outside doors had to be kept open to allow fresh air to circulate. Otherwise teachers and pupils were susceptible to germs which seemed to multiply in the stale air.

Communication is a problem. Administrative office and staff room are located in the old building, but during bad weather teachers tend to stay in the buildings where their classes are — except when they go to the washrooms.

CONTACT LOST

Result is staff members tend to lose contact with each other, said McMorland.

"Although the people know in general what's going on, on the other hand they don't because they're not moving around."

The 55-year-old south annex will not be torn down. It is destined to become a kindergarten area, but until completion of the gymnasium it will be used as an indoor play area.

"We need someplace to play floor hockey," said McMorland.

A new gym would fill more than a physical education needs of the school, he said.

Builder Faces Saanich Whip

Saanich municipal planning committee recommended strong action Tuesday night against a Victoria builder whose change in townhouse plans was labelled a "misrepresentation" at last month's meeting.

The committee will recommend to this Monday's council meeting that property at 1741 McKenzie Avenue, slated for a townhouse apartment project, be returned to single-family house zoning.

Committee chairman Ald. Alan Newberry said a building permit for the townhouse had been withheld because certain technical requirements had not been met.

He pointed out that Saanich does not have authority to control design. The planning department had met with R. Gilmour Construction Ltd. "and he apparently apparently refused to budge.

Newberry said the action will show that "those who make a sham of the process will be dealt with. It would presumably happen in other circumstances where there is a significant change in design over what was represented to council.

At the committee's meeting last month, municipal planner Tom Loney called the townhouse development a "misrepresentation, in that a high quality of design is promised but not produced."

Man Admits Theft From Little League

Pleading guilty to stealing money from the Victoria section of the National Little League, Charles Buchanan, 41, no fixed address, was remanded in provincial court today until May 8 for a pre-sentence report.

Magistrate William Ostler refused to release Buchanan on bail pending preparation of the report.

The charge involved theft of $1,138.

Det. Lyle Somers told the court the accused who served as treasurer for the league, converted to his own use sums of money turned over to the baseball organization.

The offence was committed between April 8 and Aug. 30, 1968.

INQUEST SET IN DEATH AFTER FIGHT

An inquest into the death of a 49-year-old Victoria man will open Thursday, more than a month after he was injured in what police term a brawl in Rithet Street in James Bay.

Norman Francis Copping, of 56 Gorge Road East, died April 23 in Royal Jubilee Hospital with the injuries he received in the altercation at an unstated Rithet Street address March 18.

Police said they are still investigating the incident and declined comment on possible charges.

The inquest will be held at McCall Brothers' chapel at 1400 Vancouver.

Laymen Volunteers to Aid City Probation Officers

Volunteer laymen soon will be doing probation work in Victoria on an experimental basis, provincial probation officer Bill Foster said Tuesday.

Addressing a Kiwanis Club luncheon at the Empress Hotel, Foster said his project reflects a move to return volunteers into the work of the courts.

"Institutions and increased professional staff are not a panacea to increasing social problems. The courts must bring people of the community back into its services."

ALTERNATIVE

Foster said probation work developed as an alternative to jailing. As probation officers became professionals, the incidence of laymen among them decreased.

"But this is changing. For the last 10 years volunteers have been coming back," he said.

Foster's project will begin with three volunteers working with adult offenders. Each volunteer will devote at least one hour a week with one probationer for a minimum of six months.

"This is a pilot project the success of which is far from guaranteed," he said.

ADULT WORK

Foster works with adult probationers in Victoria and juveniles in Sooke, handling a total caseload of over 50 people. He said there are four probation officers in Victoria working with adults and 13 who handle juvenile cases.

Each has a caseload of between 50 and 60.

Foster said the first experiment with volunteer probation workers took place in Royal Oak, Michigan, in 1960. In the mid-sixties Denver, Colorado, became the first North American city to use volunteers on a large scale.

Beginning with 30 laymen in 1966, there are now 500 volunteers working mostly with juveniles in Denver, he said.

Foster said there are several advantages to using volunteers.

A volunteer handles only one case at a time. Juveniles do not tend to see the volunteer as an extension of the court. Volunteers tend to give common sense advice and concentrate on a probationer's strengths.

Foster said Denver's experience has shown laborers and skilled craftsmen to be effective in dealing with probationers.

"Volunteers enhance the professional probation officer but stimulating work in the field, by eliciting greater guidance and by generating new ideas," he said.

The provincial probation service has created five regions throughout B.C. which are now developing their own pilot projects.

"Each district is experimenting in its own way," Foster said.

DEVELOP FURTHER

If his project succeeds, Foster said he hopes to "develop supplemental services such as bank managers giving financial advice to probationers."

He said the difference between his project and the work of the John Howard Society is that the society concerns itself with persons on parole.

FOSTER
. . . pilot project

"We deal with people on probation."

After his speech Foster said he believes probation officers will become administrators once laymen assume greater responsibilities in probation work.

He said it is necessary to eliminate the isolation of the community from the poor, the needy, mentally ill and delinquent.

Arthur Mayse...

BACK WHEN APRIL WAS still a pup, my son Ron breezed in one afternoon to remind me of a springtime transaction that had slipped my mind completely.

"We ought to get busy on our income tax returns," he said. "Why don't we settle down at the kitchen table some evening and go to work on them?"

"Good idea," I agreed, without much enthusiasm. There are some tasks that I warm up to slowly. The annual rendering unto Caesar in Ottawa is one of them. "Maybe next week, eh? That'll give me time to get my papers in order."

At intervals during the next two weeks, we reminded each other that the month was getting along. But a mutually suitable evening didn't present itself until last weekend, when Win issued a reminder of her own.

The April 30 deadline was coming up fast, and if we didn't quit stalling, we'd miss it. Here was the kitchen table, ready and waiting, so why not get busy on our returns?

"She's right," Ron said. "Anyway, the sooner we mail them in, the quicker we'll get our refunds."

Maybe he would get a refund. But unless I could come up with something pretty telling in the way of deductions, I was likely to wind up owing the receiver-general of Canada the price of four new tires at the very least.

The thought produced a mood proper to the occasion. Not precisely larcenous, but not despairful, either. Perhaps on close scrutiny, the form would reveal some loophole that wasn't there last year.

Ron, whistling, set up shop at one end of the table. I moved in at the other end with scratch paper, ballpoint, T-4 slips and personalized salute from a government that spends the loot as fast or even faster than the taxpayer can supply it.

There was comfort of a sort in knowing that all over Canada, men and women were similarly occupied. I passed this thought on to Ron, who was already scratching away busily.

"Hey," he said, "this is nice. My refund is going to be bigger than I expected."

It seemed no time at all since he and his sister figured in my return as dependents good for a total of $1,100 in exemptions. I hunted around for other exemptions that I might have missed, but the results were discouraging. The list of deductions didn't seem to have expanded, either.

"You know," I said, "they should make some allowance for family pets. When you figure out dog food and vet's fees and licence, it adds up."

"Well, my table partner said cheerfully, "you could always put the dog and cat in as dependents. But they'd catch you for sure." He began transferring figures from working copy to send-away sheet. "Hadn't you better get busy?" he asked. "I'm almost through."

Prodded, I began to fill in spaces. I was on the home stretch when Win joined us.

"Don't frown over it so." she told me. "It can't be that bad."

As a matter of fact, my score was working out better than I'd expected it would.

Win pulled out a chair. She said, "I hope you're being careful. Rember the year you made the big mistake?"

That was the time I subtracted where I should have added. The income tax people were nice about it, and one of the inspectors went to great pains to show me just where my laborious arithmetic had jumped the tracks.

I'll bet the receiver-general, who collected arrears plus interest, still chuckles and rubs his hands together when he recalls that episode.

"No mistakes this time," I said, feeling better by the minute as I began to figure out tax payable.

Although I still wouldn't have a refund coming, that four-tire estimate of tax owing had been much too pessimistic.

"Would you like to check it through?" I asked. "Not that you'll find anything out of order."

Win studied the form. Ron, still happy in the knowledge of refund owed him, come around to help her.

Ron poked a finger. "I hate to tell you," he said to me, "but you've done, it again. You subtracted provincial tax from federal instead of adding them."

We can't all be mathematicians, and my error was soon put right. But I trust the receiver-general of Canada will appreciate the fact that it cost me four tires and a spare to correct it!

Annual Seal Hunt Ends Quietly In Sharp Contrast to Start

HALIFAX (CP)—Most of the men and ships have quit the annual seal hunt on the moving ice floes at The Front, off the northeast coast of Newfoundland with only a couple of vessels still to return. The hunt officially ends today.

The end has been quiet compared with cries of "foul" from hunt opponents that marked the March 20 opening. Prospects for a good yield are uncertain.

Eleven of the 13 Canadian ships, which began operations in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and later moved to The Front icefields, have since returned to their bases.

Poor weather, wind-shifted ice packs and light ice conditions hampered operations at the gulf hunt and the men made only sporadic forays. The quota of 50,000 seals in the gulf was expected to have been reached within five days but took seven when herds eluded the hunters' clubs and guns.

Federal fisheries department spokesmen reported "quite a herd in the gulf" on opening day but noted that contrary wind and tide conditions were loosening the packs and causing them to drift apart.

The drifting added uncertainty to an already dangerous occupation in which men, armed with short clubs and rifles, must operate on foot over slippery, rolling ice.

VOICE DISAPPROVAL

Anti-hunt proponents, led by the International Fund for Animal Welfare Inc., again voiced loud disapproval.

The Canadian government, it was charged, was using "tactics designed to avoid embarrassment" by cutting independent observers off from the main hunt.

Referring to a government order-in-council prohibiting aircraft landings near the hunt, the fund's executive-director, Brian Davies of Fredericton, criticized the move as another example of the government's "arrogant and near-facist methods."

T. I. Hughes, general manager of the Ontario Humane Society and an official observer for the young seal hunt in March, said the hunt was "one of the most humane slaughtering operations, I have ever witnessed."

Its regulations were enforced "more stringently than in any other slaughtering operation that I know of."

Was there any observed cruelty?

"Not to my knowledge," said a fisheries department spokesman, and there were no reports that any hunt regulations were broken. At the peak hunting period in the gulf, 21 fisheries protection officers were on observation duty, but the number was cut to 15 as the hunt continued.

ESTIMATE KILL

The number of seals taken during the 41-day hunt will not be tabulated for "a few weeks," said a fisheries department spokesman, but at least one vessel owner reports a slight increase in the catch this year.

A spokesman for Crosbie and Co. of St. John's, Nfld., said their vessel reaped 3,000 seals in the brief gulf hunt but was hampered by heavy ice and generally bad weather.

The number of foreign vessels to join the international hunt off Labrador, where there is no quota of how many seals may be killed, was not know but a fisheries department spokesman said "perhaps" 14 or more were involved at the peak of hunt activity. Most of them were Norwegian.

Observations by fisheries officers and scientists showed seal populations moving through the Gulf of St. Lawrence were high and the number of young seals to escape hunters "should provide a healthy herd this year and in the future."

Defence Budget Matches Aid

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN

RAWALPINDI (AP) — Pakistan plans to spend as much on its military strength during the next five years as it hopes to receive in foreign aid. An outline of its new five-year plan scheduled to start in July shows Pakistan plans to spend 15,000,000,000 rupees, equivalent to $1,500,000,000 at the open market rate, on defence through 1975.

This represents a 21-per-cent increase over the amount spent in the third plan from 1965, when Pakistan and India fought a 17-day war. The third plan expenditure, in turn, was a 125-per-cent increase over the amount spent on defence in 1960-65.

"Gross flow of foreign assistance to the public sector is expected to be of the order of 15,000,000,000 rupees," says the plan guideline. The Pakistanis aim to spend 45,000,000,000 rupees in public money and 30,000,000,000 in private funds on development through 1975.

The plan is Pakistan's most ambitious. In the 1965-70 plan, the previous largest, 25,000,000,000 rupees were spent publicly, and 21,500,000,000 in private investment.

The official rate of exchange of the rupee is 4.76 to the dollar. Open market rate outside Pakistan is about 10 to the dollar; within Pakistan, the government gives a bonus of 30 to 40 per cent of the official rate to exporters of specific items sold for hard currency.

Increased taxation of $500,000,000 is expected through 1975. The planning commission recommends even more taxation, noting that under its own revenue projections the country will collect 8.9 per cent of its gross national product in taxes by 1975, compared with 9.2 per cent in 1970.

Lenin's Communism Undergoes Change

HONG KONG (WP) — If Lenin returned to life this month for the centenary of his birth, the spectacle of present-day communism would probably shock him to death.

For the secular faith he sought to propogate throughout the world has fragmented in to an assortment of divergent and often rival sects, leaving the concept of international proletarian solidarity as obsolete as, say, the cream of global democreacy.

Despite the wishful thinking of cold warriors, the idea of communist internationalism was not thwarted by weapons or propaganda or security pacts, but by centrifugal forces that have been operating ever since Lennin's time.

The particular political, economic and social conditions prevailing in different counties, for example, inevitably doomed the bold appeal of the Communist Manifesto for workers of the world to unite.

Moreover, these local conditions contributed to nationalistic variations that further subverted the ideal of world-wide communist cohesion.

So, were Lenin to step out of his glass coffin for a quick look at his legacy, he would observe a jumbled array of self-styled revolutionary movements that barely share even common rhetoric.

He would see the Soviet Union, beset by domestic economic troubles and recurrent power struggles, striving to influence the so-called "fraternal" parties by the threat or actual use of military muscle.

In eastern Europe, where the Red Army imposed Marxism, Lenin would also perceive the communist states cautiously seeking accommodations with their capitalist foes to escape the rigors of Kremlin domination.

He might note, too, that communist leaders in Asia, Africa and Latin America have evolved indigenous styles that bear scant resemblance to the doctrines of "liberation" set down at Comintern gatherings a half-century ago.

In China, the most populous communist nation, he would be startled by the fact that he has been displaced by Mao Tse-Tung, the supergenius whose destruction of the Chinese communist party was a monumental betrayal of Leninist dogma.

And turning to the west, Lenin would be compelled to acknowledge that conventional communism has lost out to an amorphous kind of free-flow anarchy that he himself once described as infantile.

In a brilliant essay published a few years ago, Richard Lowenthal traced the disintegration of world communism through four stages, demonstrating that the hollow echo of the proletarian international reverberated long after the movement had faded away.

The first stage, Lenin's effort to create a world party under Soviet auspices, failed largely because the Bolshevik model lacked relevance for industrial nations like Germany or for colonial areas such as India and Indonesia.

In the second and longest stage, Stalin simply subordinated foreign communist parties to Russian policy. Yet this strategy, while it served the Kremlin for a generation, was bound to backfire eventually.

Both the Yugoslavs and the Chinese, whose victories were achieved without Soviet help and against Stalin's orders, went on to assert their independence from Moscow. In the process, they initially cracked the communist monolith.

The third stage, according to Lowenthal, was Khrushchev's attempt to arrest the growing polycentrism by proposing an alliance of equally autonomous parties responsive to Soviet ideological authority. By then, however, the monolith was broken beyond repair.

Since Khrushchev's ouster in 1964, his successors have resorted to desperate measures such as the invasion of Czechoslovakia and the threat of war against China in hopes of putting the communist Humpty-Dumpty back together again.

The "Brezhnev doctrine," concocted to justify the Czechoslovakia intervention, was the Kremlin party chief's way of stating that he did not intend to preside over the dissolution of the Soviet empire. But, like the celebrated Churchill declaration, it came too late.

What survives of Leninism, then, may be little more than a collection of incantations to be recited by communists to prove their othodoxy. The only thing as absurd as this ritual is the lingering belief in smoky anti-communist quarters that Lenin is still alive.

TWO BOYS TRAPPED IN RAIL TANK CAR

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (CP) — Two eight-year-old boys who spent five days trapped in a railway chemical car were recovering Tuesday in hospital and awaiting return to their Baltimore, Md., homes.

Lee Harris and Bobby Adkins were found inside the car on a siding at nearby Solvay Process Co. by an employee who heard them banging on the side of the car.

They had been inside the bulk chemical hopper since last Wednesday when it was in Baltimore. From there, without food or water, the pair travelled some 300 miles before being rescued.

"I'm thirsty, I'm hungry, I'm cold," cried one of the boys as Leo Todesehini peered through a hatch to the car. Police and relatives feared they had drowned.

Bobby said a boy who took his and his friend's coats "told us he threw them into the railroad car." The two youngsters became trapped as they sought to retrieve the coats.

Committee Blocks Water Act Extension

OTTAWA (CP) — Liberal members of the Commons resources committee killed an amendment to the proposed Canada water act Tuesday that would have set up categorized pollution standards for water bodies across Canada.

Last year the committee submitted a unanimous report to Parliament calling for national water pollution standards.

Thursday, however, seven Liberal members outvoted four opposition members to defeat an amendment that would have set up such standards, which would vary depending on the use of the water body.

The proposed amendment, put forward by Gordon Aiken (PC—Parry Sound-Muskoka), would also have made it illegal to violate such pollution standards in any Canadian waters, instead of restricting violations to water bodies regulated by the bill's proposed water quality management agencies.

STANDARDS

Aiken acknowledged that the same standards could not be enforced "for Hamilton harbor and Lake Louise."

He advocated instead that standards be set up for different classes of water by the federal resources minister to determine whether various local water management schemes were adequate.

Ran Harding (NDP—Kootenay West) said if national standards were not set up Canada would have a "pollution war" in which water basins would compete against each other to set low standards in order to attract industry.

Under thegovernment bill the water quality management agencies would set their own standards.

Opposed, without comment, were Liberals Jack Cullen (Sarnia), Len Marchand (Kamloops—Cariboo), K. R. Hymmen (Kitchener), Maurice Foster (Algoma), Keith Penner (Thunder Bay), and Bud Orange (Northwest Territories), parliamentary secretary to Resources Minister J. J. Greene.

Biafrans Released

ENUGU (Reuters) — Nigerian federal military authorities have released 1,250 secessionist troops taken prisoners during the civil war, informed sources said Tuesday.

HIS WORSHIP DEMOTED FOR TARDINESS

BOSTON (UPI) — Monday was student government day in Boston. A Charlestown boy lost his chance to be mayor when he was late to work.

When Francis Dyer of Charlestown High did not show up on time at city hall, he was demoted to deputy mayor and his place taken by Nathanial Borum of Roxbury.

New Shoreline Band Makes First Tour

The fledgling Shoreline Junior Secondary School band takes its first timid steps into the wilds of the B.C. interior next month with two concerts in the Okanagan.

52 members of the two-year-old band will board a bus Wednesday morning, May 6 for Winfield and Vernon, and along the way, they will make brief stops in Hope, Manning Park, Princeton and Keremeos. On the return trip, they will stop in Kamloops and Cache Creek.

The band, formed when the school came into existance in 1968, is under the direction of John Boel and is managed by Stephanie Sam.

Band members have been raising money for new uniforms through bottle drives, car washes and noon hour sales, but unfortunately, the company from whom the new uniforms were ordered is having labor troubles, and the band will have to use a makeshift uniform for the trip.

The Shoreline band returns from its Okanagan trip on May 10 and will be joined later in the month by the Vernon band for both the Belmont Park and Victoria Day Parades.

BEGLEY
... Oscar-winner

Veteran Actor Begley Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ed Begley, 69, a character actor who won an Oscar in 1963 for his portrayal of a sadistic political boss in Sweet Bird of Youth, died of an apparent heart attack Tuesday night during a party.

Begley, Hartford, Conn., native, was equally at home on stage, television and in movies.

Among his notable films were Twelve Angry Men, The Unsinkable Molly Brown, It Happens Every Spring and Sorry, Wrong Number.

A fifth-grade dropout, he was a self-taught actor.

Radio was his first big stepping stone. During the 1930s, he appeared on more than 12,000 programs. He was detective, doctor, gangster—anything the program required. He was radio's original Charlie Chan.

Begley came to Hollywood in 1947 and within four years had acted in 21 pictures.

Arsonist Developing as a Poet

LONDON (CP) — Timothy Daly, now serving a four-year prison sentence for causing a 1968 fire at the Imperial War Museum, has developed into a poet considered to be "greatly talented" by a fellow-member of the left wing in Britain.

The fire did $507,000 damage at the museum, leaving the institution's spacious reading room a wreck and much of its collection of books and other documents on the two world wars a charred or water-sodden shambles.

Daly, then 20, climbed a scaffold outside the museum in October, 1968, and planted two Molotov cocktails in the building.

"I am not ashamed of what I have done," the young pacifist said later, "for it was an act of conscience."

His poems, with an introduction by left-wing writer Adrian Mitchell, have been published by a periodical called Anarchy.

Dealing with women, prison and love, they impressed Mitchell as reflecting great talent, although he concedes that some of them are "quite bad."

Daly "has the care for people . . . which is basic to becoming a useful writer," Mitchell said.

The irony of the young pacifist's action against the War Museum is that the institution, situated on the south bank of the Thames River, contains works of art and other material about the First World War which rank among the most memorable protests against that conflict and military violence in general.

Expo Gems Stolen

OSAKA, Japan (Reuters) — Eight pieces of jewelry worth about $11,000 have been stolen from the Hong Kong pavilion at the Expo 70, officials said today.

President Sworn In

BATHURST (Reuters) — Sir Dawda Jawara was sworn in Tuesday as Gambia's first president following a referendum last week in which Gambians decided that the country should become a republic.

FORECAST FOR TELEVISION

Season of Stars Nearing

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's not too early to make a prediction about television in 1971-1972: it will be the season of the stars.

Never before in televison history will so many important film stars be appearing in their own series. These projects already have been announced:

Henry Fonda will star for ABC in a generation-gap series called The Smith Family, produced by Don Fedderson, creator of My Three Sons.

Shirley MacLaine will have her own ABC series, to be produced in England by Sheldon Leonard, late of I Spy.

Tony Curtis will co-star with Roger Moore in an ABC adventure series, also to be made in England. Like the MacLaine series, this one is backed by British producer Lew Grade, who plans to release it simultaneously on English and North American television.

Glenn Ford has signed for a comedy half-hour about a police detective who takes over a youth centre. CBS has ordered the series from 20th Century-Fox.

Dick Van Dyke will return to CBS in a new series which will be filmed near his home in Phoenix, Ariz.

James Garner, who first achieved fame as Maverick on ABC, is going back to television in an adventure series for NBC.

Other top stars are being offered to the networks for future series. Why? The reason is clearly written in the tortured economics of the movie business.

LOOK FOR JOBS

Except for a handful of hot personalities — notably Paul Newman, Steve McQueen, Dustin Hoffman, Robert Redford and Elliott Gould — stars are simply not in demand for today's film market. Those who could earn $500,000 a picture last year aren't receiving scripts today. The emphasis is on low-budget, youth-appeal movies, and those can be made with unknowns.

So it's only natural for the likes of Fonda, Curtis, MacLaine and Garner to go for the immense money that a television series can provide.

It's a big step. To most of them it means at least a gap in a career as a movie attraction. Rarely has the star of a television series been able to maintain a successful film career.

The influx of star series will have important repercussions in TV programming for 1971-72. Obviously space must be found for the new shows, and many present series will be discarded.

Aircraft Owners Hit Inaction

KENORA, Ont. (CP) — Archie Webb, president of the Northwestern Ontario Air Carriers Association, said Tuesday his association is prepared to take a more militant stand if the federal government does not establish strict regulations on United States aircraft entering Canada.

Mr. Webb did not say what action the association would take but the 22 air carriers represented at a two-day meeting here are clearly frustrated with what they say has been "10 years of inaction."

"We'll do something if the federal government does not move within 30 days.

"If we have to," said Mr. Webb, with a sly grin, "we'll water-bomb the House of Commons or park our 160 aircraft in the Ottawa River until the government does something."

HUNT, FISH UNCHECKED

The problem is basically that chartered U.S. aircraft, flying under a free Canadian licence, land on Northwestern Ontario lakes and rivers with sportsmen who can hunt and fish and return to the U.S. without ever being checked for limits.

The association argues that the U.S. companies are not acting in Canada's public interest and do not have to pay taxes or tariffs as the Canadian operators do.

The association met Tuesday with D. F. Quirt, director of operations for the federal government air transport committee.

Downtown Carman Swamped By Rising Floodwaters

CARMAN, Man. (CP) — The downtown section of Carman, southwest of Winnipeg, was under three feet of water today.

More than 100 armed forces personnel and local volunteers were placing 50,000 sandbags in and around the town.

The town, with a population of about 1,000, virtually was under siege by floodwater of the Boyne River.

The roads into the community are cut off by the floodwater and the Manitoba telephone system and exchange in the community has been flooded out.

The emergency measures organization has set up headquarters in the town and troops are piling sandbags around the local hospital.

Provincial Highways 2 and 3 were flooded and boats were being used to get in and out of the town.

Troops also were used to sandbag along the Red River in the Greater Winnipeg municipality of Fort Garry where there was local flooding. More troops were to be sent later in the day to the municipality of Richot, upstream from Fort Garry to help sandbag homes.

The level of the Whitemud River in western Manitoba is reported to be dropping. The river inundated the town of Gladstone for several days. A hole was bulldozed through Highway 34, about 60 miles west of Winnipeg, to allow the Whitemud waters to recede.

Test Rules Changed

EDMONTON (CP) — Highways Minister Gordon Taylor said Tuesday that under new licensing requirements drivers over 70 years will be allowed two years instead of one between medical examinations.

Under the new system, a person will have to take a medical examination and a driver's test when he turns 70, but he will be allowed to drive for two years before taking another test.

Director Resigns

WINNIPEG (CP) — Nogvert P. Scott — the director of the Manitoba Centennial Corporation who threatened to resign two weeks ago after a clash with corporation chairman Maitland B. Steinkopf — has officially carried out his threat and called for a government investigation of the board.

Four Youths Die

PRINCE ALBERT (CP) — The bodies of four youths from the Saskatoon area were found Tuesday in a cabin 30 miles north of here. They were asphyxiated when they failed to unplug a chimney after lighting a furnace.

Co-Op Probe Planned

EDMONTON (CP) — C. C. McLaurin, retired chief justice of the Alberta Supreme Court, will head a royal commission inquiry into legislation on co-operatives in the province. Mr. McLaurin's appointment to head the inquiry was made following investigation of a complaint by Alberta ombudsman George B. McLellan.

Licence Opposed

RED DEER, Alta. (CP) — City council says it opposes an application by Pacific Western Airlines for a licence from the Air Transport Commission to operate flights between Lethbridge and Calgary.

Scales Tipped

CALGARY (CP) — Mr. Justice Harold Riley of the Alberta Supreme Court said Tuesday the scales of justice have moved too far to the side of criminals and away from protection of society. Mr. Justice Riley told a reception observing the city's law week, said the "three bulwarks of individual liberty" — police, the jury system and the bench — need the help of the community if they are to fulfill this function.

Network Sought

EDMONTON (CP) — Alberta Government Telephones has applied to set up a 10-city cable television network in the province, Ray Reierson, minister of telephones, said Tuesday. Under the proposal, a microwave system would carry one commercial and one non-commercial United States television network into Alberta, serving Calgary, Camrose, Edmonton, Drumheller, Grande Prairie, Lethbridge, Lloydminster, Medicine Hat, Red Deer and Wetaskiwin.

'Welfare Mother' Resigns

CALGARY (CP) Mary Alice Payne, a member of the National Council of Welfare, Tuesday resigned from the city's social services committee, charging that it was doing nothing to deal with serious community problems.

In a statement of resignation, Mrs. Payne said that as a welfare mother she must feed her seven children on less than 73 cents each a day.

"Until the problem of feeding the poor is solved I see no relevance in being a member of this committee.

"I was told this afternoon that if I resigned I would be jumping overboard and that I should stay with the ship.

"However, I feel the ship has already sunk as it has become totally divorced from the realities of life."

The 21-member National Council of Welfare was formed earlier this year to advise Health Minister John Munro on welfare matters.

B.C. ROUNDUP

Extortion Charge Decision Reserved

PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — RCMP tape recordings of two telephone converstations were submitted as crown evidence Tuesday in the trial of city accountant William Grosvenor, charged with attempting to extort $50 from a Prince Rupert businessman.

District Judge D. K. McAdam reserved judgment until today after hearing one day of testimony in the case alleging Grosvenor attempted the extortion from Campbell McLeod, 22, by threatening him with prosecution under the British Columbia Companies Act.

Grosvenor had originally elected trial by judge and jury but decided to be tried by judge alone prior to what was to be his preliminary hearing Tuesday. He pleaded not guilty.

Crown counsel A. A. W. McDonnell argued that a police tape recording from a Feb. 16 telephone conversation between Grosvenor and McLeod substantiated the charge that Grosvenor threatened McLeod during the course of negotiations for transfer rights in a "Swapshop" trade named Grosvenor had been using.

The crown also submitted what it alleged was a carbon copy of an unsigned memorandum in Grosvenor's handwriting in which Grosvenor agreed not to prosecute McLeod if he purchased rights to the trade name.

Defence counsel R. Chamberlain of Vancouver charged the recorded telephone conversations and the memorandum were engineered by the RCMP and McLeod to induce Grosvenor to commit a crime.

Mediator Sought

KELOWNA (CP) — The Canadian Union of Public Employees Tuesday applied for a mediator in an attempt to resove their current wage dispute with the city of Kelowna. Base rate here is $2.65 an hour.

Ex-Banker Dies

VANCOUVER (CP) — Retired bank executive R. Bruce Buckerfield, 82, died in hospital Tuesday. He was a former president of the Canadian Cancer Society and of the society's British Columbia-Yukon division and former president of the Red Cross in B.C.

Survey Planned

TRAIL (CP) — The provincial government will begin a survey in July of all the potential recreational sites along the Arrow Lakes Reservoir and will improve three parks in the area, Education minister Donald Brothers said Tuesday.

Doukhobors Sign

NELSON (CP) — Special hearings to register the marriages of members of the Doukhobor religious sect are "pretty well complete," provincial judge William Evans said Tuesday.

Attorney-General Leslie Peterson has set a June 1 deadline for registration. Previously the Doukhobors refused to register their marriages with the state.

They were simple ceremonies at home, with blessings of the couple by the fathers of the bride and groom.

Man Killed

BURNABY (CP) — Alberto Marconato, 39, of Vancouver, was killed Tuesday when the boom of the machine he was working on touched high tension wires.

TEEN-AGERS CHARGED IN BANK ROBBERY

WINNIPEG (CP) — Five high school students, including two juvenile girls, have been arrested and charged in the robbery of $15,000 from a dowtown branch of the Bank of Montreal Friday.

Two youths, Arthur Eugene Arnott and Mark Allen Land, both 18, of Winnipeg, were remanded to May 5 without bail Tuesday when they appeared in city magistrate's court on the charges.

The three juveniles, including both girls, have been handed over to juvenile authorities.

Grit Senator Challenges Legality of Anti-Hate Bill

OTTAWA (CP) — Senator Daniel Lang, an Ontario Liberal, Tuesday night urged other Liberals in the Upper House to force the cabinet to refer the hate propaganda bill to the Supreme Court of Canada for a decision on whether it violates the Bill of Rights.

The Lang motion marks the first serious Senate attempt to turn back a government bill since 1961, when the Liberal majority in the Upper House revolted against a Conservative government bill to remove James Coyne as governor of the Bank of Canada.

The difference this time is that a Liberal senator, with some support, is opposing a Liberal government bill.

Senator Lang pleaded with other Liberals to support his motion and establish the Senate's "true image" as a parliamentary bastion of rights and freedom.

He said that if Liberals voted the party line, "then I question the worthwhile continued existence of this body."

"It may be in one stroke that the image of the Senate as a mere rubber stamp for government policy may be wiped away."

His speech, with the bill before the Senate for the fourth time, drew a steaming reply from Senator Harper Prowse (Alberta), also a Liberal.

Senator Prowse said that "we would be wasting the time of the court and making ourselves look like fools" by referring the hate bill to the court.

He disputed Senator Lang's comparison of the hate bill with the section of the Indian Act ruled by the Supreme Court to contravene the Bill of Rights in the Joseph Drybones case.

HITS NEWSPAPER

Drybones, a Yellowknife Indian, was fined $10 under the Indian Act for being drunk off a reserve. There are no reserves in the Northwest Territories and the Indian Act provided a heavier penalty for drunkenness than the N.W.T. liquor ordinance.

"The whole basis of the Drybones case is that the Indian Act was legislation which could only apply to an Indian and that is why he was prosecuted," Senator Prowse said.

He also tore into the Toronto Globe and Mail, whose editorials against the hate bill have been used by some senators. The Globe and Mail had pointed out "the kind of language" used by Canadian political speakers in the past and said Parliament hadn't put the speakers in jail.

"If we had, we would have jailed bishops, priests and teachers as well as the prime ministers and editors," Senator Prowse said.

The Globe and Mail had "said what I expected it to say" in opposing the bill.

"The old Globe did more to lay the foundations of the differences that exist between the races in Canada today than anything done by any other instrument in this country," Senator Prowse said.

Senator Lang said the 1965 committee under former law Dean Maxwell Cohen of McGill University—Pierre Elliott Trudeau, then a law professor, was a member—had been able to find only a handful of hate cases at the time and these had died out.

Meanwhile, the bill was still "dangerously close" to infringing upon the right to free speech.

Price Watchdog Explains Cost Difference in Napkins

OTTAWA (CP) — Grace MacInnis, parliamentary gadfly on the subject of consumer price, got back three packages of paper serviettes and an explanation about their pricing Tuesday night from the chief federal price watchdog, John Young.

Mrs. MacInnis (NDP—Vancouver Kingsway) had raised the serviettes issue with the chairman of the prices and incomes commission before the Commons social affairs committee April 9.

Tuesday night Dr. Young was back before the committee.

The serviettes and a complaint had been sent to Mrs. MacInnis by Mrs. I. MacMillan of Edmonton. All three packages had been bought at a Hudson's Bay Co. store.

Identical packages of 20 serviettes had been bought at different times, one for 75 cents and the other for $1.25. The third package, purchased last year for 59 cents, were "of similar quality but more decorative."

The two more expensive packages, Dr. Young reported, are made by Hallmark Cards Inc. of Kansas City, Mo.

Hudson's Bay Co. said price stickers are placed on the packages by the maker. The price is supposed to be 75 cents, and is today, but "certain packages were received with a price sticker of $1.25 and these had been incorrectly marked and were sold at that price."

The third package of serviettes, still priced at 59 cents, is made by Perkins Products Ltd. of Laval, Que.

National Farm Head Stages Meet Walkout

The NFU president's declared reason for withdrawing the organization from grains council membership was the council's decision to admit two new members to its already broad representation as a co-ordinating and advisory body.

They are the Saskatchewan Association of Rural Municipalities and the Carman Farm Business Association, an organization of southern Manitoba farmers whose emphasis is on farm management and crop science.

"The effect of seating these kinds of groups is to fragment farm unity and break down farm pewer," Mr. Atkinson said later in an interview. The NFU withdrawal is a permanent decision as far as he is concerned.

BOTH NEW GROUPS

Like the grains council, the restructured NFU is a new organization. It held its founding convention in Winnipeg last summer.

The grains council was set up with federal government support to facilitate improved liaison between industry and government and between various elements of the grain trade, with the objective of maintaining and improving Canada's share of world markets for all grains and grain products.

Membership is open to all non-government organizations or associations directly connected with the production, handling, transportation, processing or marketing of grain and grain products.

A. M. Runciman of Winnipeg, president of United Grain Growers Ltd. and chairman of the grains council, said he regretted the NFU move. The council had recognized since its inception the importance of the acceptance of its role by the western farmer.

He said the farmer still is well represented on the council through the pool elevator companies, the Canadian Federation of Agriculture and other member organizations, "but not quite in the same way a direct-membership organization such as the NFU can provide."

The Atkinson withdrawal was the only near-drama of a dry two-day business meeting.

The council agreed tentatively to meet again in the latter part of September.

Gal Guards Allowed

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee County civil service commission has voted unanimously to end a long and controversial prohibition against hiring women as life guards at the county's swimming pools and Lake Michigan beaches. The bikini will not be accepted life guard attire, however.

U.S. Drops Test

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — The U.S. government has quietly dropped a controversial proposal to detect criminal tendencies in American children by mass testing all six-year-olds, officials said Monday. The plan, advanced by Dr. Arnold Hutschnecker, a New York psychotherapist, was found to be impractical.

Local Dietitians Compile Manual

Dietitians from five Victoria hospitals and the provincial government have compiled a reference diet manual for use in local hospitals, Joyce Fairbairn, head dietitian of St. Joseph's Hospital, said Monday.

Miss Fairbairn, chairman of the manual committee, said that the book was requested by the Victoria and District Hospital Administrative Council.

Designed as a professional reference for dietitians, the 288-page loose-leaf manual appears to be the only one of its kind to be compiled for a specific area, said Miss Fairbairn. Most hospitals use a variety of individual reference works.

The manual has the approval of the Victoria Medical Society and is now being reviewed by the B.C. Dietetics Association nutritional committee.

St. Joseph's Hospital plans to use the book as the basis for nutrition, diet therapy and food production. It will also be used as a training manual for nursing students, medical interns and student dietitians. other parts of B.C. have expressed interest in the manual, said Miss Fairbairn.

Dietitians on the six-member committee over a two-year period were Miss Fairbairn, St. Joseph's; Miss Mary O'Brien, director, Royal Jubilee Hospital dietary department; Miss Dianne Cox, Royal Jubilee; Mrs. Maxine Bradley and Miss Muriel Vincent, Veterans' Hospital; Miss Elizabeth Lawson, Gorge Road Hospital Rehabilitation Centre; Capt. Shirley Sutherland, Canadian Forces Hospital, Esquimalt; and Miss Joan Groves, dietary consultant, B.C. Hospital Insurance Service.

Jungian Philosophy Suits Youth Suggests Vancouver Professor

Today's youth follow the Jungian philosophy of creativity as "an effortless truth," a Simon Fraser University professor told a group of doctors in Victoria Tuesday.

Ernest Becker, professor of behavioral science, said there is a belief, especially among young people, that the mind contains great truths "and if you relax, it will come out."

"This is an approach in youth that leads to very little work," Becker pointed out to more than 100 doctors attending the 16th scientific session of B.C. family physicians at the Empress.

Using the philosophies of two of the world's greatest psychiatrists, Dr. Sigmund Freud and Dr, Carl Jung, Becker attempted to explain man's creative potential.

Becker described the Jungian views of creativity as the attitude that "what is right in the world will come out of you in spite of what you are doing."

Jung wrote about the wisdom of the unconscious mind, using the mysteries and secrets of the East.

"You see how much the Jungian view accords with the ideas of the young today," said Becker. "Certainly, it accords with the teachings of the Orient."

The Freudian attitude, however, relies on the Oedipus complex, defined by Becker as "the child's character shaped by his reactions to his parents' atmosphere."

The mind becomes, instead of a source of creativity, a force which a person must fight against. He must rebel against his own training and develop his own perceptions if he is to be creative.

"This is the Freudian concept — you become your own type of person by stepping aside from your early habits."

Becker said he is inclined to believe in the Freudian approach.

"Creative work has to be painfully and gropingly shaped by the ego."

Becker said great artists had to fight their own minds in order to create a work of art.

"They didn't sit around waiting for their ids to erupt. Nothing really comes out of the unconscious and has human meaning which is not placed under rigorous cognitive control," said Becker.

A doctor suggested from the audience in the question period following Becker's address that woman, as the more creative sex, had been thwarted by man.

"Why can't she influence us more," he asked.

Becker suggested that the role of women in society arises from the primitive physical superiortiy of men and has nothing to do with the creative mind.

This is part of the reason for the new feminist movement, he said.

However, women are just as prone to the Freudian Oedipus complex as are men, said Becker, so women are not the great answer to the world's ills.

But he agreed, women should be freed from their "slavery" and allowed to use their minds.

World Leaders Labelled 'Flagrantly Psychotic'

A Simon Fraser University professor labelled as "flagrantly psychotic" the world's political leaders.

Addressing the 16th scientific session of the B.C. family physicains, Becker told the doctors that the world is threatened with calamities such as famine, disease and pollution.

"So what does a flagrant psychotic from Texas do?

"He takes $80,000,000 and spends it on a little war in an unknown country."

Alcohol Pollutant Says Psychologist

The difficult child uses drugs to grab the establishment, University of British Columbia child psychologist, Dr. A. N. McTaggart said Tuesday.

Dr. McTaggart addressed a meeting of the 16th annual scientific session of B.C. family physicians.

"Society is so blinded by its own use of alcohol that it sees this new drug as a new pollutant," said Dr. McTaggart.

Thus, parents get upset over the use of marijuana, he continued, and pay more attention to the child.

Dr. McTaggart, quoting the recent drug survey taken among B.C. students, said 46.2 per cent used alcohol and 20 per cent used marijuana.

"Look at it closely. It's the alcohol that pollutes their brains. Is anyone concerned about alcohol?"

Dr. McTaggart said that drugs were used by children to escape from their troubles at home and at school.

The "difficult child" cannot cope with his parents' anxiety about his "success" and opts out, escapes into fantasy or uses drugs.

Parents see university entrance as the measure of success for a child. The child is forced into a race based on academic success where the odds are very high, he said.

PINWHEEL HAM BAKE

New Look for Yesterday's Ham

Left-over ham works well in a hearty, down-to-earth casserole.

Pinwheel Ham Bake floats a tender cheese biscuit topping on a creamy mixture of ham and vegetables. With salad and tall glasses of milk, the meal is complete.

PINWHEEL HAM BAKE

1 cup sliced carrots
1 (12-oz.) package frozen peas
2 (10-oz.) cans cream of mushroom soup
½ tsp. salt
¼ cup finely-chopped onion
1½ cup milk
4 cups diced cooked ham

Topping

1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2¼ tsp. baking powder
¾ tsp. salt
5 tbsp. chilled butter
½ cup milk
¾ cup shredded cheddar cheese

Preheat oven to 350-degree F. Cook carrots and peas in boiling, salted water until tender-crips. In a large saucepan combine soup, the ½ tsp. salt and onion. Gradually stir in the 1½ cups milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to the boil. Remove from heat; add ham, carrots and peas; cover.

Sift together into a bowl the flour, baking powder and the ¾ tsp. salt. Cut butter in finely. Add the ½ cup milk and mix lightly with a fork until just combined.

Turn out dough onto lightly-floured board and knead gently 8 to 10 times. Roll to a 9-inch square; sprinkle with cheese. Roll up, jelly-roll fashion and cut into 8 slices.

Pour ham mixture into a deep 3-quart baking dish. Place pinwheels on top. Bake in preheated oven 25 to 30 minutes or until pinwheels are golden brown. (Serves six to eight.)

SWISS HAM AND POTATO BAKE

2 tbsp. butter
½ cup finely-chopped onion
2 tbsp. flour
3 cups diced cooked ham
1 cup shredded Canadian-made process Swiss cheese
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
⅛ tsp. mustard
3 eggs, well-beaten
1 pint (2½ cups) light cream
3 cups sliced cooked potatoes

Preheat oven to 325-degrees F. Melt butter in frypan. Add onion, saute until tender. sprinkle with the flour; stir well. Add ham, cheese, salt, pepper and mustard; toss together lightly. Combine eggs and cream. Place half of ham mixture in a shallow 2½-quart casserole. Layer half of potatoes on top. Pour half of cream mixture over potatoes. Repeat layering, ending with cream mixture. Bake in preheated oven 45 to 50 minutes. (Serves six.)

Well-Planned Vegetable Garden Takes Nutrition Into Account

By HILDA BEASTALL

Homemakers, we must unite!

Across the nation, while there is yet time, we who are responsible for the nutrition of our families must unite to see that we are provided with the best that our gardens can grow in the season ahead.

In most homes, it is the head of the house who makes the selection of vegetable seeds and plants to be bought each spring. He likes to talk over these things with men he meets during his day's work.

Rarely does he think in terms of nutrition, yet we the homemakers are directly responsible for the health of our families in terms of the food we select and prepare for their pleasure and satisfaction.

We are also responsible for stretching the food dollars so that each week or so there will be enough for an unscheduled surprise treat, that device of the smart homemaker to keep her family's interest in meals at home.

This is where a united front among homemakers will come in useful.

If we can say that we want all the garden fresh vegetables and fruits that out plot of land can produce with the aid of the head of the house, and we want certain kids of vegetables because those will give the best value in family nutrition, we can probably cinch the matter with that bit about stretching the food dollars.

As soon as the first round is won, make a follow through with a seed and plant list.

Encourage the purchase of a few permanent food plants, for these help to carry interest over from year to year.

When decisions are in the making, don't forget about being able to freeze surplus peas, beans, spinach, rhubarb, strawberries — you can be armed with bulletins from the Home Economics Division of the Provincial Department of Agriculture on this.

We should grow both green beans and yellow beans, for while the green contain more total vitamins, the yellow though lacking in vitamin A, have a fair amount of B2. Green peas are wanted by most families for the delicacy of flavor that, so far, is impossible to retain in any form of preparation — freezing, drying or canning.

Carrots and beets, judged by their color alone, are both high on nutrition charts. While we're at nutrition, have you noticed how strong colors, distinctive flavors and nutrition go hand in hand?

And did you know that the few vegetables which some folks find difficult to digest are more easily handled if grated and eaten raw? This is so with turnips, parsnips and various cabbages.

Winter and summer squashes are equally useful, and quite distinct in flavor. Sweet corn compares in flavor to green peas when home produced and eaten within minutes of picking.

Lettuce, green onions, radishes, American cress, chives and vine-ripened scarlet or orange tomatoes, are but some of the added delights available through home gardening.

If your spouse has doubts as to the economic value of home raised vegetables, you must keep a close record of everything you use yourselves from the garden as well as the cash outlay for seed, manure, and plants. Obviously, some of these costs will spread over many years, but keep records and try to balance the accounts.

A woman can estimate quantities and weights pretty well after years of shopping, but to be fair it is wise to underestimate a little. Price your produce at market value at the time you use the vegetables.

The highest values of your garden produce will be flavor, quality, and satisfaction.

DEAR ABBY . . .

No Gambler

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After my eighth baby was born, I asked my doctor to tie my tubes so I wouldn't have any more children. It's nothing new. Lots of women have it done.

Well, that was two years ago, and yesterday my husband came home and announced he had gone down to the doctor's office and had his tubes tied! It sure sounds to me like there's another woman in his life.

Maybe I'm just dumb, but I can't understand why he had to have that done when there was no danger of getting me pregnant.

Do you think he's off his rocker, or just plain don't like kids. Please don't use my name. Four of my kids can read. — Over Bearing.

DEAR OVER: No matter what you husband's faults may be, gambling isn't one of them.

DEAR ABBY: I am only 14 years old and I have a problem. All my friends call me conceited. I'm not really, but they think I am because I can't pass a mirror without looking at myself.

So what can I do about myself, Abby? Do you think I'm conceited or not? — Not Conceited.

DEAR NOT: Looking at one's self in the mirror does not necessarily indicate that you admire yourself. Perhaps you lack self-confidence and are seeking constant reassurance. Try to pass a mirror without looking into it.

DEAR ABBY: I have a suggestion for CAN'T SLEEP whose conscience is bothering her over her neglect of an elderly mother, recently deceased.

Go to the nearest Old Folks home and take on a "mother" or even a "mother and father." Do for them what you wish you'd have done for your own. Think how much pleasure a ride on a sunny day, a small gift or even a bouquet of flowers would mean to the elderly "forgotten-by-family" people who are in these homes. If you can't take them out, you can go and talk with them, and listen to them reminisce. You will gain a lot. I know. I've tried it and it works. It's fun! —(Sign me) Can Sleep.

DEAR ABBY: Several years ago my wife ran off with another man and since that time I have never trusted another woman.

About a year ago I met a lovely widow who has me completely confused. She is an excellent hostess and charming companion. She has made no demands and extracted no promises. She is my idea of a perfect companion and seems to be happiest when she is doing things for me. What I am wondering is whether she is for real, or is this an act? My first wife acted like this for a while, but the scars are still there over the deal I got.

My family says I don't know anything about women and I should steer clear of them.

Can a second marriage turn out all right when the first one was such a mess? We are both in our fifties and could have some lovely years together. Maybe some of your readers can give me the benefit of their experience. — Needs Help.

DEAR NEEDS: Who can say what is "for real" and what's an "act?" You can protect yourself (financially) with a pre-nuptial agreement, but nobody gets a lifetime guarantee of wedded bliss with a new spouse. (Or with an "old" one, for that matter.)

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it ABBY, Box 697,000, Los Angeles, Calif. 90060. For a personal reply enclose stamped addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

COSMETIC SURGERY:

Frivolous Pay More

Following is the last of two articles on cosmetic surgery.

By CATHARINE BREWSTER
Women's News Service

NEW YORK — Cosmetic surgery is being sought by an increasing number of women, but it is still not easy to come by. Determination, time and money are all needed.

Cosmetic surgeons don't seek out patients. No surgeon here would be likely to allow, as did Dr. Ivo Pintanguey of Brazil, an article in a news magazine about his work.

When a woman first considers cosmetic surgery, she may ask her physician about a possible surgeon. Usually, his reply will be something like, "What do you want that for? You look fine for a woman of your age."

After that, a woman has to be pretty determined to get the name of a surgeon out of him.

If she succeeds, she's far from in the operating room. It may take weeks before the surgeon can even see her. When he does, she will likely be subjected to more than a physicial examination.

The surgeon will try to discover why she wants the surgery, and in conversation he will be looking for signs of instability.

Surgeons are wary of patients who think their lives will be changed by cosmetic surgery, or who have some impossible vision of themselves after the operation. Such patients are always disappointed and mean nothing but trouble.

turned down because the surgeon believes her facial structure doesn't augur for success. A collapsed jawline from sagging skin, yes, but one which is heavy with fat, no.

Some skin problems, such as extensive birthmarks, cannot be surgically treated without visible scars. It's one thing to restore a shattered jaw, leaving scars, because the problem must be solved, and another to do a beautifying job that leaves visible results.

Once the surgeon has accepted the patient, time and money come into play. Most cosmetic operations don't involve more than a week or so in hospital, but the swelling and occasional discolorations take longer. With a major face lift, the time for complete recovery of the face may be as long as six months. Whatever time is required, the patient must be able to stay at home or not mind being seen everywhere with dark glasses or a swollen face.

Cosmetic operations require a high degree of skill and artistry. Therefore, they are not cheap. What's more, many cosmetic surgeons deliberately charge high for what they regard as unnecessary operations, to discourage the frivolou and to finance the work they do on disfigurement patients who can't pay.

All this accounts for the varying fees a patient will be quoted. One surgeon will charge $350 for an eye lift, while another will ask $1,500. The full face lift can range from $1,000 to $2,000. As it isn't usually possible to "shop" for an operation the patient simply has to shell out. After all, surgery for beauty or youth isn't a matter of life or death.

Most common cosmetic surgery today is the "nose job," to straighten and sometimes shorten a nose that is too much for its face. It is usually not more than $500, requires little hospitalization, but a few weeks for the swelling to go down. Next comes the "eye lift," in which lines are smoothed out and lids that have dropped are lifted. It's a kind of mini face lift for those who don't need more.

The full face lift might better be called a drawing back. The skin is lifted from the muscular structure beneath, so the excess sag may be cut way. The skin is then drawn back to be sutured behind the ears, where the fine-line scar will not show.

Less common but perfectly standard is cosmetic surgery on the breasts, which can be either reduced in size or made to appear larger. This kind of body surgery can be successful because the scar line can be concealed in the fold below the breasts.

In all these cosmetic operations, surgeons say that the most successful patients are women who have business reasons for looking younger.

"They're more practical," explained one surgeon. "They don't seem to have illusions about looking twenty again. They just want to look reasonably younger, and that's all any cosmetic operation can do. After all, the aging process doesn't stop subsequent to an operation."

Local Surgeons Charge Much Less

A nose operation is usually about $200, as compared with the $500 quoted in the article.

A local surgeon pointed out that higher rates in the U.S. are at least partially justified by the astronomically high cost of "malpractice" insurance.

Because so many of the women who seek youth through surgery are neurotic, they are the more likely than the average patient to sue the doctor if the results don't come up to their expectations.

Premiums for this insurance can be as high as $3,000 a year.

Whether or not medical insurance will cover plastic surgery is debateable. The insurance company's definition of what constitutes purely cosmetic surgery is "inacurate and ineffective."

Operations needed because of cancer, accident or injury or for congential defects are consistently covered by medical insurance, but the local surgeon has known borderline cases in which one beautifying operation was covered although an almost identical case was turned down.

He also pointed out that the patient does not have to shop around for a doctor. There are several reputable plastic surgeons in Victoria and Vancouver, and most insist that a patient be referred by their family doctor.

FORMER PRIEST WEDS

While Irish priests urge parishioners to wed, Huub Oosterhuis, a former Jesuit priest, took the step himself. He married Josefien Melief Sunday in Amsterdam. Oosterhuis was one of the leaders of the anti-celibacy movement. He got dispensation from the Vatican but is no longer allowed to celebrate mass. (AP Wirephoto.)

Irish Priests Play Cupid As Marriage Rate Wanes

By DENIS O'CONNOR

DUBLIN (AP) — Priests are playing cupid in a bid to get Irish eyes smiling again.

Traditionally, the Irishman is a reluctant bridegroom. The country's marriage rate is a low 5.5 per 1,000 population. Girls in Ireland are twice as likely as girls in Britain to remain spinsters. The cities all have more single women than men; Dublin's ratio is near 2 to 1.

"It is tremendously difficult for single men and women to meet in Dublin," says Rev. Michael Browne, who has become something of an expert on Irish marriage problems. "The dance halls and beat clubs are taken over by teen-agers and there's almost nowhere for the more mature to meet socially."

In the more isolated rural areas, men outnumber women. About 30 per cent of the smaller farmers are unmarried. Girls who have tasted city life don't want to go down on the farm. Many of those who have crossed the Irish Sea, to work in Britain, don't want to return at all.

MANY DON'T RETURN

The octogenarian Archbishop Joseph Walsh, now retired, has said: "They are attracted by the bright lights of the cities in both Britain and the United States, but it's heartbreaking to see them go. So many never come back."

The archbishop and six West of Ireland bishops set up a Marriage Introductions Bureau at Knock in County Mayo two years ago. The Anonymous Bachelor Club in Limerick followed last year. A third bureau has been founded at Kerry.

In its two years the Knock bureau has received 1,150 applications.

"No definite promise can be made that all who apply will find a life partner," warns an explanatory leaflet, "but all who register can rely on the bureau taking a keen personal interest in them and doing its best to help."

Rev. Michael Keane, who operates the Knock bureau, estimates that the West of Ireland has 32,000 single men of 20 to 45 and only 15,000 girls in that age group.

Identity of applicants is kept secret until they consent to its disclosure to a prospective partner. Once the mutually agreed introduction is made, the bureau steps back. No applications are accepted from persons under 21 and the bona fides of overseas applicants are carefully studied.

Some girls are reluctant to return to the spartan life they remember—as children on remote farmsteads. The bureau stresses that electric power, modern plumbing, and television have changed that picture.

Pope's Message Eases Mixed Marriage Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — New papal regulations will permit Roman Catholics to enter mixed religion marriages without the presence of a Roman Catholic priest, the U.S. National Conference of Catholic Bishops said Tuesday.

The conference said 17 norms on mixed marriages are contained in a 2,400-word letter to be issued Thursday by Pope Paul "motu proprio"—meaning "on his own initiative."

A statement by the conference said two major developments found in the papal letter are:

—"Diocesan bishops now may permit mixed marriages involving Catholics to take place without the presence of a Catholic priest, provided there is some public form of marriage service. This dispensation from the required form of Catholic marriage may be granted only for serious reasons.

"In recent years such concessions had been made on an individual basis, but only by the Holy See. The new rule recognizes the local bishops' authority. . . ."

—"The 1966 instruction on mixed marriages, now in force, asked that the non-Catholic party to a mixed marriage 'be invited to promise sincerely and openly that he will in no way impede' the obligation of the Catholic 'to guard, preserve profess his (her) own faith and to baptize and educate the offspring in that faith.'

"The new regulation . . . eliminates any demand for a promise on the part of the non-Catholic. Instead it first affirms the Catholic party's responsibility: '. . . the Catholic party shall declare that he is ready to remove dangers of falling away from the faith.

"' . . . at an opportune time the non-Catholic party must be informed of these promises . . . so . . . he is cognizant of the promise and obligation on the part of the Catholic.'"

Red Subs In Arctic Waters?

By JACK BEST

OTTAWA (CP) — Do Soviet submarines operate in the Canadian Arctic?

Maybe, says the defence department. Spokesmen refuse to be any more explicit because of the obvious intelligence value of anything they might disclose.

There have been a number of reported sightings of undersea craft in the area in recent years. None, upon investigation, has been definitely confirmed.

A few have been classified as probables. But they weren't necessarily Soviet submarines. United States nuclear-powered subs have been known to enter the waters of the arctic archipelago—with Canadian acquiescence.

The question of foreign submarine activity in the north has become more topical as Canada moves in various ways to assert its sovereignty there.

MORE AERIAL PATROLS

As part of this process, aerial surveillance over the entire region is being stepped up. Surveillance patrol hours are being increased by 25 per cent this year—from 1,380 last year—and an aircraft servicing detachment is to be established at Frobisher Bay on Baffin Island.

A defence department spokesman, asked what the surveillance crews will be looking for, replied non-committally: "Anything of interest, whether a ship, a submarine or people in distress."

They will not be watching specifically for submarines, he said. But submarines were certainly a "consideration."

As seen here, there is no apparent strategic reason for the Soviets to station nuclear-powered submarines—the kind in question — in the Canadian Arctic. There are no cities within range to hurl ballistic missiles at should war break out. And there are no established shipping lanes to disrupt.

As for using the Arctic as a route to send submarines into the North Atlantic, experts contend that the Russians would be better off using other routes. There are extensive shallow areas in the arctic archipelago, as well as heavy ice conditions.

WATCHING ACTIVITY

There remains the possibility that the Soviets might be interested in using the occasional submarine foray to test the degree of military activity being carried on by Canada and the U.S. in a sensitive area of the globe.

Further, a Soviet submarine might use the Arctic as a "refuge" should Allied surveillance activity in the North Atlantic become too intensive. This possibility was cited to a Commons defence subcommittee earlier this year by Rear Admiral John Charles, deputy chief controller-general of the Canadian armed forces.

Canada has the equipment capability to detect submarines both under water and under ice, the defence department says. This capability is "good" for conventional submarines and "fair" for nuclear submarines.

Impeachment Move Gathers Momentum

WASHINGTON (WP) — The house judiciary committee considering impeachment charges against supreme court Justice William O. Douglas asked President Nixon Tuesday to instruct federal agencies to furnish it all documents bearing on the case.

Chairman Emanuel Celler (D—N.Y.) specifically mentioned records of the Internal Revenue Service, Securities and Exchange Commission and the Department of Justice.

This would include income tax returns and correspondence between Douglas and the Parvin Foundation when he was its salaried president.

House critics of Douglas have attacked him for "revolutionary" writings, parts of which appeared in a "pornographic" magazine and for "moonlighting" as the 12,000-dollar-a-year president of a foundation that received income from a Las Vegas gambling casino. A question has also been raised whether he gave legal advice to the foundation in violation of federal law.

NO EVIDENCE POT HARMFUL

LONDON (WP) — Nature Magazine, Britain's foremost science journal, has called attention to a typographical error in an article comparing users and non-users of marijuana.

As printed in the April 11 issue of the magazine, the article professed to find signs of "overt intellectual deterioration" among heavy marijuana smokers.

In fact, the two American authors, Norman E. Zinberg of Harvard and Andrew T. Weil of the National Institute on Mental Health, had written that there "no signs" of any such mental degeneration.

News stories of the Nature article inadvertently repeated the error.

Police Hold 10 After Gulf Meet

PITTSBURGH (WP) — At least 10 people were arrested and half a dozen more ejected from the hall at the annual shareholder's meeting of Gulf Oil Corp. here Tuesday.

Those arrested, mostly students and faculty from the University of Pittsburgh across the street from the meeting hall, were picked up for scuffling with police in the street or refusing to heed management's request that they give up microphones.

Those inside the hall were blasting the company for its oil interests in the Portuguese African colony of Angola and its sale of jet aircraft fuel to the U.S. defence department for use in Vietnam.

Despite the anger that flared both in and out of the hall during the two-and-a-half-hour meeting, the protest demonstration broke up before the meeting did and the students split into groups to march through the city and its suburbs, past the offices of Gulf Oil, Aluminum Co. of America, Koppers Corp. and the Mellon Bank—all grouped as "Mellon Interest."

About 50 police lined the sidewalks around the hall, with more uniformed officers inside. At the head of each aisle leading into the auditorium, plainclothes officers stood ready to eject protestors when instructed by Gulf chairman E. D. "Del" Brockett.

SHOUTS

The meeting was punctuated with shouts from Gulf supporters of "throw the commies out" and "stop paying taxes that support their school."

Two stink bombs were released, and during a speech by Gulf president B. R. Dorsey, a buzzer was set off and rolled down an aisle.

A rally planned at the University of Pittsburgh fizzled after maintenance men turned on lawn sprinklers. About 300 protestors then lined up in front of the entrance to Carnegi Music Hall and screamed at shareholders leaving the meeting.

With many of them carrying flags that said "Gulf kills," they shouted "murderer, fascist, parasites," and some unprintable epithets.

High Schools in U.S. Said 'Like Boiling Cauldrons'

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH

WASHINGTON (AP) — High schools in the United States—from the ghettoes to the suburbs—today are like boiling cauldrons.

In February alone, a government survey showed, there were 43 incidents at high schools resulting in police being called 19 times to make 257 arrests—and many incidents go unreported.

These confrontations are the most visible manifestation of the widespread student unrest detected in a nationwide Associated Press study.

The study indicates that only a tiny percentage of 18,000,000 high school students are in open, sometimes violent, rebellion. But, at the same time, student complaints dominated scores of interviews.

Students from New York to California say their schools operate in a prison-like atmosphere—armed guards, fenced schoolyards and, in one California school, locked classroom doors.

SEEK RELEVANCE

Other complaints range from racism to censored newspapers, uninspired teachers to unrealistic regulations and refusal of school administrators and parents to listen to student demands for an education relevant to the world they must compete in.

Government officials are becoming increasingly concerned.

As incidents increase there is a demand for stricter rules by parents, administrators and politicians.

"The current generation in the high schools has discovered that the situation they confront as students is inhuman and the status they hold is one of subjugation," says teacher Marc Libarle in the introduction of a book he co-edited, The High School Revolutionaries.

"There is nothing radical about what the students are asking—the right to form their clubs, such as anti-war or political, the right to dress as they wish, the right to a fair trial if accused," said Ira Glasser, New York Civil Liberties Union lawyer who has been active in student cases.

'WON'T TAKE IT'

Glasser, 32, added: "My generation used to gripe but didn't fight. Today's youngster is not willing to take it.

"Because of TV, many youngsters are aware of social problems before they can read. Anyone under 25 years of age has always lived under the shadow of nuclear war. That's significant. They know doom is just around the corner."

Glasser said in almost every instance where a school has trouble the students were rebuffed when they sought redress of grievances in an orderly fashion.

"When students become militant, they do so because of long frustration," he concluded.

The study indicated that most eruptions, violent and non-violent, seem to be spontaneous after long simmering spells. Once trouble starts, however, nearby collegians, members of the Students for a Democratic Society and other militant groups often move in to give advice, direction and encouragement.

Ceasefire Sought

SAIGON (Reuters) — A South Vietnamese Buddhist sect has called on the Saigon and Hanoi governments to declare a 48-hour ceasefire to mark the 2,514th anniversary of Buddha's birth May 19. The request was made today from the An Quang Pagoda, the sect's headquarters in Saigon.

Birthday Celebrated

UBCM Meeting Gets New Format

Major changes in the format of the annual convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities will face delegates when they meet in Penticton in September.

In the past, delegates have criticized the number of resolutions under discussion and the subsequent lack of time for full discussion.

President Hugh Curtis, the Mayor of Saanich, and the executive of the UBCM will run things differently in the fall.

In a letter to members, the executive says that this year all resolutions must be in the hands of the executive by July 17 to permit the full executive time for a first stiff vetting.

"The executive, at its discretion, will amend resolutions or combine them with others and will rule on resolutions considered to be of insufficient value for general discussion by the full membership," the letter states.

DICTATORIAL

To guard against charges of being too dictatorial the executive will inform the municipalities who sponsored "insufficient" resolutions of its decision. It will also publish the rejected resolutions in the form of an addendum to the regular resolutions book.

In addition to the first vetting by the executive the resolutions will be debated seminar-style before hitting the main convention floor.

The circular states that the executive will debate the resolutions at Penticton and make its recommendations to the full membership as it has in the past.

But, it adds, in addition the executive will decide in advance to group resolutions for seminar discussion with "the recommendations from the seminars reported for action to the plenary sessions."

Curtis says the seminar approach, "coupled with a session on our policy statement, will make it a very different annual meeting this year."

YOUNG SAILOR CIRCLES THE WORLD

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — With only four cats for company on a tossing sea, a blond youth tacked his way up the coast today, almost within sight of his goal: To become the youngest person ever to travel alone around the world in a sailboat.

His parents expect to greet Robin Lee Graham here Thursday afternoon. He told the coast guard by radio Tuesday he was 150 miles away.

Robin was 16 when he set out from Long Beach four years and nine months ago in a 24-foot sloop.

His worldwide course has taken him to Hawaii, the Samoas, Tonga, Fiji, The Solomon Islands, Australia, South Africa, South America, the Caribbean and Panama.

Newsman Killed

PHUNTSOLING, Bhutan (Reuters) — Indian President V. V. Giri and the King of Bhutan had a narrow escape Tuesday when a two-ton boulder hurtled down on their motor convoy on a moutain road in Bhutan. One reporter was killed. Seconds after the car carrying the president and the king had passed along the road, the boulder fell on a jeep carrying two reporters.

Regular Checks Made for Mercury Pollution

Areas in British Columbia where mercury pollution might exist are checked regularly, a Fish and Wildlife Branch spokesman said Tuesday.

Rory Finegan termed "unfair" reports that the government is unaware of mercury pollution in B.C.

He said his department advised the pulp mill in Port Alberni last year to stop using mercury when it was discovered copper rockfish in the Alberni Canal contained one part per million mercury.

Finegan said this was twice the allowable level although the fish were not sold commercially. The mill no longer uses mercury.

He said pulp mills in Crofton, Harmac and Prince George do not use mercury.

When the branch discovered that methyl mercury compounds were being used for seed treatment in the Peace River district, it recommended to the department of agriculture the practice be stopped.

The recommendation came after mercury was found in the livers of birds feeding on the seeds. Methyl mercury compounds do not break down in the soil. Distict farmers now used compounds which do.

Finegan said the branch regularly tabulates mercury levels near Pinchi Lake where mercury is mined. He said his department asked that the highways department not use slag from the area as fill on roadways.

The department "actively monitors" for evidence of mercury pollution, generally without publicity, Finegan concluded.

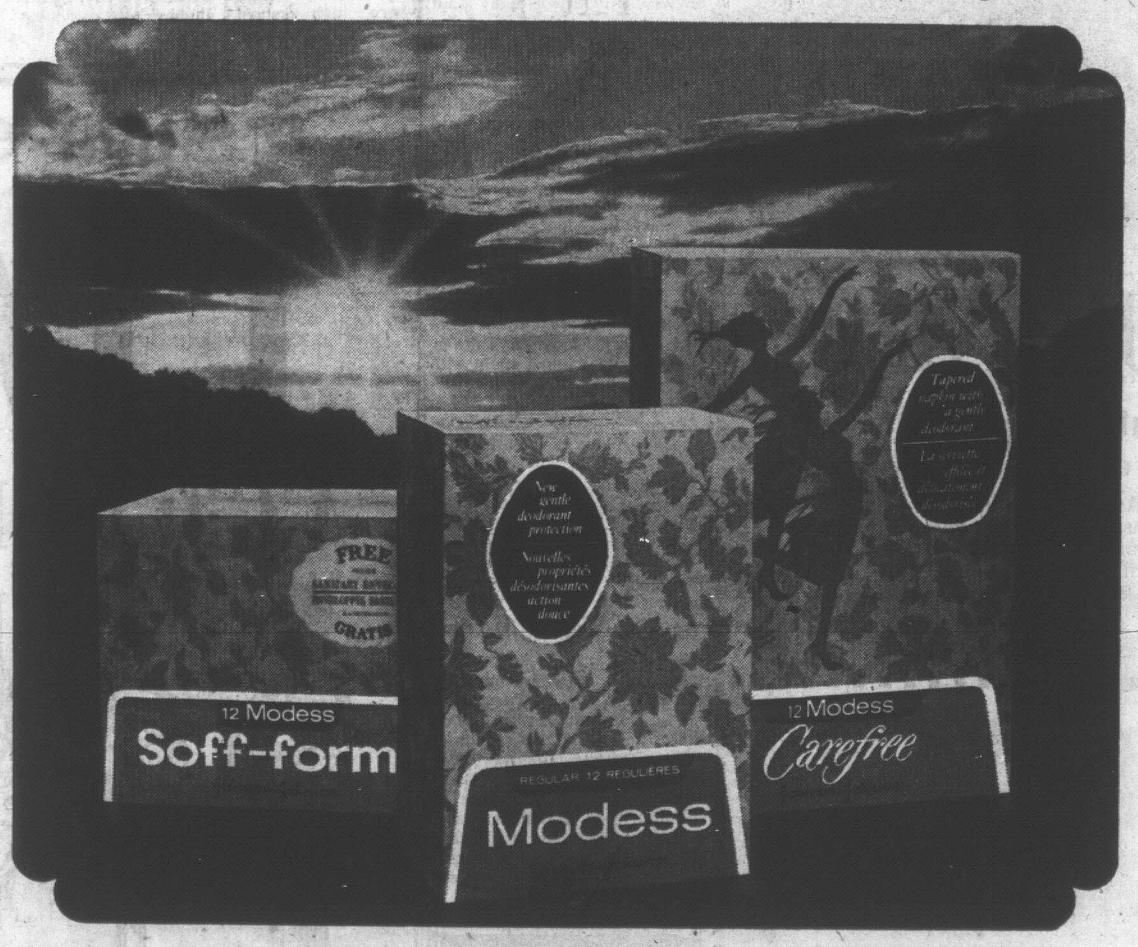
Announcing Modess deodorant napkins.



Very soon, maybe even this week, you'll need a new supply of sanitary napkins. And because you have a woman's concern for your femininity, you'll probably want to try the new non-scented MODESS deodorant napkins.

Here are the answers to nine questions you may wonder about. They've been supplied by Anne Gilbert, Director of Education at Johnson & Johnson.

Q. Exactly what is a deodorant napkin?

A. A deodorant napkin is exactly what it sounds like: a sanitary napkin to which a deodorant has been added in order to retard the problem of menstrual odor.

Q. Where is the deodorant?

A. The deodorant is applied over the entire surface of the napkins while they're being manufactured.

Q. Is there a fragrance to the deodorant?

A. None whatsoever. A MODESS deodorant napkin can never clash with the perfume you happen to be wearing. More important, there's no trace of scent to reveal the fact that you're wearing a napkin.

Q. What kind of deodorant is it?

A. It is gentle and safe. Its deodorizing ingredient is hexachlorophene, well-known and medically-approved as a very effective bacteriostatic agent. In non-medical terms, that simply means hexachlorophene inhibits the growth of bacteria.

Q. That's what causes odor?

A. Yes. Menstrual odor is caused by the growth of bacteria. It's a natural process that no one can stop. You can cope with the problem, though, by being fastidious about your program of personal cleanliness and by using the new MODESS deodorant napkins.

Q. But surely not all women have odor problems?

A. In varying degrees, yes, all women do. If you haven't experienced the problem yet, unfortunately that's no guarantee it will never happen. The point is, why should you worry? Now that MODESS deodorant napkins are available, you can feel fresh and confident every day of the month.

Q. What about irritation?

A. A team of Johnson & Johnson chemists worked for months testing different deodorant formulae. The one they finally approved is not only effective, but also extraordinarily gentle and completely non-irritating. We wouldn't settle for less.

Q. How long will the deodorant stay effective?

A. If you've been buying napkins in boxes of 48's, you know the box usually lies open for several months. Well, you can continue to buy boxes of 48's. The last MODESS deodorant napkin you use will protect you just as effectively as the first one did.

Q. What about vaginal sprays and napkin powders?

A. By all means, continue to use them. Your MODESS deodorant napkin won't interfere at all. Rather, it will let you feel extra secure. And during your period, that extra feeling of confidence is especially nice to have.

Pick the MODESS deodorant napkin that's right for you.

1. MODESS Regular Napkins

Rectangular in shape, but gently molded at both ends. A moisture-proof polyethylene shield is bonded to the outside, extends across the bottom and part way up the sides. Try this exceptionally protective deodorant napkin if your flow is regular but you have spotting problems.

2. MODESS CAREFREE Napkins

3. MODESS SOFF-FORM Napkins

These are deep-tapered napkins with a moisture-proof shield inside. They have extra depth for super absorbency. For you if your flow is exceptionally heavy and a tapered shape fits you best.

Anne Gilbert is Director of Education at Johnson & Johnson. It's her job to know all about sanitary napkins and to pass this knowledge on to you. If you ever have questions about MODESS deodorant napkins or feminine hygiene, write to her.

B.C. Container Dock Ready

OTTAWA (CP) — Completion of the first stage of the Roberts Bank superport at Vancouver and the installation of full container-handling facilities at several ports highlighted National Harbors Board activities last year, the board says in its 1969 report tabled in the Commons Tuesday.

The opening of the first full container terminal at Montreal late in 1968 resulted in 38,000 containers being handled in the port in 1969.

Facilities at Vancouver open this month.

The board says that last year there was an increase in working capital of $3,700,000 and slight increase in cash flow from operations.

The aggregate waterborne tonnage at ports administered by the board increased nearly two per cent to 74,099,535 tons from 72,781,405 in 1968.

Grants in lieu of municipal taxes at $5,300,000, an increase of nearly 30 per cent from 1968, accounted for nearly half the board's operating loss of $11,500,000.

Revenue increased to $41,900,000 in 1969 from $40,400,000 the previous year. Administration, operation and maintenance expenses remained the same at $25,500,000.

Expenditures on capital account in 1969 totalled $17,600,000. More than half of it was provided from board funds.

By GEORGE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (WP) — Gov. Keith Miller of Alaska told 150 politicians and businessmen from his state Tuesday that he had White House endorsement for his plan to get around legal obstacles holding up the road for a billion dollar oil pipeline across the state.

The politicians and businessmen were in Washington to lobby for the pipeline. Miller told them that Russell Train, chairman of President Nixon's Council on environmental Quality, was among those who approved.

The plan, which Miller said he discussed with Train and with White House officials during the day, is for Alaska to build the $120 million road on its own rather than wait for the consortium of oil companies to do it.

U.S. District Court Judge George L. Hart Jr. ruled on April 13 that neither the pipeline nor access road could be built beacuse legal requirements for them had not been met.

Three conservation organizations—the Environmental Defence Fund, Friends of the Earth and The Wilderness Society — successfully argued in their suit that the proposed 200-foot width for the pipeline road was wider than the mineral leasing act of 1920 allowed.

Asked why the court's decision still did not hold Miller said in an interview that the ruling covered only the road the oil companies intended to build for the line.

Alaska, he said, is free to build a secondary road on its own.

The road, however, "will be in the ballpark" of the pipeline, Miller said. He told his fellow Alaskans lunching at the new Senate office building that they should not refer to the road as a "haul road" for the pipeline but as a secondary highway for the state.

Train himself, in a memo he sent Jan. 19 to the White House when he was undersecretary of interior, said that lifting the land freeze "did not give TAPS (the Trans-Alaska Pipeline System — the oil companies that plan to build the road and pipeline) "any new rights whatsoever. It is simply a formal step which must be taken prior to action on a permit proper."

Conservationists regard the pipeline as an early test of the Nixon administration's seriousness on the environment issue.

Miller, a Republican who is running for re-election, headed the lobbying blitz that began in Washington on Monday. Alaskans stated their case for the pipeline to adminstration officials and key members of Congress.

Miller next will ask the Alaskan state legislature to approve taking $120 million for the pipeline road out of the $900 million kitty obtained from leasing North Slope land to several oil companies. The 366-mile road would run from the Yukon River to Prudhoe Bay.

$30 Million To Attack Pollution

VANCOUVER (CP) — MacMillan Bloedel Ltd. plans to spend $30,000,000 on pollution control in the next five years, company chairman J. V. Clyne, announced Tuesday.

Addressing the annual meeting of shareholders, Clyne described pollution as one of the "very pressing problems which confront the industry today."

"It is a world problem because neither water nor air is static," he said.

"It must be recognized that pollution is largely the result of growth in population. As man's needs increase the more he encroaches upon nature.

"For instance, if he did not require fibre it would not be necessary to cut down trees nor to build pulp mills which, under the present state of science, certainly cause impurities in air and water, as do many other industrial plants."

'NOT ONLY CULPRIT'

He pointed out, however, that "industry as a whole is not the only culprit in the matter of pollution. Nor is it the major culprit."

Clyne referred to United States Public Health Service figures which showed that manufacturing industries produce about 16 per cent of air pollution, public transportation and power generation add 17 per cent, and the remaining two-thirds of air pollution "is created by the general population through the use of motor cars, heating systems and refuse disposal, including municipal incinerators."

Since the U.S. is more highly industrialized than Canada, industry in this country must be responsible for less than the 16 per cent for which industry is responsible in the U.S., he said.

Rules Outlined For Pesticide Collection

Regulations for collection of unwanted pesticides by students have been issued to all schools in the province by British Columbia education department.

In a circular mailed this week, careful wrapping and containment procedures are described as "essential" for studets carrying out door-to-door collection of pesticides.

The directive follows a pesticide clean-up campaign earlier this month in Greater Victoria where high school students collected five tons of insect and weed killers.

2.5 MILLION CAUGHT IN LATE TAX FILING CRUSH

OTTAWA (CP) — With only one day remaining before the deadline for filing income tax returns, federal figures show about 2,500,000 taxpayers are caught in the crush.

The revenue department reported Tuesday that 6,469,500 personal income tax returns had been received by Monday and 3,827,270 of them had been processed.

At the same date last year, 6,196,000 returns were received and 3,553,545 processed. The revenue department expects close to 9,000,000 returns to be filed this year.

The deadline is Thursday.

The revenue department so far has made out refund cheques totalling $355,819,843 for 3,201,567 taxpayers claiming overpayments. These figures are running ahead of last year's 3,020,021 taxpayers for whom refund cheques totalled $285,296,635.

The revenue department's computer section is working around the clock. Its complete file on taxpayers with income and payment records for past years is run through the computer every two days, checking current returns.

Another Devaluation Faces U.K.

LONDON (Reuters) — Former British trade minister Lord Shawcross warned today that another devaluation of the pound is possible within 18 months.

Shawcross, a trade minister and attorney-general in a previous Labor government, said his prediction several months ago that Britian was in for a period of runaway inflation had been proved right. He was addressing the Wider Share Ownership Council.

He added: "I will risk it again and say that I am afraid now that if the underlying trends in our economy are not corrected, in 18 months time or so we shall be faced again with the possibility of a further devaluation."

Prime Minister Wilson said Tuesday night devaluation will not occur.

He assured leaders of the Trades Union Congress that there will be no devaluation of the pound to pay Britain's way into the European Common Market.

Asylum Granted

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States has granted political asylum to a sea-going Soviet waitress who was flown here for treatment from a Russian trawler after taking an overdose of barbiturates. Diana Palens, 25, is recovering in hospital here. Soviet embassy officials visited her twice last week to ask that she withdraw her request for asylum, but she refused.

Students Help—They Listen to Your Troubles

EDMONTON (CP) — "You might think it takes a lot of nerve to call us and spill your troubles," the advertisement reads.

"Well it does—but it's worth it."

The advertisement is for Students Help, a volunteer organization of students at the University of Alberta whose members sit by the phone from 7 p.m. to midnight every day, waiting to hear about whatever crisis someone might be suffering.

The two-year-old service has heard them all. Nothing seems to take them off guard, whether it be an appeal for an abortion or a request for movie starting times.

"You name it and we've probably heard it," says John Cann, the 27-year-old co-ordinator. "If we can't help you, we can refer you to someone who can."

The service is designed to play a dual role: to provide a sympathetic ear and, when necessary, act as a referral service.

Problems presented have included suicide threats, incest, pregnancy, romantic difficulties and academic problems.

"Sometimes it's enough just to let the person talk," Mr. Cann said. "Other times we have to refer them to someone with professional training in the area of the problem."

DON'T CONDONE IT

As for abortions, "Well, let's just say we don't like saying no.

"We don't condone abortions, but I personally would hate to see anyone left with no alternative but the back-room abortionist."

Counsellors are chosen by Mr. Cann, an education student with a BA degree in psychology and sociology. He says he looks for people with "experience."

"It doesn't really matter what kind of experience, just experience."

Some of the counsellors have been trained by specialists in emotional crises to be able to be more effective in their jobs.

"There are signs you can pick out," Mr. Cann said, "like the suicide monotone.

"When you hear that, you know you are talking to someone who is pretty upset."

But there is no way of telling whether a potential suicide has been prevented or if it will end as "a crumpled body under the High Level Bridge."

'Negative List' Sparks Angry Response in Trinidad

By ROBERT C. MAYNARD

PORT OF SPAIN (AP) — "I'm so sorry to disappoint you, sir," the manager of the stationary store said, but we don't have the notebooks you ordered. The clerk who took you order, sir, was not aware the notebooks are on the negative list."

Farther down Frederick Street, the main business avenue here, a visitor asked the manager of an appliance

"Oh, that's too bad, sir," the manager said, "we are only allowed to import the 17-cubic-foot and bigger. The smaller ones are on the negative list. They have been banned for months now."

Nobody shouted "Down with the negative list" this week when poor blacks and East Indians here tried to topple the black government of Trinidad and Tobago. They shouted "Black Power" because it simplified their message of frustration.

But beneath black power as a slogan the angry ones among the nearly one million people are expressing their disillusionment with the economic policies of Sir Eric

People Muttering

Williams and his People's National Party.

"Promises, promises," one man shouted, expressing the feeling of many. "All you hear from Eric Williams is last," a motorist said. Others confirm his complaint.

Hundreds of consumer items are on the negative list. Nobody but the government knows for sure how extensive the list is and the government won't tell. A manager of one of the leading appliance stores explained how he learns an item is banned:

promises. The people tired of promises. Promises don't cook in a pot. Promises don't feed babies."

Even though the mutiny in the army is over and the streets are quiet here, a dusk-to-dawn curfew is still in effect and the government is on the alert against any new attempt to overthrow it.

At least a score of "black power" leaders remain in jail during a "state of emergency" declared by Sir Eric. The modern and highly regarded constitution has been set to one side.

The people who now cannot shout on the street corners, as they did for seven weeks until public meetings were banned, mutter softly about conditions here. They say things have not been this bad since the British left in 1956.

One of the chief complaints

is the negative list. Williams says he wants to encourage local industries because he feels that would mean more jobs and more jobs would turn around a sluggish economy. One-fourth of the labor force is unemployed and another one-fourth is underemployed. The employed are unhappy. A cane worker earns $1.75 a day. Inflation gallops.

The negative list creates a monopoly for any company willing to set up a business manufacturing any consumer item. For example, a local franchiser makes Dunlop tires. Therefore, no other brand of tires can be imported to Trinidad. That is what the negative list means.

"It used to be you could buy any tire for $18 ($9 U.S.) and it would be a good tire. Now you can only buy a Dunlop and it costs $42. And the thing is no good, it doesn't

"If you want to import a certain brand of radio, you apply for an import licence from the Control Board. It comes back stamped 'not approved.' That's how you know it's on the negative list."

Government critics charge that the negative list has contributed mightily to Trinidad's runaway inflation. They say it has put dozens of consumer items out of the reach of working Trinidadians.

And the critics also charge that the negative list has not helped to create new jobs. On the cotrary, they claim, the unemployment problem has grown worse in the years since the government began sanctioning monopolies.

The government has remained silent since the "emergency." All inquiries are now referred to the government information office. The government information office is shut tight.

But evidence abounds that Trinidad's economy is being eroded by inflation on one hand and unemployment on the other. Critics say Williams has turned over the economy to American and British businesses.

"Yes, we have a black government," the opposition shouts, "but we have a white economy." And that is what the cry of black power means in a country with a black government. It means that many poor blacks believe their country's economy is serving the interests of outsiders and that the poor are bearing the burden.

Williams is given high marks in one area, though, and that is education. Some 30,000 Trinidadians a year graduate from high school now. But they must wait four years before they earn their first pay cheque.

There are simply no jobs to be had for them, so they stand around on Frederick Street and complain. This group of young men form the bulk of the demonstrators.

The remainder of the dissidents are workers who say wages are too low and consumers who say prices are too high. Together they have become a potent force against the Williams' government.

Their marches were building in intensity until last Tuesday. That day, the government shut off the marches and called the army.

The army didn't come. It mutinied instead. The government's sole reliable protection now is the police. How reliable they will be in a tight squeeze remains to be seen.

Underlying all the furor

Wages Too Low

here is the Trinidadians' aversion to violence. Despite all the recent uproar in this country of a million people, only four were killed, and only two of those were killed intentionally.

"Trinidadians can't stand the thought of killing each other," one long-time resident said. "They're all some way or another related to each other.

"The Indians and the blacks are all mixed together (products of the mixture called Dougla) and it's hard for them to get angry enough to strike at each other, far less kill."

One disheartened revolutionary has given up on his countrymen. "How are you going to make revolution in a country where people won't kill anybody?" he asked.

Rightists Emerge Again in France

By DAVIE LAULIGHT

PARIS (Reuters) — The extreme right is emerging again in France in street battles, commando raids, rumor campaigns and an energetic propaganda program.

In March, young toughs raided a theatre here and beat up members of the audience, assaulted a liberal priest on the pavement outside his church and smashed furnishings in another church where a modern "folk mass" was being celebrated.

At the same time, anti-Semitic rumor campaigns have swept several French communities, socially isolating some long-time Jewish residents and damaging their businesses.

On the political front, a new organization—Ordre Nouveau (New Order)—has launched a recruiting and propaganda drive, announcing its aim as "cleaning up the leftist mess."

INVITE FASCISTS

New Order planned a mass meeting at a Paris hall, inviting representatives of Adolf von Thadden's West German New Democratic party, which has many former Nazi members, the Spanish Falange and Italian neo-Fascists.

Police banned the meeting, averting a possible bloody clash as leftists prepared to turn out in force.

The raid on the theatre protested a play about the late Eva Peron, wife of the former Argentine president, in which she was played by a man. Police said the attackers belonged to New Order, and later arrested one of its members.

New order, created only about three months ago, already appears more powerful than older extreme right groups. Within a few weeks of its foundation it claimed 1,700 dues-paying members and thousands more supporters.

Members include former activists for the "Occident" (West) movement, banned in the autumn of 1968 for disturbing public order.

Spokesmen for New Order and most smaller rightist groups reject the label Fascist and say their main aim is to counter the threat from the left.

SEE CLASH COMING

The possibility of a head-on clash between the extreme right and France's powerful Communist party grew sharper at the beginning of April after a raid on a Communist-sponsored Paris muesum devoted to Lenin. The attackers smashed exhibits.

The Communists reacted with a protest rally.

Police are still investigating the origins of anti-Semitic rumors that swept the cities of Orleans, Amiens and Dinan in recent months. The rumors, identical each time, said Jewish merchants were part of an international white-slavery ring, and that young women had disappeared after going alone to their shops.

In each case, police announced that there has been no such disappearances.

Some French commentator believe authorities struck a blow against the right-wing movement when they arrested 16 men, including former members of the Secret Army Organization, and charged them with a series of bank robberies.

The OAS once waged a violent fight against independence for Algeria. Two of the men arrested last month, Jean-Jacques Susini and Gilles de Buscia, previously were convicted of taking part in an OAS plot to assassinate former president Charles de Gaulle.

COLONY ON MOON PREDICTED

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dr. George Mueller, former director of the U.S. manned space flight program, anticipates a permanent colony on the moon by the end of the century including "fairly nice residences there" by that time.

Mueller, now vice-president of McDonnell Douglas Corp., made the prediction Tuesday before an address to a conference of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers.

He told reporters the moon colony could be established with the aid of space shuttles. The next step toward this goal, he said, would be development of a "skylab" in space.

He described this as a kind of "space motel" in which scientists could live and work for long periods.

Arson Class Added

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The fire department has added a new arson listing: political arson. Battalion Chief John Byrne said that until now there were five reasons for arson: fraud, spite, vanity, pyrotechnic and crime cover-up. The new category Byrne said: "It's a revolution on a gradually increasing basis and it needs a name of its own."

Door To Vote Open

By DAVE BLAIKIE

FREDERICTON (CP) — When the New Brunswick legislature prorogued last week, Premier Louis J. Robichaud left the province abuzz with speculation he would call a general election in 1970.

Although he has until late 1972 before his five-year mandate expires, there were many who felt at prorogation a 1970 election was probable and the only question was when.

Perhaps the clearest indication came in a comment the premier dropped shortly after the spring session ended.

"I cannot say at the present time whether there will be an election this year or not," he told reporters. ". . . . The door is wide open. Anything can happen."

While non-committal, his remarks at least confirmed earlier views that he was considering an election.

At prorogation, there were 29 Liberals, 26 Conservatives, one independent Liberal and two vacancies in the 58-seat legislature.

The independent Liberal was J. Wilfred Senechal who, after bolting Liberal ranks last fall, walked back across the legislature floor late in the session to rejoin government supporters. He will hold independent Liberal status until a caucus decision on whether or not to accept him back into the party.

VACANCIES A FACTOR

The two vacancies could prove telling factors on when the premier decides to call his third election since coming to power in 1960.

They exist in traditionally Conservative Albert and in the uncommitted riding of Restigouche.

Most observers see little hope of Albert switching to the Liberals and give the Tories at least a chance of picking up Restigouche, vacated by the March 29 death of Public Works Minister Raymond Doucett.

Under the Elections Act, a byelection must be called within six months of any vacancy being declared. The Albert vacancy was declared Feb. 26 and the Restigouche vacancy this month.

Conservative victories in both ridings would narrow house standings to 30 Liberal and 28 opposition members, a strong reason why many feel the premier may opt for a general election.

In those circumstances, with the Speaker removed from government ranks and voting only to break a tie, it would mean a slim 29-28 margin.

PROMISED NEW BUDGET

Prior to Mr. Doucett's death, Mr. Robichaud said his government would bring down another budget before going to the polls.

After hitting taxpayers with a $29,400,000 tax boost in 1969, the government brought down a record $449,000,000 budget this year without major tax changes.

The budget included a capital works program of $79,500,000, more than half of it alloted for highway construction.

The long-awaited announcement of medical care insurance, scheduled to start next Jan. 1, was made and the government counter-acted growing pollution concern by imposing a clean-up deadline for pulp and mining industries.

Also announced was a major one-year federal-provincial agreement, producing $125,000,000 in infrastructure projects, which the premier said would be the forerunner of "a much bigger and broader" four-year agreement to be negotiated with Ottawa this year.

There was a white paper on social welfare and social development which is to form the basis for reform legislation next year after public views on the document are gathered.

In addition, concrete results of growth centre planning in both Saint John and Moncton are expected to begin surfacing during 1970.

NOTED ACHIEVEMENTS

And throughout the session, the government focused attention on major achievements of its decade in office.

All events helped spur election speculation but it was the premier himself who changed the flow of rumors to a flood.

During debate on an opposition non-confidence motion, he dropped a series of election hints, capped with a suggestion at one point that he might cut off debate with an election call.

No announcement came but, on the final day of the session, he chose again to fan rumors when he told the opposition:

"There's not going to be an election very shortly—unless I'm provoked."

Cambodia Chiefs Provoking Crisis To Scare Up U.S. Military Aid

By STANLEY KARNOW

HONG KONG (WP) — A familiar ploy in this part of the world is the self-fulfilled prophesy, which consists of provoking a crisis in order to make it come true.

This gambit, frequently contrived by Asian generals seeking to scare up American military help, is now being played by the Cambodian leaders who siezed power last month. And their tactic seems to be working.

Current trends suggest that President Nixon, despite his desire to lower the U.S. profile in the Far East, is edging towards a commitment to Cambodia. The prospect is a wider Indochina war that a measure of restraint could have prevented.

Within recent days, apparently aiming to prepare U.S. opinion for such a move, administration spokesmen have suddenly discovered that the Communists are invading Cambodia — even though North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops have occupied large parts of that country for years.

Meanwhile, White House pronouncements indicate that the president may well decide to deliver weapons to the new Phnom Penh regime and perhaps authorize B-52 strikes against the Communist sanctuaries in Cambodian border areas adjacent to South Vietnam.

If initiated, the U.S. military aid program is bound to require American technicians and advisers. Inevitably, too, there will be a clamor for special forces teams and covert operatives and logistical units to support them and other outfits to support the logistical units.

The chances of Cambodia becoming another Vietnam are remote. The likelihood of its spiralling into a situation far worse than the Laos mess is entirely plausible.

It would be unfair, of course, to allege that Premier deliberately plotted to turn Cambodia into a battlefield when they ousted Prince Sihanouk the former chief of state. Instead, they blundered into their present predicament as a result of two miscalculations.

First, by ambitiously deploying their ragtag army against the superior North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces implanted on their territory, they invited the Communist counter-attack that threatens their very survival at the moment.

Secondly, by encouraging or at least allowing their troops to massacre hundres of Vietnamese civilians resident in Cambodia, they compelled a fierce chauvinistic reaction not only in Hanoi but from Saigon officials.

In short, they upset the equilibrium that had preserved a fragile yet tolerable peace in Cambodia for years. This left them no option except to appeal for U.S. assistance — an idea they may have had tucked away in the back of their minds from the start.

One of the absurd ironies in this alarming development is 4hat many of the same Cambodian army officers now asserting their anti-communist credentials tolerated and even collaborated with the Viet Cong until recently.

As lately as 1968, even after Sihanouk himself had admitted to a communist presence on his soil, Cambodian officers in frontier zones continued to deny that the Viet Cong was violating cambodia's borders.

The simple reason for these denials was that the impoverished Cambodian army was selling rice, weapons and other commodities to the Communists as well as providing them with transport facilities.

Over the past year, however, a number of factors prompted Cambodian officers to alter their attitudes toward the communists.

The restablishment of relations with the United States last summer evoked a nostalgia for American aid, which Sinahouk had rejected in 1963. Moreover, allied successes in Vietnam made a Communist victory seem less certain.

Most significantly, Cambodia's military and civilian elite was growing more and more frustrated with Sihanouk's ruinous economic policies, his wearisome posturings and his tedious oratory.

But this sense of frustration was not shared by the subsistence-level peasants, who revered Sihanouk as a diety. A better issue to arouse them was tribal passion — or, as political science textbooks call it, nationalism.

Thus the Vietnamese, feared and hated by the Cambodians for centuries, were brought into focus as targets. And the Vietnamese Communists, long the Cambodian army clientele, were fingered to give the xenophobic campaign a convenient ideological gloss.

It may be, as the administration appears to be arguing at present, that only U.S. intervention can save Cambodia from an imminent Communist takeover.

A broader and more pertinent question raised by the Cambodian dilemma, however, is whether the "Nixon doctrine" portends American involvement in any country whose government itself induces its own disaster.

BATHROOM VIEW FINE INSIDE OR OUTSIDE

NEWMARKET, England (UPI) — Builders of a new housing development have agreed to replace plain bathroom windows with frosted ones after complaints from a group of women tenants. A spokesman said the plain windows were installed on the advice of an "international architect" who argued that residents should have a view from their bathroom.

Million Refugees Seeking a Home

By KENNETH L. WHITING

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — A restless tide of hapless humanity ebbs and flows across Africa. Some walk alone, others in columns of black misery carrying their meagre possessions and malnourished children.

More than 1,000,000 refugees have been uprooted from a dozen countries. Some observers think the figure is much higher.

Like so many other problems in Africa, the flow of refugees has no immediate solution. In fact, say the experts, the number is more likely to increase than diminish.

The United Nations high commission for refugees tends some of the homeless, which at last count totalled 933,900.

MANY WALKED HOME

This figure does not include thousands displaced inside their own countries by terrorism or civil war. Nor does it cover the millions who still lead nomadic lives or hundreds of thousands of "voluntary" economic refugees who must leave impoverished homelands to find work elsewhere.

Also outside the latest official head count are tens of thousands of aliens kicked out of Ghana in recent weeks. As many as 200,000 of Ghana's 2,000,000 foreigners could be affected. They include Africans from Nigeria, Togo, Niger, Upper Volta and Dahomey. Many lived and worked in Ghana for decades.

More than 75,000 Nigerians trekked home, many of them sick, penniless and demoralized.

Many walked all the way. Truckers and operators of creaky "mammy wagons" increased fares as much as 400 per cent when the exodus began to haul deportees from Ghana across Togo and Dahomey to Nigeria. One truck overturned in Dahomey, killing 21 and injuring 60.

Many found they had no papers to re-enter their own country. Bribes were common, but often produced no results.

Uganda is one of the few countries where the refugee situation has improved slightly. Resettled on fertile land, many no longer need help. They are harvesting good crops, sending their children to school and paying taxes.

NOW PLANTING CROPS

A three-phase UN plan to assist the homeless has shown signs of success.

The first step is emergency settlement on the land. Food, clothing, shelter, seeds and simple agricultural tools are provided for those who will be fully integrated in the adopted land. Money for this usually comes from the Red Cross and other international organizations, since the country can't spare much cash for non-citizens. Sudanese refugees in Uganda, Angolans in Zambia and Mozambiquans in Tanzania now are in this stage.

The second phase includes the building of modest roads, bridges, water supplies and a few permanent buildings. Refugees now are planting their first crops. Uganda, Zambia and the Central African Republic have such settlements.

In the third phase, refugees attain the same economic standards as the original local population.

Burundi reached this last year when the resettlement program for Rwandans was expanded into a rural redevelopment project for everyone in the Mosso-Cankuso area.

Pranksters Up-Stage Royal Show

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters) — Pranksters in an outboard motor boat stole the show today as the Royal Family waited to watch a re-enactment of Captain James Cook's historic landing at Botany Bay near here 200 years ago.

Dressed in period costume and carrying a Union Jack, two young men raced for the shore, pursued by police boats and planted their flag before the official ceremony could get under way. Police later questioned the men.

The incident came just before the start of the Cook ceremony watched by a crowd of 20,000 people at Kurnell, 10 miles south of Sydney.

Cook's landing April 29, 1770, is generally regarded as the start of white settlement in Australia.

Tonight's Top Television Shows

NANNY AND THE PROFESSOR, 6 p.m., Channel 2. Nanny and the family pooch must break a stalemate. The professor has received a lucrative job offer and everyone is keeping a stiff upper lip about the prospect of moving to a new city.

DEBBIE REYNOLDS, 7:30 p.m., Channel 2. Debbie, with the full support of the neighborhood sandlot ball team, tackes city hall. The problem is the mayor's plan to turn the kids' sandlot into a flower garden.

THE ENGELBERT HUMPERDINCK SHOW, 8 p.m., Channel 8; 10 p.m., Channel 4. Highlights of Engel's hour include his own musical concert featuring songs like "A Taste of Honey," "We Kiss in a Shadow," and "What Now My Love"; a skit with Engel, Jack E. Leonard and Jack Wild about vaudeville; Juliet Prowse's "Tomorrow Never Knows"; Jack Wild's "Standing on the Corner"; and the new group called Blue Mink performing "Good Morning Freedom" and "I Can Feel It Baby."

BEVERLY HILLBILLIES, 8:30 p.m., Channels 7 and 12. (Repeat.) The folks are in the Ozarks fixing up for Elly May's wedding, when who should appear but Phil Silvers. Naturally, he plays a hustler out to con a few bucks from Jed and family. Phil rattles on in his customary fashion while the Clampetts listen politely, and if you've missed Phil on the tube, tune him in—he's just the same as ever.

MEDICAL CENTRE, 9 p.m., Channel 12. (Repeat.) Big name guest stars Walter Pidgeon and Viveca Lindfors add a touch of glamor to the hospital atmosphere. Pigeon plays an ambassador with a bad ticker which requires surgery, but his son opposes any such move. Doc Gannon first tries the reasoning approach with the son, and then brings in outside help in the person of Viveca Lindfors, a great and good friend of the ambassador. Miss Lindfors turns on the power, and Linden Chiles seems strong enough in the role of the young troublemaker.

MUSIC HALL, 9 p.m., Channel 5. "Phil Harris Presents Bobbie Gentry." Pleasant homey musical hour exudes a country atmosphere. With Phil Harris as your host and Bobbie Gentry as his special sidekick, you'll hear a country medley from the cast; solos from John Hartford, Charley Pride, Bernadette Peters, Bobbie Gentry and Phil Harris; in addition to duets from Bobbie and John Hartford ("Natural to be Gone"); Bobbie and Bernadette ("Save the Country"); Phil's special number "Mr. Bojangles"; and bits of amiable chatter in between.

JOHNNY CASH SHOW, 9 p.m., Channel 4. There's a variety of song styles on the show tonight as rock singer Rick Nelson ("Come On In" and "Easy to be Free"); hard country singer Loretta Lynn ("I Know How"); guitarist Chet Atkins with a country medley as well as a special song-and-poem duet his host wrote particularly for him; and songwriter Kiris Kristofferson ("The Pilgrim" and "No One Will Ever Know"); join Johnny Cash tonight.

TONIGHT'S MOVIES

5:30: Channel 12: Men of the Fighting Lady (1954 drama). Van Johnson, Walter Pidgeon. Routine war film about an aircraft carrier and the men assigned to her.

5:30: Channel 13: Wayne Murder Case (1938 mystery). Regis Toomey. Police match wits with some desperate killers — poor mystery.

9:00 p.m.: Channel 7: A Gathering of Eagles (1962 drama). Rock Hudson, Mary Peach, Rod Taylor. A stern officer's devotion to duty causes complications in his home life — fine aerial camerawork.

9:00: Channel 8: The Geisha Boy (1958 comedy). Jerry Lewis, Marie McDonald. An inept magician joins a USO unit touring the Orient.

11:30: Channel 7: The Pearl of Death (1944 mystery). Basil Rathbone, Nigel Bruce, Evelyn Ankers. A precious pearl is stolen from the British Museum—one of the better Holmes thrillers.

11:50 Channel 2: King Kong (1933 Fantasy), Robert Armstrong, Fay Wray, Bruce Cabot. The famous shocker about the giant ape displayed in New York and his escape, creating havoc in the city.

12:01: Channel 6: Movie to be announced.

BOSUN'S WIDE WORLD OF SAILING NOW FEATURE

CAL 29. Newest of the famous Lapworth designed CALBOATS Outright WINNER of recent STRAIT OF GEORGIA RACE. A race so rough — so very tough that only 23 out of 75 finished. CAL 29 — A big strong boat with lots of ballast — loads of space lots of GUTS. Sleeps 6-7 in a waltz-thru full headroom layout. Many brand new features. CRUISE in style, RACE TO WIN, SAILAWAY price includes powerful inboard engine, sails, pulpit, lifelines, full galley w. oven, ready to FLY $16,995. 386-1308 or 592-3161 or at the BOSUN'S docks in CLARK'S MARINA any Saturday or by appointment.

BONE DRY

8 hours at sea . . . the wind in the 30 to 40 knot range, Sail problems, heavy squall-knock down, main sail torn, green water everywhere . . . "HEY DAD! FINISHED IN THE SHOWER?" YUP! Just testing my new set of CANOR PLAREX WET WEATHER CLOTHING"

BOSUN'S LOCKER LTD.
580 Johnson
386-1308

The time has come, the walrus said,
To start a revolution:
NOT ships and shoes and sealing wax,
BUT
A brand-new-THINK-O LUTION!
To convocate the kindred souls
Who think the time is ripe
To mount some spoofs to mock the goofs
Who rule this mortal life!
For humor, then, we'll sally forth,
Proclaim our revolution.
And if, Forsyte, the chips fall right
We'll also end pollution!
(A NON-ad for NON-sailors)
Inserted on behalf of the COS by BOSUN'S: the NOW people for ALL sailors!

Harbor Commission Delegation Considered

By NEILL GADDES

Victoria and Esquimalt councils took a small step toward the establishment of a Victoria harbor commission Tuesday night when they decided to discuss sending a delegation to Ottawa with a brief outlining the proposal.

But the decision to discuss a delegation at their next council meetings did not come without definite reservations from some of the participants who attended the city hall meeting to review the Elworthy harbor commission report.

Harold Elworthy, chairman of Island Tug and Barge Limited, had the report prepared earlier this year at his own expense and the joint council meeting Tuesday night was to brief the councils.

Mayor Courtney Haddock noted at the beginning of the meeting that Elworthy had left for Europe earlier in the week and would not be back until the end of May.

Former Victoria alderman Ian Stewart speaking as an interested citizen, delivered a five-page statement describing the Elworthy report as putting forward some interesting material yet being "a barely superficial treatment of the central issue."

LAND USE ISSUE

He said the issue was not whether local control was better than outside control but what would be the best and highest land use of the harbor foreshore and leasehold area.

Mayor Haddock said he saw the issue as simply money going to Ottawa that, with a commission, would be kept in Victoria.

He said there were harbor commissions operating in Port Alberni, Nanaimo and New Westminster and these were "working well."

Stewart, who was chairman of the Capital Region Planning Board last year, noted that the commission, as set out in the federal Harbor Commission Act, would control all lands, buildings and other property within the limits of the harbor.

He said in his statement that "the report . . . assumes the best deal for Victoria is in the development of the port for if that were not the case then the objectives and the powers should be modified accordingly so as to leave with the city (as it should be) the power and responsibility to see to it that the foreshore" is developed at its highest and best use.

He pointed out that city council was politically responsible while the commission would not be and he termed this "a very important difference."

He felt that it is "inappropriate" at this time to decide the issue of a harbor commission without discussion with the property interests involved, if not with full public discussion.

He added that he had no argument with the report's desire to take over control and management of the Ogden Point docks but this was too limited to warrant a transfer.

Victoria City Manager Dennis Young also expressed concern about turning over municipal lands to the commission.

He said the city was involved in buying the Ocean Cement property on Wharf Street as well as owning 3½ acres around Fishermans' Wharf and considerable land in the Inner Harbor and along Belleville Street.

DEFINITION NEEDED

"Where could we draw the line?" he asked.

T. P. O'Grady, city solicitor, said there must be a definition of limits involving city property.

He referred to the Causeway and the Welcome-to-Victoria sign, saying he didn't expect these to be turned over to the commission.

Earlier, Ray Bryant, Elsworthy committee member and former mayor of Esquimalt, said that the advantage of a commission with a five-man board residing locally is that there would be direct representation in major policy-making.

He noted that presently the area is administered by several different groups.

DECISIONS BEING MADE

"Decisions are being made in Ottawa and it is hard to say or know who you are dealing with," he said.

Capt. G. R. Newell, Victoria and Esquimalt harbormaster and also an Elworthy committee member, listed what he termed his own pertinent reasons for a harbor commission.

He felt with a commission better decisions could be made locally within a week.

"If you get a definite commitment from Ottawa in one or two weeks, you are lucky," he added.

He said the Canadian National Railways, which now operate the Ogden Points docks, have ignored previous requests to upgrade dock facilities.

He said he was a member of a group that went to Vancouver two years ago to see CN management and they listened "but that's all."

Victoria Ald. Peter Pollen noted that there was a need for vitality in a town and this meant local control.

He described present harbor conditions as an "abominable disgrace."

AND NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN THAT, in case the Debentures specified in this Notice be not presented for redemption (in whole or in part as above provided) on the date of redemption above mentioned all interest thereon, or on the proportionate amount thereof to be redeemed, shall cease from and after the said date.

THE ATTENTION OF HOLDERS OF THE SAID 7% CONVERTIBLE SINKING FUND DEBENTURES, SERIES AA, IS DRAWN TO THE RIGHT OF CONVERSION TO WHICH THE HOLDERS OF THE SAID DEBENTURES ARE ENTITLED UNDER ARTICLE VI OF THE TRUST INDENTURE. In brief, the Trust Indenture provides that the holder of each of the said Debentures has the right to convert such Debenture into common shares of the Company at a rate of Seventy (70) such common shares as presently constituted for each One Thousand Dollar face value of the Debenture and the Debenture holder shall be entitled without demand to interest accrued on all such Debentures up to but not including the day of surrender of such Debenture for conversion.

THE TRUST INDENTURE ALSO PROVIDES THAT SUCH RIGHT OF CONVERSION MAY BE EXERCISED BY THE HOLDER OF EACH OF THE SAID DEBENTURES AT ANY TIME BEFORE THE CLOSE OF BUSINESS THREE (3) BUSINESS DAYS IMMEDIATELY PRECEDING THE REDEMPTION DATE FIXED IN THIS NOTICE FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE SAID DEBENTURES. The Trust Indenture further provides that the holder of any of the said Debentures shall exercise such right to convert Debentures into common shares of the Company by delivering to the said Trustee at its principal office in one of the Cities of Vancouver or Calgary, Canada:

(a) Such Debenture together with all unmatured coupons thereto pertaining and with, if the Debenture be registered as to principal and the said Trustee so requires, a power of attorney to transfer the same duly executed in blank to the satisfaction of the said Trustee;

(b) A written request signed by the holder of such Debentures or his attorney or agent duly appointed in writing to the satisfaction of the said Trustee exercising his right to convert such Debenture and naming the person or persons in whose name or names the said common shares are to be issued, the number to be issued to each and the address of each;

And, if the holder of such Debenture shall request the issuance of common shares in the name or names of a person or persons other than himself, by paying such further sum of lawful money of Canada as may be required to satisfy any transfer taxes or other governmental taxes or charges arising by reason thereof.

HOME GARDEN

Planning Planter for Balcony

By HILDA BEASTALL

Planters and tubs on balconies are wonderful ideas for gardeners with this limited space, for many fine plants can be grown in containers. No broad rules or generalities of culture can be laid down for success, nor a rigid list of suitable plant material. The whole situation is full of ifs, ands plus a few buts. First, my usual suggestion to have an agreement with the apartment block management as to whether planters containing soil are acceptable on the balcony. The weight factor (80 pounds per cubic foot, damp soil) and water drainage are both involved.

Hilda

Many apartments have a clause in the ease covering this.

One large container will be more successful than four small, since the greater volume of soil will remain in better condition both as regards moisture and bacterial interchange.

While a balcony is a prime spot to indulge personal whims as regards plants, the ultimate choice will be controlled by environmental factors.

This is why each balcony needs individual consideration.

Facing south or west, almost any sturdy tropical tree or shrub would make a fine showing — from April to October. But what of the winter?

If prepared to purchase new plants of interest each year, this might be the solution. Occasionally, with a mild winter and a wind sheltered spot free of frost, a plant might survive unscathed, making a fine specimen for three or four years.

This could happen with eucalyptus; it is almost hardy here, and its aromatic silver foliage can be used indoors. A graceful small tree, five or six feet tall on a sunny balcony gives double value with its delightfully patterned shadow.

The Australian Bottlebrush, one of the species of Callistemon, preferably one with a shrubby habit, would also take to a hot, rather dry and summer-windy balcony.

Like the eucalyptus, it would need protection in some of the harder winters.

Callistemon brachyandrus and C. rigidus are two species with long stiff branches of one-inch needle-like leaves, and crimson tufts of stamens for flowers at the ends of branches in summer.

Agagin it is not primarily the flowers which are the greatest attraction, but the form and habit, plus shadow pattern on walls.

As balcony plants neither of these two require more than an 18-inch diameter container (if grown alone) and about the same depth.

A gravelly, rather poor soil, with 50 per cent humus content, a place in the hot sun, and not a constantly damp soil — these are their rather simple needs.

For short term plants, both or either would be full of interest.

KARPIN ON BRIDGE

By FRED L. KARPIN

Possibly the best-played hand of the 1969 World Championship is the one diagrammed today. It occurred in the match between China and the United States. Sitting South for the United States was Billy Eisenberg. North was Bobby Goldman. Both of these players are members of the Dallas Aces, our nation's only full-time professional bridge team.

East-West vulnerable. East deals.

♠ A 8 7 5 2
♡ K 5 3 2

◇ J 9 7

SOUTH
♡ Q
◇ A 10 5 4 3 2
♣ A Q 9 8 7 3

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ◇	1 ♡	1 ♠
Pass	2 ♣	Pass	2 ♡
Pass	6 ♣	Pass	6 ◇
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ace of ♡.

South took a rather conservative two-club call on his rebid, but when North showed a good hand by cue-bidding West's heart suit, South leaped right to six clubs. North, having a very positive preference for diamonds, of course corrected to six diamonds.

Had West led any suit but hearts, declarer would have had smooth sailing, since he would then have been able to discard his heart queen on the board's ace of spades. But West did lead the heart ace, after which he continued with a low heart.

Eisenberg made an excellent play when he chose to ruff the second heart lead instead of capturing it with dummy's king. He next led a low trump to the board's king, felling West's queen en route. The question that now had to be resolved was whether the queen was a singleton, or a part of the doubleton Q-J.

Many players, had they been sitting in the South seat, would probably have led a trump off dummy at this point, and would then have made a guess as to whether catch the jack); or to finesse to play the ace (hoping to the 10, hoping that East had started with the J-9-7 of trumps. Eisenberg gave himself an extra chance—he laid down the board's king of hearts.

Had East possessed the singleton nine of trumps at this point, he might have trumped the heart king. When East declined to trump, discarding a spade instead, Eisenberg assumed that East had both the jack and the nine.

After discarding two clubs on the heart king and the spade ace, South cashed dummy's club king. He then finessed the trump 10, after which he ruffed a club. He returned to the South hand by ruffing a spade, and cashed the ace of trumps, picking up East's jack. And that was that.

Causes, Diagnosis Of Diarrhea Attack

By DR. WALTER ALVAREZ

In attempting to determine the cause of a diarrhea, much will depend on how long the diarrhea has lasted, how severe it is, whether there is fever with it (indicating an acute infection); whether there is blood coming from the bowel (indicating ulceration of the large bowel); whether the diarrhea is constant or intermittent; whether medicine that is upsetting his bowl; or whether the person has a great worry, or spells of fear.

To show how peculiar the problem can sometimes be, I remember a woman who, a while ago, came up from a distant state with a terrible diarrhea that handicapped her greatly. No expert in her city had been able to guess what the cause was.

In order to see if she had a food allergy, for a couple of days I had her on my so-called elimination diet, consisting of nothing but oatmeal with sugar and butter for breakfast, a broiled lamb chop for luncheon and dinner, some rice cooked with water for luncheon and dinner, and for dessert, some canned pears. She was not allowed any food or drink beside that, and the diarrhea went on unchecked. To make sure the cause was not a food, I had her go for a day with no food at all, and the diarrhea went on just the same.

Then, very fortunately as I kept asking her if there had been any change in her life when the diarrhea started, she said, "Well, yes; in a way." She explained that she had gone to a doctor whose office nurse was an enthusaiast on water drinking. This nurse had suggested that the patient drink eight big glasses of water a day, and that was the beginning of the diarrhea.

I immediately had the woman stop the water drinking, and that was the end of the diarrhea. In two days the lady went home well.

We have 1245 for the game today. Using all four digits each time, one of each but no other digits at all, you form expressions for consecutive numbers from one up.

Any arithmetical signs may be used, but no summation (that's not the simple plus) or factorial symbols. Don't forget powers, roots and decimals.

For example, 41-5 plus 2 is a solution for 38.

The limit without a break seems to be 133. I shall be glad to check solutions, and will send free hints to help in future games if requested.

FLASHBACK ON CANADA

Continental Dollars Met With Suspicion

By BOB BOWMAN

One of these stories recently mentioned the Quebec Act of 1774 and how it stirred up hostility in the British colonies to the south. They objected because the Roman Catholic Church was given complete freedom in Quebec. Congress passed a resolution stating that the act supported "impiety, bigotry, persecution, murder and rebellion in every part of the world."

Yet a few days later, Congress passed another resolution inviting the citizens of Quebec to "seize the opportunity presented to you by providence itself" and join the original 13 states in their rebellion against Britain. The resolution even suggested that Nova Scotia had already agreed to join.

It was confused public relations. Church leaders and seigneurs in Quebec appreciated the freedom that had been granted by Britain and urged their people to have nothing to do with the Americans. Nova Scotia, populated by many former Americans after the expulsion of the Acadians, was sympathetic but did not join the 13 states, as expected.

Then the Americans invaded. They captured Montreal easily, but Quebec survived the attack, although it was under siege from November, 1775, until May, 1776. In the meantime the Americans made another diplomatic effort to win the entire province. Benjamin Franklin arrived in Montreal on April 29 with Charles and John Carroll, two eminent Roman Catholics from Maryland. They promised the people of Quebec in speeches and posters were not impressed. In fact they disciplined a Mont-Britain. Quebec church leadmuch freedom under the U.S.A. as they had under real priest who alowed John Carroll to celebrate mass in his church.

Franklin brought a great deal of paper money with him. It was "Continental dollars" printed in the U.S., but regarded with great suspicion. Even the Montreal cab drivers would not accept them and they were said to be "not worth a Continental damn," an expression still in use today. Franklin's delegation had to leave Montreal in a hurry when the Royal Navy arrived at Quebec early in May.

Other events on April 29:

1627 — Company of New France was created to develop Canada.

1742 — Pierre de la Verendrye began search for route to Pacific.

SOLUTION THURSDAY

New Needs, New Hopes For Women

By ELIZABETH FORBES

How are we to explain the recent emergence of many women's liberation groups in different parts of Canada and the United States? This question is being asked not only by the women themselves but by men.

Forbes

There is no escaping the fact that the appearance of such groups must reflect some uneasiness in women, some strain in the relations between the sexes.

This is all the more puzzling because in many ways women, and North American women in particular, never had it so good.

Why then all this talk of problems and dilemmas? I suspect it is that freedom of choice for Canadian (and United States) women has been vastly maximized and much that has been mere talk and lip service in the past has now become real.

This growth of freedom of choice is hinged to the growth and change in the economy. Even more so perhaps to changing ideas in industry and the home, in marriage and child-bearing, and to the crumbling away of traditional attitudes and values.

These and other forces are producing a new pattern of life for women. And out of this new pattern and its accompanying new habits is emerging obviously new needs and new hopes and expectations.

Trends that have produced the new women's liberation groups in Canada are much the same in the United States.

They include the movement from rural to urban localities; the large increase of women, and especially married women, in the labor force, earlier age of marriage and consequently the earlier age at which women plan to stop having children.

It should also be remembered that in both Canada and the States there is a similarity in the way women are ignored when it comes to top-drawer positions.

We find few women at the top in political and economic arenas although there are large numbers at lower, supervisory levels and in key positions in community organizations.

In both Canada and the United States, the battle for the franchise (long ago now), for control of property and so on, has resulted in legislation which guarantees the rights of women in many fields.

However, at the level of everyday life, women still are the victims of discrimination. Until now this has been expressed mainly in terms of unequal pay for equal work. But recently many more discriminations have been identified.

Some of the new women's liberation groups are asking only for equality on an economic level. Others go to the radical extreme of overthrow of the family unit.

Abortion repeal, end of discrimination by law and business practices, reform of the economic and social system and better ways of caring for the children of working mothers, all have banner-waving adherents in various parts of the country.

At their best these groups are made up of well-mannered moderates out to reform—not to revolutionize.

At the other extreme there have been bra burnings, bitter and profane name-callings and restless street gatherings.

There is no easy way to laugh all this off. Make no mistake, these so-called liberation groups are for keeps. If not in their present form, then they will re-appear again in another form, as long as discriminations exist.

Let me quote the words of Rita Hauser, United States representative on the United Nations Commission for Human Rights, who says, "There is discrimination—there's no question about it—both discrimination which is illegal, and the legal kind in the form of attitude."

Mrs. Hauser says it is a good thing that "the conscience of (North) America is being awakened."

As it happens, she isn't a member of any liberationist group. She thinks the radicals amongst them "do more harm than good" and she believes that the way women are going to get rid of discriminations against them is to appeal to men's sense of fairness and justice, by doing their jobs "so darn well," men will have to accept them—and their ideas for reforms.

Sandbags Dot Every Street Corner

PHNOM PENH (AP) — Outside Cambodia's department of horticulture and tree care is a sandbag bunker with a sentinel who has vigilantly fixed a bayonet to his Chinese rifle.

He pokes the bayonet over the top of the sandbags. His eyes are narrowed in anticipation.

An American who walked in front of the building heard the sound of a safety catch being snapped. There was the same sound in front of a bank a little farther down the road and a menacing glare from another guard.

The sandbags are on almost every corner now, little fortresses in a town that had forgotten about war for 16 years.

An old Frenchman who remembers Phnom Penh during the days of the Indochina War in the 1950s says the Cambodians seem to have put the sandbags in the same places as the French. But he said the French had some important colonial services in buildings that now are not strategically significant.

In the mornings, Phnom Penh residents ride to work on bicycles and in pedicabs, a rolling mass of khaki and beige in the areas where there are government offices, because all civil servants now dress like soldiers.

There are American, French and Communist Chinese fatigue uniforms. The women wear them, too.

Many men wear pistols, tucking a small holster in the belt and draping the shirt over it for discretion.

Government office workers take military training in the streets and parks during the afternoon. Platoons of clerks march through a Buddhist shrine and park called the Phnom. Others stretch out on the grass in front of the information ministry or in the gutter behind it for rifle instruction.

There are some gigglers, but most of the trainees' faces are reasonably intent. Their attitude is a lot like the war here — every day it is getting easier to take more seriously.

Lang Sees Wheat Selling Well

WINNIPEG, Man. (UPI) — This year is shaping up to be one of Canada's "best" years for foreign wheat sales, according to Otto Lang, minister responsible for the Canadian Wheat Board.

Addressing the first annual meeting of the Canada Grains Council here, Lang said contracts now being negotiated should produce a "substantial level of bookings for shipment in the new crop year."

Adequate Health Care A Civil Right—Report

TORONTO (CP) — Health services are a right of all Ontario residents and must be available regardless of location, income or other social circumstances. The Ontario government must guarantee standards of quality and the medical profession must get in tune with the times.

These messages came through clearly in the Ontario legislature Tuesday when what possibly was the most comprehensive report on health services in the history of Canada was tabled.

In down-to-earth language, pulling no punches, a three-man "committee on the healing arts" noted that when a person is ill, the first one he turns to is his family doctor—but there are not enough family doctors. The committee made recommendations it thought would attract more medical students to that field.

Then the patient worries about his bill—and the committee said there should be a limit. It said the man who does the repair job should not have a free hand in setting compensation.

And, said the committee, there should be a commissioner —a sort of health ombudsman —to investigate and adjudicate complaints between patient and doctor and between one branch of the medical profession and another.

MEANING FOR CANADA

Product of 3½ years' study, the report made 351 other recommendations on the control and practice of every profession and occupation which affects the health of Ontarians. While it dealt only with Ontario, its implications are applicable throughout Canada.

The committee was composed of Chairman Ian R. Dowie, a businessman; Prof. M. C. Urquhart of Queen's University, Kingston, and Prof. Horace Krever of the University of Western Ontario, London.

The report's recommendations included:

—The government should decide whether drug and pharmacy services should be included in publicly-financed health insurance.

—Compulsory examinations should be abolished for immigrants from countries where medical standards meet Canadian requirements.

—Educational programs for the healing arts should be placed under the jurisdiction of provincial education authorities.

The committee noted that there is a decline in the number of doctors entering general practice and recommended adoption of educational programs to make personal or family practice a specialist category with appropriate recognition and financial incentives.

It also suggested that the "development of a higher grade medical worker such as a nurse with post-graduate training to assist the general or family physician in many of the routine tasks would be desirable."

On medical fees:

"With the advent of publicly-financed health insurance, the committee believes that no longer can professional fees be established unilaterally. There must be a continuing liaison between government and the professions to ensure that fees for health services are equitable both to the practitioners and to the public."

Florida Mounts Pollution War

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — To people in colder, dirtier climes, Florida has always been a subtropic dreamland of clear blue skies, sparkling waters leaping with game fish, flamboyant flowers, and wildlife roaming in abundance across forests and swamps.

From everywhere, they came by millions, many as tourists who fell in love with this land of islands and palm trees and returned to settle down. On the southeast Florida Gold Coast, a solid chain of cities rose out of the swamp. Around Tampa Bay on the Gulf of Mexico, they built a teeming megalopolis.

As their numbers mushroomed, they unwittingly began to degrade and destroy almost everything that had drawn them here.

Industrial chimneys, jet aircraft and cars clogging streets of cities that receive 21,000,000 visitors a year filled once pure air with noxious gases. Human sewage, industrial wastes, and irrigation water thick with fertilizer, pesticides and muck befouled lakes, streams, bays and oceans. Famed fishing waters died. Drainage of vital marshlands took a deadly toll of birds and animals.

So nature lovers, united for the first time, have launched a massive fight to halt pollution and somehow find the road back toward an environment healthy for all creatures.

In just a few months, the battle has brought these results:

—Under intense pressure from conservationists, the U.S. government forced a halt to construction of a Miami super jetport that opponents claim would have posed a serious pollution threat to the wildlife of Everglades National Park.

—The Florida Power and Light Co. was ordered by a federal-state conference to prove that thermal pollution will not lay waste to Biscayne Bay before its nuclear power plant at Turkey Point can go into operation.

—In an unprecedented action, the state will drain, clean out and restore 30,000-acre Lake Apopka near Orlando. Once famed for its fighting bass, the lake that nature took thousands of years to create was killed in a generation by municipal and agricultural wastes.

BIG UPSET RECORDED IN MINE UNION VOTING

GLACE BAY, N.S. (CP) — John (Jake) Campbell scored a major upset in run off voting for June elections in district 26, United Mine Workers of America, Tuesday by defeating incumbent president W. H. (Bull) Marsh.

Campbell received 461 votes to 363 for Marsh at No. 26 colliery, the largest mine in the district.

Tuesday's voting was the third and final step in preparation for the June 16 election. To get on the ballot for a district election a candidate must win the nomination in at least one local.

Long, Bitter UAW Strike At Wallaceburg May End

WALLACEBURG, Ont. (CP) — One of the longest and most bitter disputes in the history of the United Auto Workers union in Canada could end tonight when workers who have been on strike for almost two years at North American Plastics Co. vote on a tentative agreement.

The agreement was reached at a mediation meeting Tuesday between representatives of the company and the 330 workers. Details will not be disclosed until they are presented to union members tonight.

The workers went on strike at the automobile parts manufacturing plant May 19, 1968. The plant continued to operate with non-union members.

PICKET LINES HUGE

A series of violent union protests followed and some strikers were convicted in area courts.

The dispute came to a head last month when the Ontario Labor Relations Board threw out a bid by the company to have the union decertified.

The long and bitterly fought strike at one time saw as many as 1,000 union members on the picket lines.

The UAW claimed that Michael J. Ladney, president and owner of Plastics Molding Co. of Detroit, the Wallaceburg firm's parent company, was campaigning to defeat the union.

WORM HUNT PRODUCES A BURIED BANG

GOSHEN, Ind. (UPI) — He may not catch many fish with it, but a Goshen man caught the interest of police with what he found while digging for worms.

The man, who was not identified, told police he dug up several cases of dynamite buried on the outskirts of the city.

Police said the explosives had apparently been underground for quite a while.

Sisters Fined For Disturbance Outside Hotel

Two sisters received identical suspended sentences with two-year probations Tuesday as well as $20 fines for their part in a disturbance outside a downtown hotel over 10 days ago.

Judge William Ostler gave Joanne G. Bradley, 19, of 493 Ker, and her 18-year-old sister, Bonnie Davidson, of the same address, the suspended sentences with the probation for an incident in the street outside the Royal Olympic Hotel, 642 Johnson, April 18.

Mrs. Bradley pleaded guilty April 20 to obstructing a police officer while Miss Davidson pleaded guilty to assaulting a police officer.

They each pleaded guilty at the same time to causing a disturbance and Ostler fined them $20.

Police testified when the two appeared earlier that Mrs. Bradley tried to pull a prisoner away from Sgt. John L. Maybin during a fracas in front of the hotel about 10 p.m. April 18.

She was arrested but escaped from the police car into the crowd that had formed. Shortly after she was rearrested in the 600-block Fisgard for causing a disturbance.

Miss Davidson, police said, got between Constable Morrison H. Curry and several people he had arrested and slapped and kicked the officer.

She was arrested for assaulting Curry as well as causing a disturbance by shouting.

When the two appeared April 20 they were led from the court in tears and near hysterics, which Ostler termed "reprehensible" conduct Tuesday, when they learned they would have to stay in jail until their sentences were imposed.

Both accused apologized Tuesday for their earlier behavior.

Ostler admonished Mrs. Bradley for not setting a good example for her sister to follow but added that he thought she had had a change of heart since the incident occurred.

The judge pointed out to Miss Davidson that a conviction of assaulting a police officer usually meant a prison sentence but it was the "generous, forgiving attitude" of Constable Curry that made it a special case.

Curry, Ostler said, told the probation officer that he thought Miss Davidson would not have done what she did if it had not been for the actions of her older sister.

Edwin J. Russell, 18, of Golden, was fined $250 for shoplifting.

He pleaded guilty April 13 to taking two items from Woodward's department store April 11.

Ther merchandise was valued at $19.32.

William J. Mullin, 724 Yates, was fined $75 when he pleaded guilty to assaulting a woman causing her bodily harm.

The woman testified that she was walking with Mullin on Yates Street April 17 about 11:15 p.m. when he pushed her into a doorway, hit her with his fist and broke her finger.

The woman, before the plea was taken, asked if she could withdraw the charge but Ostler refused because of the severity of the offence.

The judge pointed out to Mullin that the forgiving attitude of the complainant saved him from a jail term.

He was involved in an accident at Government and Superior April 6 about 8:30 p.m. and did not have coverage at the time.

Frederick James Hamilton, 69, of Burnaby, was fined $350 for impaired driving and it was recommended that his licence be suspended for four months.

He was observed by police driving at 10 m.p.h. in a 30 m.p.h. zone in Saanich before being stopped at Tillicum and Carey about 6:30 p.m. April 4.

Judges' Need For Pay Hike 'Urgent'

OTTAWA (CP) — The need to raise salaries and improve pensions for about 425 federally-appointed judges is urgent, Justice Minister John Turner told the Commons justice committee Tuesday.

Superior and appellate court judges now get $26,000 a year and county, or lower, court judges get $19,000. Salaries of these judges were last raised in 1967.

Terrence Murphy (L—Sault Ste. Marie) noted that judges appointed by the province of Ontario are getting better salaries than their federal counterparts.

Turner, obviously warming up for a bout with the treasury board, which screens spending, said this is so despite the fact that the federally-appointed judges have larger jurisdictions and deal with matters of greater public impact.

Meantime the Supreme Court of Canada ruled in a close decision that judges have the right to impose indefinite as well as maximum definite jail terms under the Prisons and Reformatories Act.

In separate but similar 5-to-4 decisions, the high court dismissed the appeals of James Robert Anderson and William Richard Turcotte against additional indeterminate sentences.

Turcotte was sentenced in Vancouver July 10, 1968, to 18 months definite and an indefinite term not exceeding two years less one day for trafficking in methamphetamine known as speed.

At the same tme he got three months definite and a similar indefinite sentence for selling LSD, another prohibited drug.

Diet Drug 'Useless' —Doctor

WINNIPEG (CP) — Methamphetamine, the basis of diet pills that is called "speed" on the drug scene, should be taken off the market, Dr. E. Kirk Lyon of Leamington, Ont., said Tuesday.

Lyon, a former president of the Canadian and Ontario Medical Associations, said these pills "never took a pound off a woman, they just made her happier while dieting."

"They're completely useless as far as diet is concerned. I wish they would take them off the market."

He said the public and the profession bear the responsibility for abuse of these and other pills.

"I think unfortunately we are becoming a nation of pill swallowers.

"Where the medical profession has erred has been in acquiescing in patients' requests for pills.

"We haven't told them to go out and face life and adversity without a pill. We haven't stood up and said, 'No, we won't give you these things.'"

The sad part was that when a doctor prescribes "15 amphetamines for mother and she keeps them in the medicine cabinet, you don't know when junior is going to start nibbling on them."

Lyon, a general surgeon and acknowledged expert on group medical practice in Canada, was a key speaker at the International Congress on Group Medicine.

Belch Affects Milk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists have found that when cows belch they can set up a chain reaction which can produce off-flavored milk, an agriculture department report says. Tests were conducted in which cows were fed onions and leeks. The belched gases were found to be partially absorbed into the bloodstream from the lungs and within a few minutes caused off-flavor in the milk. A mature cow can belch more than half a gallon of gas in a minute.

Uplands Pair Wins on 19th

Only one battle went into overtime at Royal Colwood Golf and Country Cub as survivors in the annual Victoria women's two-ball foursomes competition advanced into the semi-final round.

Forced to travel extra distance in order to reach Thursday's semis at Glen Meadows were two experienced players from the Uplands course, Jean Christie and former champion Lil Thirlwell, who went to the 19th hole before downing Gorge Vale rivals Bunny Yardley and Clara Johnson.

The defending-champions and tourney medallists from Gorge Vale, Elsie Saunders and Ivy Blunt, also advanced by ousting clubmates Betty McDouglall and Eileen Clairmonte, 3 and 1.

Alice Fraser and Agnes Dawson of Royal Colwood picked up the earliest victory in the quarter-finals with a 4-and-3 win over Kay Tribe and June Lovitt of Uplands.

The other berth was taken by Phil Coxworth and Lorna Rooper of Uplands, who eliminated Joan Scott and Peggy Matthews of Gorge Vale, 4 and 2.

Thursday's starting times:

Denis Law Placed On Transfer List

By JAMES CONWAY

LONDON (CP) — Denis Law, once the most expensive and feared soccer player in Britain, has been put on the sale list by Manchester United with a price tag of £50,000 ($156,000).

United bought Law from Torino of Turin in 1962, paying the Italian club £115,000 ($299,000), a record which wasn't broken until 1968.

But the star scorer of the United forward line for six years has been plagued by two years of injury and bad luck culminating in manager Sir Matt Busby's decision to put him up for offers.

"We placed Denis on the transfer list for his own good," said Busby. "He is no longer a regular first-team player, but he is still a great player and I shall be very sorry to see him leave the club."

CHANGE COULD HELP

Busby believes a change will give Law the boost in confidence he needs.

The Socttish-born Law, now 30, joined Second Division Huddersfield Town's farm team when he left school in 1955.

Swiftly established as a valuable goal-getter, he made his debut with the Scotland international squad in 1958 and attracted national interest.

He moved to Manchester City, traditional rival of United, in 1969 in a then-record £53,000 deal.

But the ambitious Law, dissatisfied with the low salary scales at that time imposed by the Football Association, eagerly agreed to a £100,000 transfer to Torino in 1961.

Although far better paid, Law later described his experience in Italy as the most miserable year of his life.

In common with several other British players who joined foreign clubs offering high pay, Law was unable to adapt to Italian styles and accepted the chance of returning to Manchester and British football, by then offering more-realistic wages.

EARNED TOP SALARY

At his peak with United, Law was reported to be earning Britain's top soccer salary — £200 ($520) a week. He played for Scotland 42 times.

Recently however, a series of injuries put a lirge question mark over his future.

In one he came close to losing an eye, and he has never fully recovered from a knee complaint which put him out of the triumphant United team that won the European Cup for English soccer for the first time in 1968.

SEVERAL INTERESTED

Law's career isn't over yet. He is only one of nine players dropped by United following a disappointing year to make room for newcomers who may improve its fortunes next season.

His price tag proves his value still.

Several teams have expressed interest in taking up an option when his current United contract expires in June. Among them is Huddersfield Town, newly promoted to the First Division, which launched him in soccer 15 years ago.

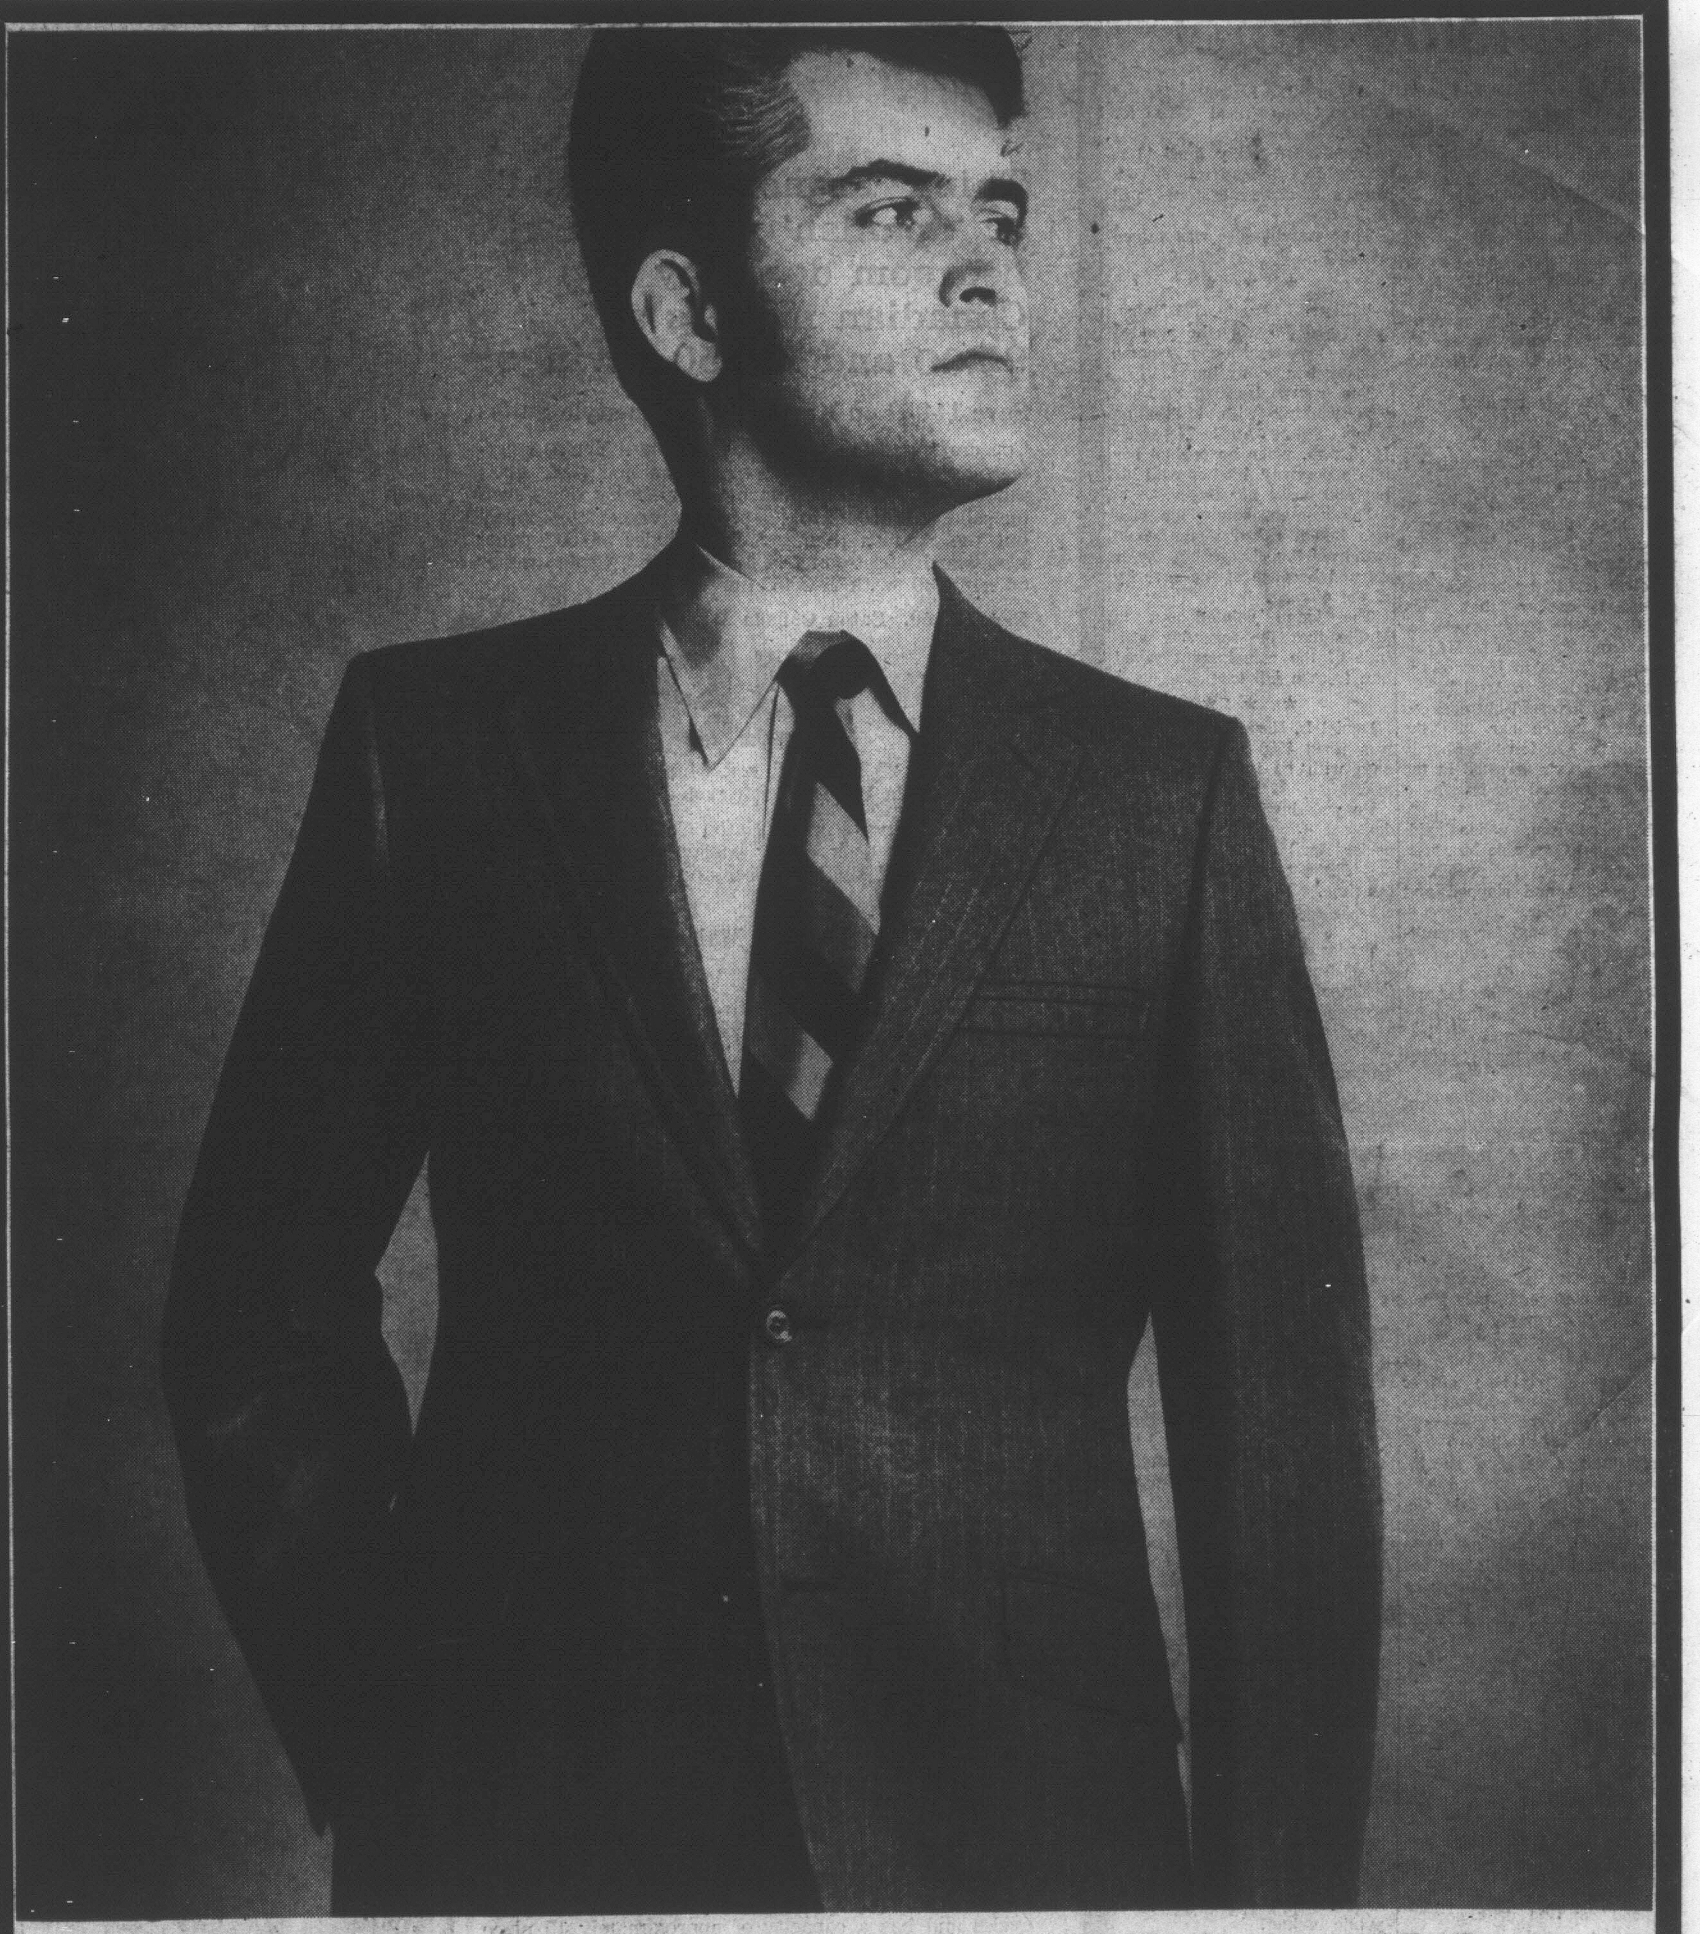
THERE'S MORE FOR YOU DOWNTOWN



The Styles, Tailoring and Luxury Fabrics Make These 2-Trouser Suits Canada's Best Fashion Value

The practical, dull, two-trouser suit is dead. Here's why. You'll be choosing from handsome, two-button models, the new-now double-breasteds, both side and centre vents in the group . . . all tailored for us by three of Canada's leading makers of fine suits. They're styled for men and young men in fabrics that show off the neat, fancy patterns and rugged new looks of soft flannels, clean-cut worsteds, diagonals, twists, glens, tone-on-tones, dimensional stripes, textured plains and hopsacks. Best of all these all-wool worsteds come in a range of colours to please any taste from avante-garde to conservative. Look for everything from teals, jades and olives to honey browns, golds, misty blues and clean greys. Sizes 36 to 46 regular, 36 to 42 short, 38 to 46 tall.

'TO SAVE AMERICAN LIVES'

U.S. Enters Cambodia War

S. Viets Storm Across Border

Times News Services

SAIGON—South Vietnamese army units, supported by American artillery fire and bombing strikes, stormed across the border into Cambodia today in an attempt to smash Viet Cong and North Vietnamese bases.

And Cambodian troops were reported battling Communist forces at two widely separated points northeast of Phnom Penh.

The South Vietnamese defence ministry here announced today's operation, admitting for the first time that Cambodian territory has been penetrated by South Vietnamese troops.

CROSSED BORDER

Informed sources said that a number of regiments — about 2,400 men in each — had crossed the border.

An American military spokesman refused comment on the operation, which sliced into an area of Cambodia known as the Parrot's Beak, a wedge of territory extending into South Vietnam about 35 miles west of Saigon.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces drove Cambodian troops out of the area shortly after Prince Norodom Sihanouk was overthrown as head of state March 18, in a coup led by right-wing armed forces commander Gen. Lon Nol.

They have since brought a major part of eastern Cambodia under direct Communist control. Previously they had been allowed use of border areas as a sanctuary from the battlefield in South Vietnam by Sihanouk.

HEAVY FIGHTING

Today a military spokesman in the Cambodian capital said heavy fighting is continuing around Chhlong on the Mekong River delta 90 miles northeast of the capital. He also reported hard fighting 90 miles to the east, just south of Senmonorom and north of the combined South Vietnamese-American operation.

Wounded Cambodian soldiers returning from the border area told reporters they had been fired upon by American helicopters about 10 miles inside the Cambodian border. Their trucks had bullet holes in them punched from above.

Pollution Red Tape Criticized

By JOHN MIKA
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Fisheries Minister Jack Davis today said he was "a little concerned" that the B.C. Pollution Control Board's red tape may slow down efforts to stop mercury pollution of Howe Sound.

He expects his department's tests on salmon and Dolly Varden to be completed Friday. If mercury concentrations of .5 parts per million are found in the fish tissue, then he will "continue the fishing ban and get back on the company right away . . . with priority on cleaning up the existing pollution and cutting off any more additions."

NO SPEED

Davis said he was afraid the PCB's announcement that FMC Chemicals of Squamish would have two weeks to seek amendment of its pollution control permit did not indicate any great speed in meeting the current problem.

"If it follows the normal course, it could turn into a pretty lengthy procedure, which bothers me," Davis said. "We want something done now, not three months from now.

DAVIS BAFFLED

"I'm a bit baffled by this (PCB) announcement."

Davis said he had hoped the PCB would not apply its regular procedures used in screening a new company seeking a permit "when there should be some faster procedures for a plant in trouble."

During his Saturday meeting in Squamish with company and provincial officials—to discuss his ban on sports fishing—he was given the impression that the firm was ready to order equipment and work to clean up existing contamination and stop any new mercury escapement immediately.

"But they were told (by the PCB) not to make any move until they had approval.

"I would hope that red tape is not going to cause any delays."

Davis said several known measures could be taken to overcome the mercury problem within the week.

Two Quakes Hit Mexico

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Two earthquakes — one described as "large" were recorded today in Southern Mexico in the vicinity of Oaxaca, the University of California seismographic station reported.

The first was at 4:29 a.m. PDT and registered a magnitude of 5.8 on the open-ended Richter scale. The second was recorded at 7:08 a.m. with a magnitude of 6.75.

The Richter rating on the 1906 San Francisco earthquake was 8.25.

Two strong tremors were felt in Mexico City but there were no reports of casualties or damage.

Mexico's Tacubaya Seismological Observatory placed the centre of the first tremor 446 miles south of Mexico City and the second 503 southeast of that capital.

Israelis Ambushed

CAIRO (Reuters) — An Egyptian assault patrol crossed the Suez canal today and ambushed an Israeli mechanized column, a military spokesman said.

ONE OF MILLIONS voting in Quebec today is former prime minister Louis St. Laurent, 88, a resident of Louis-Herbert riding. Main issue is federalism or separatism. (CP Wirephoto.)

Ballots Being Counted In 'Vote of Destiny'

Times News Service

QUEBEC CITY — An exceptionally heavy vote was expected today as more than 3.4 million were eligible to troop to the polls in Quebec's "election of destiny."

The critical issue of federalism or separatism dominated the three-week campaign. But close behind were the basic issues of unemployment and high taxes.

Vying for the 108 assembly seats are 466 candidates including a full slate by the governing Union Nationale, the opposition Liberals and separatist Parti Quebecois. Creditistes have 99 candidates and the NDP 13.

Polls closed at 4 p.m.

Televised coverage of election results began at 4:30 p.m. on Channels 2 and 6, and will be continuous until approximately 8 p.m.

Channel 8 will present a 30-minute wrapup of results beginning at 7:30 p.m.

U.S. Unveils 'Evidence' Soviet Pilots in Mideast

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spokesman said today the United States has independent evidence that Soviet pilots are flying combat planes in Egypt and intends to ask the Soviet government what their purposes are in such operations.

Press officer Robert J. McCleskey told a state department news conference:

McClesky said he does not know when the United States will make its approach to the Russians. But he implied it will be prompt.

'CLOSE WATCH'

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon is keeping "a close watch" on the situation in the Middle East in view of the request of Israel for U.S. airplanes.

The latest reports of Soviet pilots, charged by Israel to be flying operational missions in defence of Egypt, is one of "serious concern to the United States," Ziegler said.

The White House announced that President Nixon had ordered a full evaluation of all intelligence bearing on what appears to be a new escalation in the Arab-Israeli conflict through a deeper involvement of Soviet power.

In making recent decisions on Israeli requests for arms, Ziegler noted Nixon said he would keep a watch on any matters which might affect the stategic balance of power in the Middle East to determine any future course there by the U.S.

WARNING GIVEN

In a New York speech State Undersecretary Elliot L. Richardson warned the Soviet Union against seeking a short-range gain in the Middle East crisis because of "the danger of stirring up a wider conflict."

"When in such an area, one of us — in this case the U.S.S.R. — involves itself militarily," Richardson said, "it is inevitable that the other will take notice and react."

Launch Drive From Vietnam

Times News Service

WASHINGTON — The United States today entered the war in Cambodia, in support of South Vietnamese operations across the border against Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces.

The U.S. state department said advisers, tactical air strikes and logistics support will be provided as "a necessary and effective measure" to save American lives and those of its allies.

Assistant Defence Secretary Daniel Z. Henkin told reporters "the United States Military Assistance Command, Vietnam, in response to the request of the government of Vietnam is prepared to provide support" for the South Vietnamese operations.

● President Nixon was also reported today to have authorized a second shipment of between 4,000 and 5,000 rifles from South Vietnam to Cambodia.

● The U.S. State department Tuesday brushed off a warning from Communist China Tuesday to halt aggression in Southeast Asia and said Peking should direct its concern to invaders from North Vietnam.

● Reports have been circulated that Peking is recruiting Chinese volunteers to fight in Cambodia but U.S. officials say they have had no confirmation of this.

President Nixon moved quickly to explain the move. The White House said he has asked the television and radio networks for air time Thursday evening to discuss the situation "as it relates to both Cambodia and to U.S. forces in Vietnam."

U.S. Consulted Before Attack

Henken, in his statement today said:

Before the Republic of Vietnam armed forces launched its current operations on the Cambodian border, the United States government was fully consulted. The determination was made that the action is a necessary and effective measure to save American and other free world lives and to strengthen the Vietnamization program."

Senator J. W. Fulbright (Dem. Ark.), long a critic of U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia, took a different view, calling the action "a great mistake" and a "major escalation" of the Indochinese warfare.

If the reports are true, Fulbright told reporters, "it would be a great mistake, a great tragedy, directly contrary to what we have been led to believe."

Fulbright is chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee.

Noting that State Secretary William P. Rogers indicated to the committee Monday that the Nixon administration had not reached a decision on Cambodian requests for massive military aid, Fulbright said: "It looks as if they weren't very candid."

Destruction of Red Bases

Henkin, who refused to elaborate on his statement, said the South Vietnamese government has described the purpose of the operations in the Parrot Beak area as "to destroy an extensive complex of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong bases and depots in Cambodian territory, barely 35 miles from Saigon."

"These bases and depots have posed an increasing threat to the security of free world forces in South Vietnam as a result of increased enemy activities in Cambodia and along the Cambodian - South Vietnamese border," Henkin said.

The United States until now has officially stayed militarily clear of the developing Cambodia military war, which pits Cambodia's small 35,000-man army against the North Vietnamese and the guerrillas from South Vietnam who have occupied an area inside Cambodia fronting South Vietnam for more than five years.

Second U.S. Error in Two Days Kills Six South Vietnamese

SAIGON (CP) — In their second battlefield error in two days, U.S. forces have killed six South Vietnamese civilians and wounded five others, the U.S. command reported today.

The command said the latest mistake occurred Tuesday when an artillery shell landed in a village by mistake while American guns were firing at a suspected Viet Cong target eight miles from Quang Tri city in northern South Vietnam.

The command reported Tuesday that 10 South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 20 wounded when U.S. pilots hit the wrong area Monday during a bombing mission.

RUSSIA RAPS CHINESE ARMS BUILDUP

HONG KONG (Reuters) — The Soviet Union today attacked China's military build-up while the first Chinese space satellite went into its sixth day in orbit.

Radio Moscow said Peking's leaders are trying to convince the Chinese people that the Soviet Union is preparing to attack China and that they should be ready to repulse an invasion from the north.

"Troops were moved to the Soviet border and construction of frontier defences intensified," the radio said in a Chinese-language broadcast.

Radio Moscow added: "It is not true . . . that the Soviet people are preparing to commit aggression against China."

Medicare Challenged

CALGARY (CP) — A civil court action challenging the federal medical insurance act on constitutional grounds was launched in Alberta Supreme Court Tuesday by a High River, Alta., doctor.

Dr. Dennis Mercer said his challenging of the federal act is backed by a group named Citizens for Individual Liberty, which claims about 400 members.

Dr. Mercer's claim is that the act represents a federal invasion of an area which is constitutionally reserved to the jurisdiction of provincial legislatures.

The court action requests three things:

— That the act be declared ultra vires of parliament;

— Cost of the action;

— An injunction preventing the federal government from disbursing money under the act.

Citizens for Individual Liberty was formed last year to protest Alberta's entry into the federal medical care scheme. The federal act provides for Ottawa to pay about 50 per cent of the cost of provincially-run medical insurance schemes.

Ottawa taxes all Canadians to meet the cost-sharing expenses.

Nelson Fire Claims Couple

NELSON (CP) — Two persons who died when fire swept through their frame house in this Kootenay community Tuesday night were identified today as Winfred Walter Houck, 72, and his wife Lillian, 68.

Firemen said they did not know anyone was inside the house until after the blaze was brought under control.

The victims were the first killed by fire here since six died in a hotelfire in 1955.

Moose Jaw Battles Snow

By The Canadian Press

Up to 14.5 inches of snow and winds reaching 49 miles an hour were reported in Moose Jaw today as a snow storm swept across Southern Saskatchewan.

Power and telephone lines in some areas were out through the night and some motorists were stranded on the Trans-Canada Highway on the outskirts of the town. Rural schools in the area were closed.

Architect Act 'No Concern' Of Saanich

There is nothing in the Architectural Profession Act to make a municipality enforce or observe it, Saanich solicitor D. A. M. Patterson told the municipal planning committee Tuesday night.

The obligation is on the person who intends to erect a building, he said.

And if there are persons committing offences under the act, the Architectural Institute of British Columbia can take legal action itself.

Patterson was reiterating views expressed at a meeting last month, where professional architects and building designers confronted each other. Because of an oversight, architects were not invited to Tuesday night's meeting and the subject was tabled.

The Architectural Profession Act lists a variety of structures where an architect is required as the designer, including buildings of $50,000 or more. This would include three-storey frame apartments.

The institute has asked Saanich to observe the act by not accepting plans from those not qualified to submit them.

Patterson said there are no obligations on a municipality in the Architectural Profession Act and they are not required to observe it.

Municipalities only have those powers conferred on them by the legislature in the Municipal Act. This permitted regulations to be made for health, safety and protection of property. To do more is to go beyond this act.

"It's up to the architects, they have the right to police their own act and to take legal action," he said.

Ald. Leslie Passmore said that would be an unpopular move for architects "and that's why they want us to do it."

Mother Jailed for Sending Child on LSD Trip

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Delores Patricia Sheid was convicted Tuesday of feeding her 10-year-old daughter the hallucinatory drug LSD.

For that and five other offences, Judge James Balsinger sentenced her to 330 days in jail and fined her $2,025.

After passing sentence on one charge—contributing to the delinquency of a minor—Balsinger told Mrs. Sheid:

"I looked at and listened to that 10-year-old daughter of yours. She is a fine young lady, and for what you almost did to her I'm heartbroken that I can't give you more than $500 and 90 days.

Other charges on which he found her guilty were possession of narcotic paraphernalia, possession of marijuana, resisting arrest, assault and battery and intoxication.

The daughter, Diane, told the court her mother had given her LSD.

"I knew what it was," Diane testified. "I saw things. I went into the bathroom and the mouthwash started melting. Sometimes I saw faces."

Diane testified she also smoked marijuana when it was being passed around the family home.

The girl now is in custody of a neighbor.

Mrs. Sheid said: "I don't feel I'm guilty. I haven't done anything."

AVERAGE TAX JUMP $40

Oak Bay Mill Rate Up From '69

The average Oak Bay property owner will have to pay another $40 on his tax bill this year.

After two night session of cutting costs and eliminating frills, Oak Bay council set the 1970 mill rate at 65.8 Tuesday, an increase of 1.1 mills over 1969.

Broken down the 65.8 figure means:

General and debt rate, set Tuesday, is 34.80 mills—up .8.

School rate increased by .07 to 30.58.

Hospitals rate up .22 mills to .43 mills.

Council was told the average home in Oak Bay was assessed at $3,195 for land and $6,828 for buildings and improvements.

Assessment of land for average homes had been raised this year about 30 per cent while others who had received large assessment increases last year had been given increases of less amounts.

On the completion of Monday's session the equivalent of a mill and a half had been deleted from the budget, representing about $75,000.

On Tuesday the council cut away at bigger capital expenditure items, whittling away another 1.5 mills.

Road construction estimates were reduced by $40,000, while $2,209 was taken out of the recreational spending budget and $20,000, earmarked for a new wing to the police station, got the axe.

Council felt that they should be built now because rising costs of hospitals and sewers in the next 10 years would make it impossible to finance such amenities.

Also chopped was $2,500, requested for computer and assessment studies.

Ald. Ian Horne observed:

"Every time you make a study it ends up costing you more money than before you began.

"All they do is gather information and sell it back to the municipality. It seems to me we could do this work ourselves at much less cost."

After much discussion it was agreed that $43,000 be spent on cleaning up the septic tank situation in the area of Satellite and the Oak Bay Beach Hotel.

Aldermen agreed that the pollution situation had to be faced and that it would cost $400,000 before septic tanks were replaced in certain areas of Beach Drive and the Uplands.

PART OF DEAL WITH M-B

West Coast Park Increases

The land was traded to the government by MacMillan Bloedel Ltd. along with 18 acres of Shawnigan Lake property and eight acres for a Duncan area airport, a total of 102.

EQUAL VALUE

In return the forest company acquired 250 acres of Crown land adjacent to its timber holdings at Hilliers near Qualicum in a deal described as an equal-value exchange" by the government.

The waterfront land at Shawnigan and Kennedy lakes is considered of high value but no dollar figure was revealed.

The Kennedy Lake property near Ucluelet will become part of the national park which was signed into existence last week by the provincial and federal governments.

The provincial government is expected to give itself full expropriation powers shortly to acquire land for the park which will include Long Beach, the Lifesaving Trail and the Effingham Islands.

Sign Bylaw Violation 'May Go to Court'

Court action may be taken against a Saanich car dealer for violating the sign bylaw, the municipal planning committee was told Tuesday night.

Development engineer Joseph Barber-Starkey told the the committee that the manager of Douglas Volkswagen, 3329 Douglas, was told in February that two signs the company has are illegal.

The committee said one of the signs, on the north side, could remain providing the property was consolidated and had frontage on a bordering street.

The other sign, on the east side, whould have to be removed "and its is still there," said Starkey.

The committee instructed him to enforce the bylaw.

He explained later this would mean at first a letter informing the company that it is in violation of the bylaw and if not corrected, action would have to be taken.

VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 29, 1970 —PAGE 27

'School's Condition Shocking'

—Mayor Haddock

Victoria Mayor Courtney Haddock said today he was shocked by the condition of the oldest of four buildings making up Victoria West Elementary.

Haddock toured the school with principal Andy McMorland.

"I'm going to give them all the help I can. I don't think the government realizes what it's like here," the mayor said.

"If I have to I'll ask the whole city council to come here and see this.

"After all, this is Victoria and these are Victorians. I think Vic West has always been neglected."

Haddock said the amount needed to complete phase two of additions to Vic West is not very much. Phase two includes four classrooms, kindergarten, administrative area, gymnasium and changing rooms, at a cost of $332,500.

The mayor was accompanied by Greater Victoria school board Chairman Carron Jameson, Trustee Allan McKinnon and Mrs. Marjorie Moeskau.

He expressed amazement that fuel for the school's furnaces has to be cut up by a janitor. Stepping outside to inspect the school woodpile, he was told the wood is stacked on a public thoroughfare called William St.

He also went upstairs in the 62-year-old building to see the gym which was closed last year. He was told that when children used to play in the gym, plaster fell from ceilings below and lights swung on their chains.

Two newer buildings provided a marked contrast to the old brick school. The mayor visited the open area, library and several classrooms.

Taxes Swing With Vote ... Yes Is Less, No Is More

By JIM HUME

Victoria property owners go to the polls Thursday to vote themselves an increase or decrease in taxes.

Voting on the five-year $6.3 million capital budget starts at 8 a.m. and ends at 8 p.m. A 60 per cent majority of those casting ballots is required by provincial statute before the five year program can be adopted.

REDUCED MILL RATE

Given the required majority city treasurer James Bramley has informed Mayor Courtney Haddock that the mill rate for general purposes can be reduced to 37.5 mills from 39.3 mills.

The mill rate drop would mean a tax saving of $9.45 for the average homeowner.

TAX BOOST

That in turn would mean a positive minimum increase in the mill rate of 2½ mills and a subsequent hefty tax boost.

While offering minor relief for the homeowner if the capital budget is approved, the Thursday vote will also result in a one per cent cut in the business tax rate.

SLIGHT RELIEF

City officials agreed this morning that reduction of the tax rate would only bring slight relief to business because increased assessments this year had pushed up general payments.

But they added that even with the reduction, revenue from the business tax would increase by $75,000 over last year.

If left at last year's rate the business tax would generate an extra $170,000 in revenue. A reduction in the rate would save the business community $95,000.

BRAMLEY

In a copy of the treasurer's report to city manager Dennis Young, released to the press this morning, it is stated that the decrease versus increase in taxes may "sound like a threat."

"The general (mill) rate for 1970 has been established on the assumption that the capital budget referendum will be approved," the report states.

"It is important to point out to the ratepayers that if the referendum is not approved, that the possibility exists that some $300,000 to $400,000 of projects or more will have to be transferred back to the 1970 operating budget.

"It is difficult to make this statement and not make it sound like a threat, but, regrettably, it is a fact of municipal life.

"Certain things just have to be done and if funds cannot be found from one source, they have to be found from another.

GROSSLY UNFAIR

"It would be grossly unfair if this was not pointed out to those voters who are going to be making their decisions based on what it is going to cost them over the next two or three years."

Bramley added this morning that there is little doubt in his mind that failure of the budget vote would, in addition to tax increases, result in staff reductions in certain departments.

Vic West Elementary Has Split Personality

By BOB MITCHELL

But it's housed in four separate buildings, and that's part of the problem.

The original brick school was built in 1908 and the south annex was added in 1915. They are old buildings by local standards, old enough to have been attended by grandparents of the children who go there now.

OPEN AREA

The fourth and last building to go up actually houses about half the school population. It's the combined open area and library, phase one of several additions approved by ratepayers in 1967.

Vic West elementary is number one priority on the Greater Victoria school board's project list.

That means the brick building will be first in line of all old schools in the district to be torn down.

But that can't happen until the provincial treasury board gives the school board permission to build the second phase of planned additions.

Nobody knows when that will happen.

NEW LINOLEUM

He pointed out the only changes made at the 62-year-old school have been addition of linoleum on the floors and shelves in classrooms.

Each classroom has only one electrical outlet, which means operation of things like projectors and record players depends on extension cords.

The only indoor play area is a basement room about 60 feet by 50. Pointing to the light bulbs in the low ceiling, McMorland said they are inevitably broken during games involving balls.

FIRE HAZARD

The heating system is considered a fire hazard. The building is heated by three wood and coal furnaces. About a month ago part of one furnace actually collapsed.

While there was no fire, the furnace room filled with smoke. The building is considered tinder-dry, and it would only take a few minutes for flames to spread from the basement to the main floor.

Two years ago the school had over 380 pupils on three floors. But last fall when the new open area-library opened the top floor in the old building was closed by the fire marshal.

"One year it's not a fire trap, the next year it is," said the principal.

GERMS MULTIPLY

During the cold snap in January, 1969, outside doors had to be kept open to allow fresh air to circulate. Otherwise teachers and pupils were susceptible to germs which seemed to multiply in the stale air.

Communication is a problem. Administrative office and staff room are located in the old building, but during bad weather teachers tend to stay in the buildings where their classes are — except when they go to the washrooms.

CONTACT LOST

Result is staff members tend to lose contact with each other, said McMorland.

"Although the people know in general what's going on, on the other hand they don't because they're not moving around."

The 55-year-old south annex will not be torn down. It is destined to become a kindergarten area, but until completion of the gymnasium it will be used as an indoor play area.

"We need someplace to play floor hockey," said McMorland.

A new gym would fill more than a physical education needs of the school, he said.

Laymen Volunteers to Aid City Probation Officers

Volunteer laymen soon will be doing probation work in Victoria on an experimental basis, provincial probation officer Bill Foster said Tuesday.

Addressing a Kiwanis Club luncheon at the Empress Hotel, Foster said his project reflects a move to return volunteers into the work of the courts.

"Institutions and increased professional staff are not a panacea to increasing social problems. The courts must bring people of the community back into its services."

ALTERNATIVE

Foster said probation work developed as an alternative to jailing. As probation officers became professionals, the incidence of laymen among them decreased.

"But this is changing. For the last 10 years volunteers have been coming back," he said.

Foster's project will begin with three volunteers working with adult offenders. Each volunteer will devote at least one hour a week with one probationer for a minimum of six months.

"This is a pilot project the success of which is far from guaranteed," he said.

ADULT WORK

Foster works with adult probationers in Victoria and juveniles in Sooke, handling a total caseload of over 50 people. He said there are four probation officers in Victoria working with adults and 13 who handle juvenile cases.

Each has a caseload of between 50 and 60.

Foster said the first experiment with volunteer probation workers took place in Royal Oak, Michigan, in 1960. In the mid-sixties Denver, Colorado, became the first North American city to use volunteers on a large scale.

Beginning with 30 laymen in 1966, there are now 500 volunteers working mostly with juveniles in Denver, he said.

Foster said there are several advantages to using volunteers.

A volunteer handles only one case at a time. Juveniles do not tend to see the volunteer as an extension of the court. Volunteers tend to give common sense advice and concentrate on a probationer's strengths.

Foster said Denver's experience has shown laborers and skilled craftsmen to be effective in dealing with probationers.

"Volunteers enhance the professional probation officer but stimulating work in the field, by eliciting greater guidance and by generating new ideas," he said.

The provincial probation service has created five regions throughout B.C. which are now developing their own pilot projects.

"Each district is experimenting in its own way," Foster said.

DEVELOP FURTHER

If his project succeeds, Foster said he hopes to "develop supplemental services such as bank managers giving financial advice to probationers."

He said the difference between his project and the work of the John Howard Society is that the society concerns itself with persons on parole.

"We deal with people on probation."

After his speech Foster said he believes probation officers will become administrators once laymen assume greater responsibilities in probation work.

He said it is necessary to eliminate the isolation of the community from the poor, the needy, mentally ill and delinquent.

Builder Faces Saanich Whip

Saanich municipal planning committee recommended strong action Tuesday night against a Victoria builder whose change in townhouse plans was labelled a "misrepresentation" at last month's meeting.

The committee will recommend to this Monday's council meeting that property at 1741 McKenzie Avenue, slated for a townhouse apartment project, be returned to single-family house zoning.

Committee chairman Ald. Alan Newberry said a building permit for the townhouse had been withheld because certain technical requirements had not been met.

He pointed out that Saanich does not have authority to control design. The planning department had met with R. Gilmour Construction Ltd. "and he apparently apparently refused to budge. Theo

Newberry said the action will show that "those who make a sham of the process will be dealt with. It would presumably happen in other circumstances where there is a significant change in design over what was represented to council.

At the committee's meeting last month, municipal planner Tom Loney called the townhouse development a "misrepresentation, in that a high quality of design is promised but not produced."

INQUEST SET IN DEATH AFTER FIGHT

An inquest into the death of a 49-year-old Victoria man will open Thursday, more than a month after he was injured in what police term a brawl in Rithet Street in James Bay.

Norman Francis Copping, of 56 Gorge Road East, died April 23 in Royal Jubilee Hospital with the injuries he received in the altercation at an unstated Rithet Street address March 18.

Police said they are still investigating the incident and declined comment on possible charges.

The inquest will be held at McCall Brothers chapel at 1400 Vancouver.

Man Admits Theft From Little League

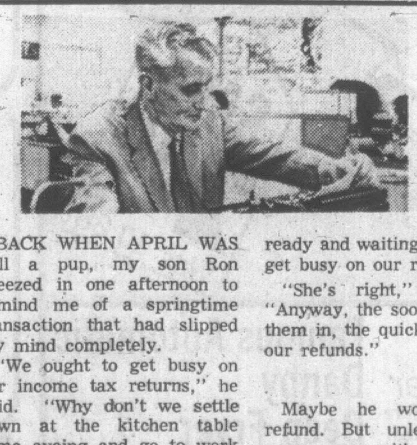
Pleading guilty to stealing money from the Victoria section of the National Little League, Charles Buchanan, 41, no fixed address, was remanded in provincial court today until May 8 for a pre-sentence report.

Magistrate William Ostler refused to release Buchanan on bail pending preparation of the report.

The charge involved theft of $1,138.

Det. Lyle Somers told the court the accused who served as treasurer for the league, converted to his own use sums of money turned over to the baseball organization.

The offence was committed between April 8 and Aug. 30, 1968.



Arthur Mayse . . .

BACK WHEN APRIL WAS still a pup, my son Ron breezed in one afternoon to remind me of a springtime transaction that had slipped my mind completely.

"We ought to get busy on our income tax returns," he said. "Why don't we settle down at the kitchen table some eveing and go to work on them?"

"Good idea," I agreed, without much enthusiasm. There are some tasks that I warm up to slowly. The annual rendering unto Caesar in Ottawa is one of them. "Maybe next week, eh? That'll give me time to get my papers in order."

At intervals during the next two weeks, we reminded each other that the month was getting along. But a mutually suitable evening didn't present itself until last weekend, when Win issued a reminder of her own.

The April 30 deadline was coming up fast, and if we didn't quit stalling, we'd miss it. Here was the kitchen table, ready and waiting, so why not get busy on our returns?

"She's right," Ron said. "Anyway, the sooner we mail them in, the quicker we'll get our refunds."

Maybe he would get a refund. But unless I could come up with something pretty telling in the way of deductions, I was likely to wind up owing the receiver-general of Canada the price of four new tires at the very least.

The thought produced a mood proper to the occasion. Not precisely larcenous, but not despairful, either. Perhaps on close scrutiny, the form would reveal some loophole that wasn't there last year.

Ron, whistling, set up shop at one end of the table. I moved in at the other end with scratch paper, ballpoint, T-4 slips and personalized salute from a government that spends the loot as fast or even faster than the taxpayer can supply it.

There was comfort of a sort in knowing that all over Canada, men and women were similarly occupied. I passed this thought on to Ron, who was already scratching away busily.

"Hey," he said, "this is nice. My refund is going to be bigger than I expected."

It seemed no time at all since he and his sister figured in my return as dependents good for a total of $100 in exemptions. I hunted around for other exemptions that I might have missed, but the results were discouraging. The list of deductions didn't seem to have expanded, either.

"You know," I said, "they should make some allowance for family pets. When you figure out dog food and vet's fees and licence, it adds up."

"Well, my table partner said cheerfully, "you could always put the dog and cat in as dependents. But they'd catch you for sure." He began transferring figures from working copy to send-away sheet. "Hadn't you better get busy?" he asked. "I'm almost through."

Prodded, I began to fill in spaces. I was on the home stretch when Win joined us.

"Don't frown over it so." she told me. "It can't be that bad."

As a matter of fact, my score was working out better than I'd expected it would.

Win pulled out a chair. She said, "I hope you're being careful. Rember the year you made the big mistake?"

That was the time I subtracted where I should have added. The income tax people were nice about it, and one of the inspectors went to great pains to show me just where my laborious arithmetic had jumped the tracks.

I'll bet the receiver-general, who collected arrears plus interest, still chuckles and rubs his hands together when he recalls that episode.

"No mistakes this time," I said, feeling better by the minute as I began to figure out tax payable.

Although I still wouldn't have a refund coming, that four-tire estimate of tax owing had been much too pessimistic.

"Would you like to check it through ?" I asked. "Not that you'll find anything out of order."

Win studied the form. Ron, still happy in the knowledge of refund owned him, come around to help her.

Ron poked a finger. "I hate to tell you," he said to me, "but you've done it again. You subtracted provincial tax from federal instead of adding them."

We can't all be mathematicians, and my error was soon put right. But I trust the receiver-general of Canada will appreciate the fact that it cost me four tires and a spare to correct it!

'TO SAVE AMERICAN LIVES'

U.S. Enters Cambodia War

S. Viets Storm Across Border

Times News Services

SAIGON—South Vietnamese army units, supported by American artillery fire and bombing strikes, stormed across the border into Cambodia today in an attempt to smash Viet Cong and North Vietnamese bases.

And Cambodian troops were reported battling Communist forces at two widely separated points northeast of Phnom Penh.

The South Vietnamese defence ministry here announced today's operation, admitting for the first time that Cambodian territory has been penetrated by South Vietnamese troops.

CROSSED BORDER

Informed sources said that a number of regiments — about 2,400 men in each — had crossed the border.

An American military spokesman refused comment on the operation, which sliced into an area of Cambodia known as the Parrot's Beak, a wedge of territory extending into South Vietnam about 35 miles west of Saigon.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces drove Cambodian troops out of the area shortly after Prince Norodom Sihanouk was overthrown as head of state March 18, in a coup led by right-wing armed forces commander Gen. Lon Nol.

They have since brought a major part of eastern Cambodia under direct Communist control. Previously they had been allowed use of border areas as a sanctuary from the battlefield in South Vietnam by Sihanouk.

HEAVY FIGHTING

Today a military spokesman in the Cambodian capital said heavy fighting is continuing around Chhlong on the Mekong River delta 90 miles northeast of the capital. He also reported hard fighting 90 miles to the east, just south of Senmonorom and north of the combined South Vietnamese-American operation.

Wounded Cambodian soldiers returning from the border area told reporters they had been fired upon by American helicopters about 10 miles inside the Cambodian border. Their trucks had bullet holes in them punched from above.

Pollution Red Tape Criticized

By JOHN MIKA
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Fisheries Minister Jack Davis today said he was "a little concerned" that the B.C. Pollution Control Board's red tape may slow down efforts to stop mercury pollution of Howe Sound.

He expects his department's tests on salmon and Dolly Varden to be completed Friday. If mercury concentrations of .5 parts per million are found in the fish tissue, then he will "continue the fishing ban and get back on the company right away . . . with priority on cleaning up the existing pollution and cutting off any more additions."

NO SPEED

Davis said he was afraid the PCB's announcement that FMC Chemicals of Squamish would have two weeks to seek amendment of its pollution control permit did not indicate any great speed in meeting the current problem.

"If it follows the normal course, it could turn into a pretty lengthy procedure, which bothers me," Davis said. "We want something done now, not three months from now.

DAVIS BAFFLED

"I'm a bit baffled by this (PCB) announcement."

Davis said he had hoped the PCB would not apply its regular procedures used in screening a new company seeking a permit "when there should be some faster procedures for a plant in trouble."

During his Saturday meeting in Squamish with company and provincial officials—to discuss his ban on sports fishing—he was given the impression that the firm was ready to order equipment and work to clean up existing contamination and stop any new mercury escapement immediately.

"But they were told (by the PCB) not to make any move until they had approval.

"I would hope that red tape is not going to cause any delays."

Davis said several known measures could be taken to overcome the mercury problem within the week.

Ballots Being Counted In 'Vote of Destiny'

Times News Service

QUEBEC CITY — An exceptionally heavy vote was expected today as more than 3.4 million were eligible to troop to the polls in Quebec's "election of destiny."

The critical issue of federalism or separatism dominated the three-week campaign. But close behind were the basic issues of unemployment and high taxes.

Vying for the 108 assembly seats are 466 candidates including a full slate by the governing Union Nationale, the opposition Liberals and separatist Parti Quebecois. Creditistes have 99 candidates and the NDP 13.

Polls closed at 4 p.m.

Televised coverage of election results began at 4:30 p.m. on Channels 2 and 6, and will be continuous until approximately 8 p.m.

Channel 8 will present a 30-minute wrapup of results beginning at 7:30 p.m.

U.S. Unveils 'Evidence' Soviet Pilots in Mideast

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spokesman said today the United States has independent evidence that Soviet pilots are flying combat planes in Egypt and intends to ask the Soviet government what their purposes are in such operations.

Press officer Robert J. McCleskey told a state department news conference:

McClesky said he does not know when the United States will make its approach to the Russians. But he implied it will be prompt.

'CLOSE WATCH'

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon is keeping "a close watch" on the situation in the Middle East in view of the request of Israel for U.S. airplanes.

The latest reports of Soviet pilots, charged by Israel to be flying operational missions in defence of Egypt, is one of "serious concern to the United States," Ziegler said.

The White House announced that President Nixon had ordered a full evaluation of all intelligence bearing on what appears to be a new escalation in the Arab-Israeli conflict through a deeper involvement of Soviet power.

In making recent decisions on Israeli requests for arms, Ziegler noted Nixon said he would keep a watch on any matters which might affect the stategic balance of power in the Middle East to determine any future course there by the U.S.

WARNING GIVEN

In a New York speech State Undersecretary Elliot L. Richardson warned the Soviet Union against seeking a short-range gain in the Middle East crisis because of "the danger of stirring up a wider conflict."

"When in such an area, one of us — in this case the U.S.S.R. — involves itself militarily," Richardson said, "it is inevitable that the other will take notice and react."

Launch Drive From Vietnam

Times News Services

WASHINGTON — The United States today entered the war in Cambodia, in support of South Vietnamese operations across the border against Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces.

The U.S. state department said advisers, tactical air strikes and logistic support were provided as "a necessary and effective measure" to save American lives and those of its allies.

Assistant Defence Secretary Daniel Z. Henkin told reporters "the United States Military Assistance Command, Vietnam, in response to the request of the government of Vietnam is prepared to provide support" for the South Vietnamese operations.

- President Nixon was also reported today to have authorized a second shipment of between 4,000 and 5,000 rifles from South Vietnam to Cambodia.
- The U.S. State department Tuesday brushed off a warning from Communist China Tuesday to halt aggression in Southeast Asia and said Peking should direct its concern to invaders from North Vietnam.
- Reports have been circulated that Peking is recruiting Chinese volunteers to fight in Cambodia but U.S. officials say they have had no confirmation of this.

President Nixon moved quickly to explain the move. The White House said he has asked the television and radio networks for air time Thursday evening to discuss the situation "as it relates to both Cambodia and to U.S. forces in Vietnam."

U.S. Consulted Before Attack

Henken, in his statement today said:

"Before the Republic of Vietnam armed forces launched its current operations on the Cambodian border, the United States government was fully consulted. The determination was made that the action is a necessary and effective measure to save American and other free world lives and to strengthen the Vietnamization program."

Senator J. W. Fulbright (Dem. Ark.), long a critic of U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia, took a different view, calling the action "a great mistake" and a "major escalation" of the Indochinese war.

If the reports are true, Fulbright told reporters, "it would be a great mistake, a great tragedy, directly contrary to what we have been led to believe."

Fulbright is chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee.

Noting that State Secretary William P. Rogers indicated to the committee Monday that the Nixon administration had not reached a decision on Cambodian requests for massive military aid, Fulbright said: "It looks as if they weren't very candid."

Destruction of Red Bases

Henkin, who refused to elaborate on his statement, said the South Vietnamese government has described the purpose of the operations in the Parrot Beak area as "to destroy an extensive complex of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong bases and depots in Cambodian territory, barely 35 miles from Saigon."

"These bases and depots have posed an increasing threat to the security of free world forces in South Vietnam as a result of increased enemy activities in Cambodia and along the Cambodian - South Vietnamese border," Henkin said.

The United States until now has officially stayed militarily clear of the developing Cambodia military war, which pits Cambodia's small 35,000-man army against the North Vietnamese and the guerrillas from South Vietnam who have occupied an area inside Cambodia fronting South Vietnam for more than five years.

Second U.S. Error in Two Days Kills Six South Vietnamese

SAIGON (CP) — In their second battlefield error in two days, U.S. forces have killed six South Vietnamese civilians and wounded five others, the U.S. command reported today.

The command said the latest mistake occurred Tuesday when an artillery shell landed in a village by mistake while American guns were firing at a suspected Viet Cong target eight miles from Quang Tri city in northern South Vietnam.

The command reported Tuesday that 10 South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 20 wounded when U.S. pilots hit the wrong area Monday during a bombing mission.

WALL ST. STAGES COMEBACK

Staging a dramatic turnaround the industrial index on the New York stock exchange posted a 13.06 point gain in heavy trading today. Volume was 15,800,000 shares.

During the day the market was up more than seven points but plunged 11 points after the announcement the U.S. is providing advisers and tactical air strikes for South Vietnamese operations in Cambodia.

This was followed by the dramatic recovery.

Kennedy Side Trip Intentional

Times News Services

BOSTON — Judge James A. Boyle said in an inquest report made public today he did not believe Senator Edward M. Kennedy intended to leave Chappaquiddick Island with Mary Jo Kopechne at the time of the automobile accident which killed the 28-year-old secretary.

Boyle also said there was cause to believe Kennedy operated his car negligently in a manner that "appears to have contributed to the death of Mary Jo Kopechne."

But the surprise finding of his 12-page inquest report, dated Feb. 18, was this challenge to Kennedy's public account of the accident:

"I infer a reasonable and probable explanation of the totality of the above acts is that Kennedy and Kopechne did not intend to return to Edgartown at that time; that Kennedy did not intend to drive to the ferry slip and his turn onto Dike Road was intentional."

CLAIMS WRONT TURN

In his own televised report on the accident July 25, last Kennedy said he made a wron turn onto a narrow bridge while driving Miss Kopechne to the ferry which links Chappaquiddick with Martha's Vineyard, off the Massachusetts coast.

Judge Boyle said that to drive acroos Dike Bridge at even 20 miles an hour, as Kennedy admitted, "would at least be negligent and probably reckless."

"If Kennedy knew of this hazard, his operation of the vehicle constituted criminal conduct," the judge said.

Judge Boyle went on to state flatly that Kennedy had driven over Dike Road and Dike Bridge twice on the day of the accident, and he said Miss Kopechne had done the same.

HAZARD THERE

"I believe it probably that Kennedy knew of the hazard that lay ahead of him on Dike Road but that, for some reason not apparent from the testimony, he failed to exercise due care as he approached the bridge," the report said.

Judge Boyle's report was a bombshell casting doubt on some of the essential parts of the senator's previous two public accountings of the accident.

Bill WALKER

The Monster that Tommy Ivan made has returned to destroy him. If not Ivan, personally, his Chicago Black Hawks. They were devoured, completely, by the Boston powerhouse in the National Hockey League semi-final playoffs for the Stanley Cup.

It was a ridiculously easy victory for the men of Harry Sinden. There was no comparison between the two teams that had tied for the league championship. Chicago had been declared champions on a technicality. They had won more games. Otherwise the teams were considered equal. But it was a false premise. The Hawks weren't to live up to their reputation for long. Just until they got to meet Boston, that's all. Because this is where the devil's incarnate lurked. A fiendish plan was being prepared. The Hawks were to be the unwilling victims.

It was three seasons ago, a little less than a month from this date. You may recall the incident well.

The Hawks had finished first that year, and then had gone out quietly in the semi-final playoffs to the Maple Leafs. There was the thought that some changes should be made. Ivan was to make them. As general manager that was his duty. And you don't hurt yourself when you deal. Especially when you hold all the aces. That's in the GM's code.

And so Ivan dealt. He gave Boston Fred Stanfield, Ken Hodge and Phil Esposito. And he asked for, and received, in return, Pit Martin, Jack Norris and Giles Marotte.

Now the tale is well worn, but there is fine substance for the record.

The Bruins, the very next season, jumped from sixth to third, and the Hawks dropped from first to fourth. Last year the Hawks fluttered, but only in the basement, while the Bruins were only a breath away from all the glory.

This year, the Hawks won first place, as noted earlier, and the Bruins were right there, too.

The players?

Esposito, that's Phil, has won a couple of scoring championships. Hodge and Stanfield won't go unprotected in the draft either.

For Chicago, Norris, a goalkeeper, has been playing in the American Hockey League with Montreal. Marotte has gone to Los Angeles, where all sinners end up. Martin, meanwhile, is still with the Hawks and generally regarded as the guy who gave them back their self-respect. He never was considered another Stan Mikita, but he liked to talk, if anyone would listen. He has been the lone saving grace.

It was in the fall, during the pre-season shennanigans. Martin was asked for an opinion and willingly gave it. He said he thought the Hawks should play more hockey on the ice than talking about it off the ice.

The Hawks quickly got the hint, and Martin didn't get the boot. He survived where others wouldn't. And success came surprisingly for the Hawks during regular-season play. And Martin scored 30 goals.

But that's where fortune ended, too, or shortly afterwards, to be factual.

An amazingly easy four-game sweep of Detroit either gave the Hawks false courage or else they completely misunderstood the objectives of the Bruins. Certainly they didn't consider their feelings. But the Hawks were not to be kept in the dark for long.

There was a peculiar form of justice to be administered by the castoffs. Some may call it poetic. But it was spiteful, too.

Some of those old sores still showed, in Boston. These would have to be avenged. They were.

For except for the first 10 minutes or so of the opening game, the Hawks did not appear to belong. They never deserved to win, not even one game, not even the last game when they did have a third-period lead.

They had been gobbled up by a machine they had helped to fashion.

For it was the original acquisition of the Chicago threesome which had triggered the Boston surge. Add a young fellow named Bobby Orr who was breaking in about that time. Give a mention to a firebrand named Johnny McKenzie, once a Hawk, and throw in a Toronto castoff, and the ingredients appear healthy enough for a long life to come.

Yes, goalkeeper Gerry Cheevers came into his own in the two playoff series. Frankly, his previous performances, and his record, had not suggested such a sound display. But there can be no argument with success, provided it is current. And Cheevers has enjoyed that distinction, to the hilt, and outplayed his more illustrious rival.

Tony Esposito of the Hawks was the sensation of the season, but he still is a rookie. It showed in the playoffs.

The Hawks won't dare argue with the rap that they came up tight in the playoffs.

Because no one will care. Especially in Boston.

Ask Tommy Ivan.

Blues on Verge Of Third Final

Plante Sets Shutout Mark; St. Marseille Nets Three

By CHUCK SVOBODA

ST. LOUIS (CP) — St. Louis Blues are on the doorstep of the Stanley Cup final series for the third season in a row, thanks to a 41-year-old record-setting goalie and a 30-year-old centre.

Goalie Jacques Plante collected his 14th career shutout in playoff action while centre Frank St. Marseille provided three goals in a 5-0 Blues win over Pittsburgh Penguins Tuesday night.

The win gave the Blues a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven National Hockey League West Division final. The Penguins face elimination should they lose the sixth game of the series Thursday night in Pittsburgh.

A seventh game, if necessary, will be played here Sunday. But if the Blues can win Thursday they will start the final here Sunday against Boston Bruins, the east division winners.

St. Marseille, who sat out the fourth game of the semi-final at Pittsburgh after suffering a cut over the right eye, scored his first three-goal performance with the Blues.

"Chances come, and you put them in," he said after the game. "I liked the way we played tonight—this is the best game we've played against them yet."

"The ice was a little heavy," said St. Marseille, "but that works against both teams."

St. Marseille's first goal came midway through the first period when he carried in on the right wing and fired the puck at Pittsburgh goalie Al Smith from about 30 feet out. Smith moved too late and the puck bounced off his shoulder into the net.

Bowman Credits Strong Checking

"That first goal was a hell of a shot, and it was a big one," said Blues coach Scotty Bowman who praised his players for their strong checking.

St. Marseille scored his second and Blues' 15th playoff power-play goal in the second period when he took a pass near the side of the Pittsburgh net and fired from a sharp angle.

Early in the third period, Bill McCreary moved in directly in front of the Penguins netminder and slipped a quick pass to St. Marseille who flipped the puck over Smith's shoulder to wrap up the scoring.

Andre Boudrias got one of the other St. Louis goals when he took a perfect pass from Terry Gray. Tim Ecclestone counted the other goal in the second period when the Blues' Ab McDonald was sitting out a minor penalty.

BRODA SHARED RECORD

Plante stopped only 21 Pittsburgh shots to score the record-setting shutout. Plante had held the previous record of 13 playoff shutouts with Turk Broda, the former star of Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Blues, unhampered by the fierce checking the Penguins had displayed in the last two games at Pittsburgh, took 35 shots at Smith, who came up with several outstanding saves.

Despite the Penguins' inability to generate any dangerous offensive drives, coach Red Kewly was optimistic about his team's chances of staying alive in the series.

"I don't think they outskated us so bad. We just let them skate around unchallenged.

"We've bounced back all year. We're not a team to fold. We started off pretty well, but those three early penalties killed us.

"I've said all along it doesn't make any difference which game we win here. We just have to win, and now it has to be the seventh game."

Two of the Penguins' three early penalties were easily killed off but St. Marseille's first goal came during the third power play. Referee John Ashley called seven minor penalties against each of the teams along with a misconduct to Picard of the Blues.

Thursday's St. Louis at Pittsburgh game will be telecast on Channels 2 and 6 and broadcast on CBU (690) starting at 5 p.m.

BRIAN HUGHES SIGNED . . . . . . BY VICTORIA CLUB

Welsh Star Will Coach Royals

Brian Hughes, 32, newly-signed coach for Victoria Royals of the Western Canada Soccer League, has brought a wealth of experience with him from Great Britain.

Team spokesman Keith Bickmore announced that Royals' president Jim Irvine arrived in Victoria on Tuesday with Hughes as well as the signed cards of two players from the British Isles.

Hughes has fashioned an impressive background in soccer.

Born in Neath, Wales, he has represented his country in all four levels of competition — with schoolboy, under-18 and under-23 sides and as a full international.

Hughes, who has just completed a three-month coaching trip in Jamaica at the invitation of the Jamaican Football Association, expects to use a 4-2-4 or 4-3-3 formation with the Victoria team.

He will assess local talent in the Victoria and District League and the Pacific Coast loop in the next few days with the intention of selecting a basic squad of 16 to 20 players.

Both of the newly-signed players are expected to arrive within the next two weeks.

Wing-half Eric Eowyer, 24, is from Linfield, champion of the Irish League. He was on the Linfield squad for three Irish Cup victories and has played with five Irish international teams.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Defending National League batting champion Pete Rose has a simple explanation for Cincinnati teammate Tony Perez' current record-setting homer pace:

"He's hitting everything and everybody," said Rose Tuesday night after Perez had poked his 10th home run of the month as the Reds dumped Houston Astros 4-2.

Elsewhere in the league Tuesday night, Pittsburgh Pirates slugged Chicago Cubs 6-1, Atlanta Braves edged St. Louis Cardinals 3-2, New York Mets dropped San Francisco Giants 5-2, Philadelphia Phillies edged Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2 in 10 innings, and Montreal Expos swept a doubleheader from San Diego Padres 4-2 and 7-3.

Perez' two-run shot shattered the 48-year-old record for home runs in the month of April established in 1922 by Kan Williams of the old St. Louis Browns who tagged nine. Perez earlier had broken the National League mark of eight shared by Lee Walls and Wally Moon.

In addition to his homer, Perez had an RBI single and boosted his major league-leading batting average to .461. He has 26 RBIs.

Gary Nolan rode Perez' heavy hitting to his fourth straight victory with Don Gullett providing ninth inning relief after a pinch homer by Astros' John Mayberry.

EXPOS BUNCH RUNS

Montreal bunched all its runs in the eighth inning of the opener. Ron Fairly hammered a two-run homer and Bobby Wine's single drove two more across for the Expos.

Fairly homered again in the nightcap and Steve Renko pitched a six-hitter as the Expos completed the sweep and extended San Diego's losing streak to six games. The Expos have won three straight.

Pony Pitcher Fans Them All

Bobby Crowe missed a perfect game Tuesday after striking out every batter he faced as Evening Optimists blanked Stockers 11-0 in Carnarvon Pony League baseball action.

Crowe, 14, fanned 19 straight players in the six-inning contest, four of them in the third inning when a runner reached first base on a throwing error after a dropped third strike.

The American League's Eastern Division teams rose up and smote the West Tuesday, winning all six inter-divisional games scheduled.

Cleveland Indians started it with a 3-1 triumph over Minnesota Twins in the only day game. At night, Detroit Tigers took an 8-6 victory over Kansas City Royals, Baltimore Orioles were 4-2 winners over Chicago White Sox, Washington Senators beat Milwaukee Brewers 9-6, New York Yankees won 7-5 over California Angels and Boston Red Sox edged Oakland Athletics 2-1.

With the six victories Tuesday the Eastern Division took an 18-6 edge over Western opponents this season.

Tony Horton, who said "I was just looking for the first ball that looked good to me," slammed a two-run ninth-inning double and gave the Indians their victory over the Twins.

The slugging first baseman got his chance when after one out, Twins third baseman Harmon Killebrew dropped a foul pop hit by Ted Uhlaender. Uhlaender then slapped a single to centre. One out later Vada Pinson singled, setting up Horton's game-winner.

KALINE CONNECTS

Al Kaline's first homer of the season keyed a four-run third inning in the Tigers easy triumph, pinning the Royals with their sixth straight defeat.

Detroit pitcher Joe Niekro, 3-0, lost his shutout on homers by Kansas City's Lou Piniella and Paul Schaal in the sixth inning.

Boog Powell knocked in all four runs in the Orioles victory. Powell, who belted White Sox pitchers for eight homers and a .459 batting average last year, quickly got started this season, slamming a three-run homer in the opening inning and adding a run-scoring single in the fifth.

Co-holder of last year's Cy Young Award, Mike Cuellar, benefitted from Powell's belting, gaining his third victory while scattering eight hits, including a homer by the Sox' Bill Melton.

Frank Howard, Ed Stroud and Aurelio Rodriguez poled home runs in the Senators long-ball battle with the Brewers. Ted Savage and Danny Walton connected for Milwaukee. It was Walton's seventh of the season, best in the league.

Fritz Peterson knocked in three runs with a single and his first major league homer and Ron Woods added a two-run shot for the Yanks over the Angels.

Nijinsky Wins Guineas —Now Derby Favorite

NEWMARKET, England (CP) — Canadian-bred Nijinsky, the way-out favorite owned by American millionaire Charles W. Engelhard, comfortably won the Two Thousand Guineas classic horse race as expected at Newmarket today.

Yellow God was second and Roi Soleil was third.

Lester Piggott, Britain's champion jockey, took Nijinsky to the front soon after the halfway mark in the one-mile race. He was in front by 2½ lengths at the finish.

Nijinsky, named after the late Russian ballet dancer, was the strongest favorite in the race for many years at 4 to 7. Yellow God was 100 to 6 and Roi Soleil, 2½ lengths behind Yellow God, was a 25-to-1 shot.

It is the first Canadian-bred to win this British classic.

Nijinsky has had seven races and won them all. Bookies promptly made him 7 to 2 favorite for the Derby on June 3 at Epsom. Engelhard's horse is also entered for the St. Leger and the Irish Derby.

Nijinsky was first raced in Canada and is now trained by Vincent O'Brien in Ireland.

Boxing Officials Named for Games

MONTREAL (CP) — Jerry Shears of Montreal, president of the Canadian Amateur Boxing Association, has been appointed manager of this country's boxing team to the British Commonwealth Games scheduled for Edinburge in July.

Shears said Ilio John Inus of Vancouver will coach the Canadian contingent.

BOXING RESULTS

NEW YORK—Charlie "Devil" Green, 176, New York, knocked out Ray Anderson, 175¼, New York, 1.

SEATTLE—Bonne Kirkman, 212, Renton, Wash., stopped Bill McMurray, 219, Sacramento, Calif., 3.

HAWKS SAID PLANNING . . . . . . MAJOR TRADE IN JUNE

Even Bobby Hull Deal Possible

CHICAGO (AP) — "Nothing is farfetched today," general manager Tommy Ivan of Chicago Black Hawks said Tuesday when asked about reports that superstar Bobby Hull may be traded.

"I can't make any comment now on trades," said Ivan. "Is the report about Bobby farfetched? Well, nothing is farfetched today."

Bill Gleason, sports columnist for the Chicago Sun-Times wrote Tuesday that before the National Hockey League meetings in June the Black Hawks will make a major trade and one of their super players—Bobby or Stan Mikita—may be involved.

"There are two obvious reasons why Hull is the favorite to be tapped," said Gleason. "First, there would be much more demand for Bobby than for Stanley. Second, Hull has given management more trouble than Mikita has. Among owners, the second reason always is the first reason."

Gleason said some hockey writers think Hull will go to Toronto.

"That's the natural trade," he said. "Bobby is an Ontario man and he would restore the glamor that has been missing from Maple Leaf Gardens since Frank Mahovlich was sent away.

"The hunch here is that Hull will wind up with one of the newer clubs. The league would very much like to see Vancouver or Buffalo an instant success at the turnstiles, or very much would appreciate a deal that would make the sick Oakland franchise get well."

Sinden Prepared To Risk Injuries

BOSTON (AP) — Coach Harry Sinden says his Boston Bruins will hit hard in practice, even at the risk of injury, in order to remain sharp for the Stanley Cup final.

"The problem is physical," Sinden said of the layoff his team is having while St. Louis and Pittsburgh battle for the other berth in the final series.

"We certainly can't cruise through several days of practice. We must have some hard work and some good contact work. We certainly don't want anyone hurt at this stage of the game. But we have to take the risk to stay sharp."

The Bruins, who wound up their sweep over Chicago Black Hawks in the East Division final last sunday, will have been idle from competition at least a week before starting the Cup final.

MAY START SUNDAY

St. Louis now lead the West Division final 3-2. If the Blues win the sixth vame Thursday night, the final series will open in St. Louis Sunday.

If the Western series goes the full seven games, the final will start on Tuesday night, the site depending on who wins in the West.

St. Louis will get the home ice advantage if it is the Bruins' opponent, but Boston will have the home edge if Pittsburgh makes the finals.

Sinden said Gerry Cheevers, who sparkled in goal through the Chicago series, will open in the nets in the finals.
